Favreau Got Gerda File On Order From Pearson

—AP Wirephoto

PEOPLE PLUCKED FROM TREES, ROOFTOPS

5 Die, Hundreds Flee Flash Flood at Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Five persons were drowned today when tremendous rains forced hundreds of persons from flooded homes in Dallas and a northern suburb, Garland.

One of the victims, drowned in his late-model Cadillac, was W. L. Perryman, president of General American Oil Co., an independent oil firm operating in six states and Canada.

Firemen chopped through the Cadillac's back window to free a woman from the car, which had been swept into a swollen creek.

Rain had been falling at about an inch an hour until it subsided at down. During one one-hour period, three inches fell.

Fire department boats, towed by station wagons to scenes of local flooding, plucked people from trees, rooftops, and the roofs of cars in flooded expressway underpasses.

1,500 WORKERS IDLE

Water got into the Ford Motor Co. assembly plant in northeast Dallas, damaging electrical motors and forcing the plant to close, leaving idle 1,500 workers until Friday.

The new round of turbulent weather came as rivers and lesser streams throughout the eastern half of Texas poured flood waters toward the sea. Rains up to 21 inches had flooded wide areas, particularly to the east of Dallas.

EAST GERMAN President Walter Ulbricht today was barred from entering West Germany for a scheduled debate with socialists. Bonn government said it holds Ulbritch responsible for murders and shootings at the Berlin Wall and he would be arrested on the spot if he sets foot in West Germany.

JAVA VILLAGE WIPED OUT BY VOLCANO

JAKARTA (AP) — A volcanic eruption in densely populated East Java has obliterated one village, killed at least 13 persons and is threatening a city, reports from the area said today.

Ashes from the 5,678-foot volcano, Mount Kelut, which erupted Monday night, are falling scores of miles away.

U.K., Rhodesia Delay Break During Talks

(Times News Services)

LONDON—Britain and the breakaway Rhodesian government decided today to hold off on any final and complete diplomatic break while they are holding talks to see if negotiating Rhodesian independence is possible.

Salisbury reports said the Rhodesian government, in a gesture of good will, had put a hold on its demand last week the British high commission there close down by mid-May.

A spokesman said orders to the British staff to quit were being held in abeyance.

The decision meant the Rhodesian staff at Rhodesia House in London will continue to operate instead of closing down at the same time.

The two countries had all but suspended diplomatic relations but never made a formal break. Closing down of the two missions would have been the last straw.

The development came after Prime Minister Harold Wilson asked his cabinet to approve his action in opening talks with Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith.

SECRETARY RETURNS

Oliver Wright, Wilson's principal private secretary, flew in from Salisbury this afternoon to report to the Prime Minister on his meetings with Smith.

Another British troubleshooter, Malcolm Macdonald, prepared to leave on a mission to persuade the political leaders of black Africa that the coming talks with Smith will not constitute a British sellout to Rhodesian white supremacists.

Wright arranged the negotiations in secret contacts with Smith and with Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd of South Africa.

It was the first breakthrough toward a Rhodesian settlement since Smith's white-minority government declared independence from Britain last Nov. 11.

In his talks with Smith, Wright produced agreement on the time, place and level of informal bargainings designed to achieve a basis for constitutional settlement.

The British demand that a settlement provide unimpeded progress toward eventual majority rule by Rhodesia's 4,000,000 Negroes.

DEFEND WHITE RIGHTS

In return, Britain is prepared to underwrite and defend the rights of Rhodesia's 250,000 whites and pay for a crash program of Negro education.

The British government assured the Commonwealth today that the talks will be purely exploratory and will not involve recognition of the Smith regime.

Canadian High Commissioner Lionel Chevrier and Canada's Arnold Smith, Commonwealth secretary-general, were among the representatives called into the Labor government's Commonwealth secretary's office to receive an explanation of the sudden change in the Rhodesian outlook.

They were told that British-Rhodesian talks will begin soon

One Week After Nielsen Attack

(See also Page 18.)

OTTAWA (CP)—RCMP Commissioner George B. McClellan testified today that Prime Minister Pearson instructed him to have Guy Fraveau, then justice minister, informed by the RCMP about the Gerda Munsinger case.

The commissioner said that Mr. Favreau was informed verbally about the case Dec. 1, 1964, by the RCMP director for security and intelligence.

(This was a week after Erik Nielsen, Conservative MP for the Yukon, launched his charges of influence-peddling in high Liberal circles.)

Commissioner McClellan was under cross-examination by C. F. H. Carson, Conservative counsel, at the inquiry into the Munsinger affair.

Mr. McClellan said he was appointed RCMP commissioner Nov. 1, 1963, when Lionel Chevrier was Liberal justice minister.

Mr. Carson asked whether the RCMP had brought the Munsinger case to the attention of Mr. Chevrier.

Commissioner McClellan replied that neither he nor any other member of the RCMP informed Mr. Chevrier about the Munsinger affair.

Mr. Carson asked whether the RCMP had brought the case to the attention of Mr. Favreau, who became justice minister Feb. 3, 1964.

"It was not brought to his attention by me personally," Mr. McClellan said. This had been done Dec. 1, 1964, by Assistant Commissioner W. H. Kelly, director of security and intelligence.

The commissioner said Assistant Commissioner Kelly "was instructed by me on instructions to me by the prime minister to discuss with Mr. Favreau" the Munsinger case and "he discussed it."

Brief Delivered Dec. 2, 1964

Commissioner McClellan testified he delivered a brief on the Munsinger file to Mr. Pearson at 10:30 a.m., Dec. 2, 1964, and the prime minister returned it "some time in the last month or so."

The commissioner promised to supply later the date on which Mr. Pearson returned it to him.

He said he delivered it to Mr. Pearson personally and he knew of no action on it by the prime minister.

At one point, he protested that the questioning was getting into the area of his conversations with Mr. Pearson.

The same brief had been given to Mr. Favreau Dec. 1, 1964, the day before the commissioner delivered it to the prime minister. He said he knew of no action on it by Mr. Favreau.

Mr. Carson sugested that the notations of dates and times the prime minister and various other ministers were advised are on the RCMP's original file, but apparently not on the copies supplied to the inquiry headed by Mr. Justice Wishart Spence of the Supreme Court of Canada.

Commissioner McClellan said that when he met the prime minister Dec. 2, 1964, he handed him the file in the presence of Gordon Robertson, clerk of the Privy Council.

The Munsinger file also showed a note that the affair was brought to the attention of former justice minister Donald Fleming on March 11, 1963, almost a month before the election that turned the Conservative adtministration of John Diefenbaker out of office and replaced it with a Liberal government headed by Mr. Pearson.

Commissioner McClellan said the RCMP did not inform Justice Minister Cardin about the case either before or after he took his present portfolio.

Earlier, the commissioner said Gerda Munsinger twice got into Canada when she shouldn't have.

Doesn't Know How She Got in

He told the inquiry he has been unable to find out how she entered the country in 1955 after she had been rejected in 1952 on security grounds.

The commissioner said the German blonde got back into Canada in January, 1961, after a 17-day visit to Europe because the steps to prevent her return were not carried out by the immigration department.

He said the RCMP had been told by the department that she couldn't be refused re-entry.

He also said he is "not making any guarantees" that Mrs. Munsinger won't get into Canada a third time.

Commissioner McClellan said the RCMP had taken all the steps it could in January, 1961, to prevent her re-entry. These steps had been in the form of advice to the immigration department which was not always heeded.

"Not always heeded by whom?" asked Conservative counsel C. F. H. Carson.

"By government policy," the commissioner replied.

He added that this is "quite understandable" but did not elaborate.

Mr. Carson asked what has been done to see that Mrs.

Rifle-Toting Mad Escapee Still Free

LILLOOET (CP)—An armed mental hospital escapee whom police believed they had surrounded eluded an intensive police search near here early Wednesday, then turned up 30 miles east of the search area.

"It appears that we are trying to catch a phantom," said an RCMP spokesman in this small community.

Police said the suspect was seen 30 miles east of here carrying a rifle on an abandoned logging road that runs up the east side of the Fraser River in the B.C. Interior.

A dozen RCMP officers using four-wheel drive vehicles and tracker dogs were following the trail early today. More policemen were en route from Clinton, 20 miles north of Lillooet, in hopes of cutting off the escapee.

The man, about 30 years of age, had been prospecting earlier this year in the area. Police said he went berserk, stole a horse, and was committed for treatment to the Riverview Mental Hospital at Essondale, near Vancouver, on April 7.

He apparently escaped and returned a week later to Lillooet. Police started searching for him after Indian families at a nearby reservation reported the man robbed them at gunpoint of food and other supplies.

The Indians were evacuated from the reservation during the weekend and moved to Lillooet.

In recent years four RCMP officers have been killed in the Interior by mentally deranged gunmen. Three were killed at Kamloops and the fourth died near Kelowna.

Poles Protest U.S. Bomb Damage to Ship

WARSAW (AP)—Poland has sharply protested to the United States that one of its cargo ships was damaged in a U.S. bombing raid near Haiphong last week.

U.S. Ambassador John Bronouski was called to the Polish foreign ministry and handed the protest note Tuesday, a U.S. embassy official said. The note, which reserved the right to claim damages, was forwarded to Washington.

The official Polish press agency gave this report of the incident:

"During a piratical bombing of one of the ports near Haiphong, the Polish motorship Beniowski was in port taking coal. Many bombs and rockets which exploded in the vicinity of the ship caused external and internal damage to the ship's equipment.

"The ship was forced to sail without finishing loading."

There was no mention of any casualties.

The agency did not say what cargo the 7,299-ton Beniowski had carried to North Viet Nam or how extensively the vessel was damaged. The Polish state shipping line runs regular cargo service to the Far East, with stops at China and North Viet Nam.

'EVIL EYE' BEHIND KILLINGS?

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—District Attorney Richard Lowe says the evil eye—a glance believers say can cause harm—is related to the slayings of five elderly neighbors here since 1961.

Five charges of homicide and one of robbery were laid Wednesday against John Harry Bruno, 28, a shipping clerk, in the slayings.

'The area is filled with the fear of sorcery and witchcraft," Lowe said. "These people just don't talk. They don't volunteer information and they don't respond to questions."

Lowe said the motive for the killings in the middle-class neighborhood of persons of Italian descent was revenge. He refused to elaborate on the revenge or evil-eye comment.

Bruno is charged in the slayings of a man and his wife last weekend, a man in 1963, and a man and his wife in 1961—all of whom lived within a four-block radius.

Olympic Banff Ban Blamed on Bird Lovers

ROME (UPI) — The Canadian Olympic Committee may sue a conservation organization because Banff lost out on its bid to host the 1972 winter Olympics, a Canadian source said today.

"We have proof that the Canadian Wildlife Association is subsidized by the Canadian government to the tune of $75,000 a year.

"We also are convinced that the association played a major role in persuading the International Olympic Committee that to hold the games in Banff would endanger bird life," the source said.

Banff, which Tuesday lost out to Sapporo, Japan, for the winter games, had been favored to win by most observers at the international meeting here. IOC president Avery Brundage said that the Banff bid undoubtedly was hurt by the protest of bird lovers.

The Canadian committee is seeking "tangible evidence to prove that the Canadian Wildlife Association either contributed or inspired some of the letters that evidently torpedoed Banff's chances," the source said.

He added that the committee is "sure it will find the evidence."

The committee is "considering bringing suit against the wildlife association for the total cost of Banff's campaign to win the bid," the source said. This would amount to "several hundreds of thousands of dollars, including the money expended in Banff's two previous bids."

According to the source, while Banff's two previous unsuccessful bids were financed largely by local contributions and the provincial government, "99 per cent of the backing for our third try came from the federal government. We think it is outrageous that the wildlife association, which is subsidized by the government, should sabotage an effort which was financed by the federal government and had its wholehearted support."

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson wrote a letter to the IOC affirming that Canada endorsed Banff's bid and that the objections of the conservationists were totally unjustified. The letter was read to the IOC, but members said after the vote that many delegates attached more importance to the bird lovers' protests than they did to Pearson's letter.

Munsinger doesn't get into Canada a third time.

The commissioner said this is a matter for the immigration department.

Mr. Carson asked "as head of the RCMP, aren't you concerned?"

"Not personally," the commissioner replied. He added that it would be "most likely" she couldn't get bak. He thought all necessary steps had been taken "BUT I'm not making any guarantees."

Commissioner McClellan said later he hasn't deemed it necessary to give advice to the immigration department on the case since Mrs. Munsinger left Canada for the last time, Feb. 5, 1961.

Commissioner McClellan also said that he was concerned early in 1963 to know whether then justice minister Fleming was aware of the Munsinger incident. It was a matter of discussion several times between himself and C. W. Harvison, then the commissioner.

However, it was not quite correct to say that Mr. Harvison had raised it with Mr. Fleming as a result of Commissioner McClellan's concern.

He said he hadn't learned until recently that Mr. Fleming had asked commissioner Harvison about the incident. At the time of their 1963 discussions, neither officer knew of any results of the incident and "knew Mr. Sevigny still was a minister."

Pierre Sevigny, associate defence minister from 1959 to 1963, has been described in reports before the inquiry as having an illicit sexual affair with Mrs. Munsinger whom police called a prostitute, petty thief and self-admitted Soviet agent before her arrival in Canada in 1955.

Commissioner McClellan also testified that commissioner Harvison had issued instructions in 1961 that bad-cheque charges against Mrs. Munsinger in Montreal be dropped if the injured merchants were satisfied.

'Commissioner's Voice, My Hand'

He said he had dictated a memo about this and initialled it but had done so in the name of commissioner Harvison.

"It was the commissioner's voice but my hand," he said.

Commissioner Harvison testified Wednesday that the Munsinger file contained this memo dated Feb. 13, 1961, referring to Mrs. Munsinger's arrest Feb. 3 that year, two days before her departure from Canada.

Commissioner McClellan said that commissioner Harvison's conclusion was that if Mrs. Munsinger was leaving; the country voluntarily the best thing to do was to drop the matter if the offended people had no objection.

The commissioner said that during the massive post - war immigration to Canada it was "rather easy" for anyone in Europe to buy the necessary documents, especially if one had the help of Communist agents.

While he was testifying, Mr. Sevigny and Mr. Fleming entered the courtroom. They were accompanied by their lawyers. As a lawyer himself, Mr. Fleming sat at the table for counsel.

Commissioner McClellan said the RCMP took up the Munsinger case with the immigration department Dec. 16, 1960.

He said Mrs. Munsinger was due to leave on a holiday and the RCMP wanted to keep her from returning to Canada if possible and thus "lessen the security risk."

However, she had returned to Canada Jan. 10, 1961, after a 17-day excursion flight to Belgium for a visit. She held a German passport and gave her address as 1420 Tower Street, Montreal.

Changed Testimony at One Point

The commissioner at one point changed his testimony.

At first he said he believed the RCMP had kept the immigration department informed of Mrs. Munsinger's movements until she left Canada Feb. 5, 1961.

Later, he said he didn't know whether there had been any oral communication with the immigration department. The only written communication with the department after Dec. 16, 1960, did not occur until Oct. 20, 1961.

The commissioner repeated previous testimony that Mrs. Munsinger's application for a Canadian visa in 1952 was rejected because of derogotory and subservice information against her.

He said an RCMP report at that time stated that Mrs. Munsinger was "of low moral character, addicted to entertaining men in her room and incapable of telling an accurate or truthful story."

in London and that it will be undertaken by senior permanent civil servants. They will try to find out whether the positions held by Prime Ministers Wilson and Smith provide any basis for ministerial talks that could lead to a settlement of the Rhodesian crisis.

In the meantime, economic sanctions against Rhodesia would be continued.

An informant said the Commonwealth high commissioners were told that the initiative to explore the possibility of settlement came from Smith, following an apparent deterioration in the Rhodesian economy.

Some 3,000 white Rhodesians have already left their homes for South Africa and that another 4,000 whites are either unemployed or underemployed. Queues were forming outside the Salisbury passport office.

While Ian Smith had claimed the country's recent tobacco auction was successful, the British government discovered that the auction went badly, with many potential buyers warned off by the British embargo.

Also in London, United Nations Secretary-General U Thant called for a joint effort by Britain and the United Nations to find a Rhodesian settlement based on "decency, fairness and justice."

Thant addressed a luncheon of the United Nations Association attended by Wilson and other British political leaders.

Wilson, in a speech welcoming Thant, praised the UN for giving Britain special powers to enforce an oil blockade on Rhodesia.

African nations, still seeking imposition of compulsory sanctions against Rhodesia have pressed for a new Security Council meeting May 10.

Recovered Loot Didn't Leave Firm

Police said today recovery has been made of $600 reported stolen Feb. 27 from a city garage.

The missing loot—$300 in cash and $300 in cheques—actually never left the premises of Dickson Bros. Garage, 813 Douglas Street.

It was found by night attendant Howie Moran who discovered it in a little-used portion of the garage wrapped in an old piece of cloth.

Garage owner Lionel Dickson told police two months ago he put the money in a desk drawer before going out on a service call in the late evening.

When he returned next morning the money was missing. Police found no sign of entry at the time.

Collection Hit By Stamp Thief

Stamps valued at $45 were reported stolen Wednesday by Roger Newberry of 839 Fort.

Police said the stamps, which have been missing since April 11, included several first-day covers.

Ferrys Crews' Complaints To Be Heard

A provincial cabinet committee will hear the merits of the complaints by deck and catering employees against a new working schedule May 6.

Mrs. Marney Stevenson, lawyer for the employees, was informed of the date for the hearing Wednesday but she said she will have to consult with her clients before drawing up a brief.

The ferry workers had asked for a formal board of reference to investigate the work schedule, which provides long hours during the summer rush and lighter work schedules during the off-season. The request was turned down by the cabinet.

Youth Fined In Beer Case

Thomas Cherry, 19, of North Vancouver was fined $40 in central court today when he pleaded guilty to being a minor in possesion of liquor.

Court was told he was a passenger in a car which contained 58 bottles of beer.

The auto was stopped by police Wednesday on the Pat Bay Highway.

Aldermen Feel Theory Holds Water

The rain in Victoria falls mostly on well watered lawns.

At least that's the theory of city comptroller James Bramley who told city council Wednesday that Victorians use more water when it's wet than they do in a long hot summer.

"It's psychological," he said. "If we get half a day of rain every two or three weeks the gardens and lawns stay nice and green and people take more pride in them and use more water.

"If we get a long dry spell the lawns dry out, the garden shrivels and people seem to say 'what the heck's the good of trying' and just stop watering."

"Very interesting," said Ald. Michael Griffin. "Are you making a budget charge for psychological advice?"

"That," quipped Mr. Bramley, "will be in next year's estimates."

Employer Fined

Axel Ottosen, 2214 Forbes, was fined $15 in central court today on a charge laid under the Unemployment Insurance Act.

He pleaded guilty at an earlier hearing to failing to make available a record of an employee's unemployment insurance contributions.

DOLLS ARE BETTER EARLY THAN LATER

If little boys played with dolls, it might reduce the rate of marriage difficulties later on in life, a Victoria psychologist suggested Wednesday.

"Some of the difficulties men first experience in marriage is that they have had no experience in playing father," Dr. Stewart Meikle said at St. Mary's of the Virgin Church Hall at Metchosin.

Playing with dolls is often the best way children learn their adult roles, he told a group of mothers, members of the Vancouver Island Playgroup Association.

"It allows children to try out for the first time the different roles which will be expected of them in later life," he said.

PARENTAL BLAME

Parents who are often "too concerned" if a boy plays with dolls, must to some extent take the blame for later difficulties, Dr. Meikle said.

A good relationship between father and son is also a necessity in family life, he said.

"A boy models himself on his father and in doing so takes on some of the father's characteristics."

CHAIN REACTION

"When you punish a child, he stops doing what you objected to and goes and punches his little brother and sister."

But, Dr. Meikle added, "the odd slap administered to a child is not harmful."

Children from "permissive" homes often have the advantage over those more strictly brought up, he said.

They are "curious, disobedient and nonconforming" but also more confident, and not afraid to speak out, while other children "go by the rules."

"It might make it easier on a child if he doesn't ask questions, but it doesn't develop his potential," Dr. Meikle said.

SCHOOLS TOUGH

He also called for "a more flexible approach" to a child's introduction to school, which, he said, can be a "traumatic experience."

"Schools have been in the past rather unsympathetic to the child's problem."

If the child's mother spent time with him in class the first few days, or if the youngster went only for two or three, hours, it might ease the situation, Dr. Meikle said.

The system "should be tailored" to the child's needs.

Problem behaviour in children is difficult to define, Dr. Meikle said.

NOT UNUSUAL

Children usually considered "problem" ones — who have temper tantrums, fear of the dark or of going to school, are thumb-suckers, nail-biters and bed-wetters — may not be so unusual after all.

A recent study of "normal" children showed about 50 per cent of them had "problem" behaviour.

"Often the reason the problem children were referred to psychologists in the first place is that the parents couldn't stand it any longer," Dr. Meikle said.

"It's only a problem if it seriously affects the child's ability to function in his surroundings," Dr. Meikle said.

'NUCLEAR SHARING UNFINISHED BUSINESS'

RUSK
. . . 'misstatement of facts'

WASHINGTON (WP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Wednesday that the United States "regards the problem of nuclear sharing" in the Atlantic Alliance "as major unfinished business."

His personally drafted statement, read to newsmen at the state department, was designed to quash a report in the New York Times that the Johnson administration had decided to ask West Germany to "forego indefinitely even nominal ownership of part of an allied nuclear weapon system" and to be content with improved consultation on nuclear strategy.

Rusk called the story "a misstatement of facts." He said the U.S. "has made no decision to foreclose a possible Atlantic nuclear force or any other collective approach to the problem."

FULBRIGHT, KENNEDY FEAR ESCALATION

'Hot Pursuit' Warnings Made

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator J. W. Fulbright hung a "very dangerous" label today on the Johnson administration's "no sanctuary" policy of hot pursuit of enemy jet fighters over North Viet Nam.

But Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen said in a separate interview this is a "recognized doctrine" of warfare which he does not believe invites the danger of China's intervention in the conflict.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, noted there has been no official pronouncement telling where the advanced MiG-21s, which have engaged U.S. planes in dogfights, came from. One MiG-21 has been shot down by a U.S. plane near the China border.

"But if they came from China and we follow them into China to attack their airfields, I think we are pursuing a very dangerous course," he said. "It could escalate the war."

Senator Robert Kennedy (Dem. N.Y.) told the Senate Wednesday the developments must be viewed with gravest concern.

SEEKS STABILITY

Kennedy said it would not be wise to risk wider war in Asia until there has been progress toward greater political stability in South Viet Nam.

Referring to the air combat between U.S. planes and high-performance MiGs over North Viet Nam, he said:

"We do not know where the (enemy) planes are based, whether in North Viet Nam or across the border in China.

"What is occurring in North Viet Nam is escalation of the war by them or by us. . . . We are both inexorably involved."

He asked what China might do if her territory is bombed or her air space violated.

"Will the Chinese strike at our bases? . . . And if they do, what then will our response be—further bombings?"

Kennedy said no military action in North Viet Nam or China could create, or contribute to a sound government in Saigon.

"We must face the facts that what we need most is a unified effort within South Viet Nam," he said. "This is where we should now be devoting our best efforts and talents."

SHOESHINE BOY SHOT

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—A Dominican shoeshine boy was shot dead accidentally Wednesday by a U.S. Army guard at the American Embassy residence. The boy was shining the guard's boots, a U.S. military spokesman said, when the guard dropped his rifle accidentally and it discharged. The bullet struck the boy in the neck. He died en route to hospital.

Labor Congress Urges Canada Entry in OAS

WINNIPEG (CP(— A policy statement urging Canadian membership in the Organization of American States was approved by the Canadian Labor Congress convention today despite protests from the floor.

Murray Cotterill of Toronto, public relations director of the Steelworkers Union, said a suggestion that Canadian OAS membership be a condition on the Caribbean countries joining was ridiculous.

"Some of the most rotten and corrupt governments in the world exist in the Caribbean region," he said.

Charles Brooks of Windsor, Ont., an auto workers delegate, said the OAS is controlled by the United States. Canada would become a tool of the Americans if it joined the organization.

In other debate on international affairs, J. K. Bell of the Halifax Marine workers said the generals doing most of the war promotion now are corporate ones, General Dynamics and General Motors.

The policy statement urged unconditional negotiations to end the war in Viet Nam, stricter enforcement of the sanctions against Rhodesia, more United Nations peacekeeping action, increased aid to developing nations and removal of nuclear warheads from Canada.

U.S. NEEDS PROTECTION FROM NIKE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara believes millions of Americans could die from radioactivity if the proposed Nike-X missile defence system were developed without a fallout shelter program.

"All we have to do is detonate their warheads west of Washington about 100 miles and the winds will bring the fallout in and we will die," McNamara told the senate armed services committee.

His remarks were made in secret testimony made public Wednesday. The defence chief appeared with Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, to urge that a fallout shelter program be developed along with any anti-ballistic missile defence.

Wheeler favors and McNamara opposes financing initial steps now toward deployment of the Nike-X anti-missile system.

The Race for Survival

A TWO-DAY MEETING EARlier this month of the Development Assistance Council, a branch of the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development, came to the conclusion that the world "food gap" is widening.

Despite enormous increases in food production, the meeting was told, world population gains are far outstripping food production. As one delegate noted, for the first time in history we have the technological means to beat the famine threat "but in 1966 there are more hungry people than ever before." The less developed countries are losing the ability to feed themselves and the surpluses of food in developed countries are diminishing.

The council experts estimate that in 20 years, at the present population growth, the world will have lost the ability to supply a minimum ration to all its inhabitants. The estimated increase in demand for grain alone will be almost twice the current world consumption of 470 million tons a year.

India is an extreme example of what the under-developed nations face. In the past decade grain production in that country has been increased from 55 million tons annually to 88 million tons. But modern health measures at the same time boosted average life expectancy from 30 years to 47 years. And population last year alone increased by 11 millions—about equivalent to the whole population of Australia.

Undoubtedly much more can be done to boost food production. There is a 60 per cent deficit in fertilizer production in the underdeveloped countries, according to the OECD, and an Indian farmer uses two pounds per acre compared with 40 pounds in Western Europe and North America. Much more probably can be done to increase food production through fuller utilization of land, a higher degree of mechanization and other measures.

But the chilling factor is that—given the projected rate of population increase—there is only 20 years at the outside to put into effect measures for increased production or face the threat of widespread hunger. And it would seem even then to be a case of running furiously just to stay in the same place.

A working group from the fourteen OECD member countries plus the Common Market Commission and Australia has been set up to study the problem and will report to a full ministerial meeting of the OECD in June. The group is concentrating its efforts on production problems, but it is obvious that unless the twin problem of population control is considered by the ministers as well, any steps to be taken will be merely temporizing.

A Commendable Program

REEVE CURTIS AND HIS Saanich council are to be congratulated on the first active steps to beautify the Gorge waterway east of Craigflower bridge.

For many years the inlet has been talked about: its value as a developed pleasure area, its inherent beauty, its priceless potential as a bathing, boating and scenic asset, the possibility of dredging it, flooding it through a canal, bordering it with a promenade, and so on. But little—except for development of the historic and long-neglected Gorge Park on the south side—was ever done. On the contrary, the Gorge inlet became at times a muddy, polluted health menace—a monument to indecisiveness and lack of community appreciation.

Now that tradition of inaction has been broken. On a feasible piece-by-piece schedule the north shore will be improved with stonework, walks, lighting and landscaping. This will not only provide a distinct improvement in its own right, but serve as an excellent stimulant to similar action at other points along the shore.

There is much that could be done with this unique natural waterway—a potential asset which other cities might spend millions to create out of a much less favorable endowment. Now the Saanich authorities are showing the way with a sound plan of modest rehabilitation. Let it serve not only as a sample but as an example.

A New Role for NATO

THERE SEEMS TO BE A TENdency in government circles in a number of North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries to believe that France's withdrawal from the military structure of the organization is little more than an aberration of General de Gaulle. When the general goes, according to this thinking, everything will be well again with France, and NATO can be restored on the same terms as before.

Mr. Paul Struye, the president of the Belgian Senate, points out that this might be over-simplification. Mr. Struye says that during the recent foreign policy debate in the French National Assembly, many members of the opposition parties sided with the de Gaulle regime on its NATO stand and he said: "This proves how dangerous . . . it is to explain the tendencies of French foreign policy by the sole influence of Gen. de Gaulle."

The Belgian Senate president at the same time went on the record as opposing any move of NATO establishments from France to Belgium. He said: "Our country would serve the cause of Atlantic mutual understanding and peace more efficiently by attempting to bring France nearer her partners, than by accepting without consideration responsibilities or obligations which could bring thunder on our territory."

Europeans who share the view that the time has now come to break down the walls dividing East and West, feel that this cannot be accomplished by countries which are compromised by having foreign troops garrisoned on their soil but not under their command.

Washington does not recognize the validity of this view—nor does Ottawa—but it is increasingly apparent that the NATO structure which served so well for more than a decade following the Second World War is not going to survive the French withdrawal unchanged.

Rather than continue the manoeuvrings now being employed to try to make the French see things the American way, it might be better to study the problem in the light of what NATO's role should be in a rapidly changing world.

Gains for the Amateurs

INDUSTRIES MINISTER C. M. Drury provides encouraging news for Canadians with his announcement that drafting of an automobile safety code is now in progress. He also confirms the report that General Motors Corporation is remedying faulty accelerators in certain of its Canadian-made 1964 and 1965 models.

It can be argued, and no doubt will be, that people cannot be legislated into safety. True enough. But it is nevertheless gratifying to find the government working toward the establishment of standards which may reduce the causes of accidents and could, in many cases, make those which do occur less serious.

At the same time, a manufacturer's admission of structural defects implies a healthier recognition of the fact that improvements can be made to safeguard the driving public.

Quite obviously some valuable ground has been gained by those "loud-mouthed amateurs" whose demands for something safer in a modern car were publicly criticized by one important automotive executive.

"Before I buy the gas and cigarettes today, what would you prefer . . . a trip around the world, a color television-stereo combination . . . a car . . . a country place . . . a yacht . . . or cash . . . ?"

POLITICIANS IGNORE IT

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

The Great Scoop: Taxes Will Rise

Hutchison

MR. VICTOR MACKIE, one of this newspaper's Ottawa correspondents, has scored the latest of many scoops. He writes that taxes generally in Canada will steadily rise. But Mr. Mackie's tongue was thrust deep into his cheek when he made this horrendous announcement. He has known for a long time that taxes will steadily rise. Everybody knows it, except the members of Parliament. Even they may know but by the rules of the game cannot admit it. Such sordid things are never mentioned in an exclusive gentleman's club.

Politicians will agree privately, in rare moments of truth, that tax rates are bound to go up but they argue that it doesn't matter. The average man's income, they say, will go up, too, and therefore he won't feel the extra burdens of the state. His taxes, no matter how high, will represent a smaller fraction of his earnings.

Growth Question

We cannot know now whether there is any truth in this theory, since it depends on the nation's unpredictable economic growth. All we know, from the available figures, is that the citizen's real earnings will rise, as they have been rising of late, by about five per cent a year—provided we are lucky and manage everything with good sense, which is doubtful to say the best of it. In some 20 years, at this rate, the Canadian will be twice as well off as he is today.

Meanwhile the state will increase its share of his income, probably at an equal or faster rate, though the increase will be disguised by the constant, stealthy erosion of the dollar's value. Already, indeed, this form of invisible taxation is being levied on all Canadians without exception. Oddly enough, the budget speeches never propose and Parliament never authorizes the unmentionable tax but it is collected all the same.

When Mr. Sharp says that prices will increase three or four per cent in 1966 he is really saying that the income tax will be increased by this amount. The poorest widow, living on a miserable pension, will pay that tax, which, unlike the visible income tax, takes no account of her circumstances. Ability to pay, the first principle of justice, is ignored. No exemption is granted.

Legal But Unjust

These arrangements, monstrously unjust and aimed directly at our most defenceless people, are strictly legal. By inflating the currency the state is like a bank that steals a fraction of your savings every year and excuses each annual theft because it is comparatively small; or like a burglar who rifles your house but pleads his innocence because he takes only one piece of furniture at a time.

Apart from the old skin game, we shall be quite unrealistic if we suppose that Canadian government, at its three levels, will not demand more and more from our total income. So it must if society is to be tolerable at all.

What does North America need most? More private automobiles or safer, less crowded public roads and streets? More gadgets of every sort or civilized, healthy cities fit for human habitation? More luxuries or better schools, universities and hospitals? More sleazy status symbols to flatter the successful adult or more parks and open spaces for children to play in? More entertainment by television indoors or unpolluted air and clean water outdoors? In short, more nourishment for mind and body or more drugs to anesthetize them and kill the pains of progress?

When such questions are asked in plain terms, as the politicians seldom ask them, the public answers in favor of more collective spending through the state. It never ceases to ask. But it usually forgets the two other legs of the tripod supporting society.

One of them is the unavoidable taxes—open and honest or dishonestly hidden by inflation—needed to pay the collective bill. The other is the national economy which alone can pay any bill, collective or individual. And if the tax burden on the economy is too onerous, and business growth is thereby restrained, we shall not have sufficient resources to maintain a decent household, private or public.

The required balance between these three factors, the need to make the social gears mesh, is the real problem before government, but the politicians are afraid to talk about it candidly. Instead, by a kind of dreary, bipartisan ritual, they try to pretend that the state's costs and taxes will go down in the sweet by-and-bye.

A few days ago, for instance, that blithe spirit, Mr. T. C. Douglas, grinning slyly, asked Parliament to reduce the income tax at a time of rapid inflation and complained, in the next breath, that prices were rising. Even our poor old stumbling Parliament couldn't be fooled by such a transparent political trick or, to construe it with charity, a sad case of economic delirium.

Sooner or later, after the delirium passes, we must decide how we shall distribute our resources for industrial investment, public services and private use because the resources, however large, are limited.

Survival of the Individual

In a groping, inchoate fashion one question is settled already: The collective functions and costs of the state will certainly expand, here and everywhere. A much larger question, the largest question in the culture of the Western world, remains unanswered. It is whether, against the proliferating state, the individual can survive; whether the collective roof will fall in, under its own weight, and crush the private human beings who built it.

Some day, perhaps, our politicians will get around to thinking about these matters but at the moment they are otherwise engaged in their jolly sham battle, fought with spitballs and mud.

FROM WASHINGTON

By WALTER LIPPMANN

A Burden to Be Dropped

Lippmann

"THE President believes" writes Mr. Tom Wicker of the New York Times, "that one reason domestic criticism of the war is rising is because too many Americans, particularly liberals and intellectuals, do not prize freedom for Asians as highly as freedom for Americans and Europeans. This surely is a curious way to explain the rising dissent—that it comes from a race prejudice against Asians on the part of the very men who have been in the forefront of the struggle against racial discrimination in this country and have been in the forefront of the struggle to extend foreign aid to the underdeveloped nations of the world.

If indeed the President has chosen to believe this, it must be because he has accepted the argument that there is no essential difference between this war and the World War, between Ho Chi Minh and Hitler and therefore, presumably, between himself and Churchill.

The crux of the President's growing troubles at home is that the liberals and intellectuals, and a good many conservatives as well, think the analogy between Viet Nam and Europe is false, and has led the administration into a quagmire from which there is no easy or attractive way out.

When we look at the substance of the argument, I would say at the outset that there is a radical difference between America's relations with Europe and America's relations with Asia. This radical difference is due to the historic fact that Americans, being for the most part Europeans in origin, have to live with the Asian remembrance of three centuries of white imperialism and colonialism.

They are separated from the people of Asia by this heritage as well as by color, affluence, military superiority. It is not easy to expunge the rancors and suspicions of three centuries, and therefore it is naive and dangerously silly to think that we can treat Viet Nam as if it were another Appalachia.

Radical Difference

There is, indeed, a radical difference between the Western position in Asia and the American position within the Western community itself. The most important thing to learn from a realization of this radical difference is that the first and indispensable condition of good relations with Asia is to liquidate all that remains of the imperial and colonial system in which the Western white man plays the role of the superior of the Asian man—indeed of all the "lesser breeds without the law."

We must not fool ourselves into thinking that we can shoulder what the old imperialists used to call the white man's burden. On the contrary, we ought to shed the white man's burden.

In Asia today we are filling the vacuum left by the fall of the British and French empires, and though we do not regard ourselves as imperialists, we are playing an imperial role. As long as this continues, the vice-president's notion of political reform and economic and social development in Asia is a pipe dream which is dangerous because it diverts our attention from the realities.

Influence in Asia

It has often been said during our internal dispute about the Vietnamese war that what is really at stake is whether America is to have any influence on the Asian continent. I agree that this is the real issue in the struggle. I differ from the prevailing view in believing that only when our military footholds on the Asian continent are liquidated can our influence on the Asian mainland cease to diminish and begin to grow.

In the world today, military force is essential in maintaining a stable balance among the military powers. But to use officialese, it is counter-productive in dealing with weak and backward peoples. The less they have to live with our military presence, the better; the less will they be suspicious, the greater will be their confidence. That is why the latter day disciples of Kipling and the apostles of the white man's burden in Asia are poor advisers.

The Shift To Centre

By MARTIN DEWEY from London

Dewey

IT may be a few centuries too early to say with unflinching certainty that last week's state opening of Parliament was a decisive moment in British history. But the occasion was nevertheless a vastly important one. Much more important, indeed, than even the participants seemed willing to let on. This admittedly pretentious-sounding assessment has to be made in spite of what was actually done and said last week, rather than because of it.

If anything, the three days of ceremonial flip-flappery culminating in the Queen's speech were intended to make the point that nothing really changes. And this sense of continuance was heightened by the speech itself, in which the government promised little more than it would get on with the legislative program left over from the last Parliament.

Nor was there anything especially noteworthy about the new House of Commons. The government front bench was pretty much the same as before the election, except that George Brown, deputy leader of the Labor party, has been removed from day-to-day responsibility for the prices and incomes policy and placed in charge of relations with Europe. Here, the only question was whether the change means that Europe has been upgraded or that Mr. Brown has been downgraded.

Of course, if a winning team must be kept intact then perhaps it follows that a losing team must be shaken up. At any rate, the Conservative front bench showed some glaring gaps. In all, eight members of the former shadow cabinet had been given a pink slip, three by the electorate and five by the party leader, Edward Heath; and only four had been replaced.

Exit Mr. Lloyd

The most notable absentee was Selwyn-Lloyd, the former chancellor of the exchequer of stop-go fame, who must have been at least a little miffed at having his resignation accepted by Mr. Heath as "a generous offer" to the party.

Other casualties among the Tory old guard were Duncan Sandys, Ernest Marples, John Boyd Carpenter and Lord Dilhorne. Of the glittering lineup of yesteryear, all that remained were Reginald Maudling, Iain Macleod, Quinton Hogg and, to the surprise of many, Enoch Powell.

Even with the Conservative changes, however, there were no outward signs to indicate that the new Parliament was exceptional in any historical sense. The Labor party had won a thumping mandate, but it had done that before. The Conservatives were a little disheartened and confused, but they were in good shape compared with the days of the Suez crisis and the Profumo scandal.

And yet beneath it all, below the level of personalities and parliamentary mathematics, lay the striking truth that this particular Parliament is the flesh and blood embodiment of a dramatic revolution in British social and political life.

What happened during last week's state opening ceremonies was that in effect an official seal was placed on the decision of the British people to do nothing less than unseat their traditional masters. The centuries-old battle between "us" and "them", between the minority which had always ruled and the majority which had always been ruled was at last over.

It was the culmination of a political process that began as long ago as 1215 and perhaps earlier.

New Situation

It would be frivolous to conclude that this astonishing development derived merely from the fact that the Conservatives had lost the last two general elections. Indeed, even if the Conservatives were returned to power next month the conclusion would still be valid.

What is significant is not that the Conservative party has lost a couple of elections but that Britain's traditional ruling establishment has lost the Conservative party. The reason for this is to be found in the unspectacular but steady progress of estrangement that has been taking place at both ends of the political spectrum ever since Britain's two major parties decided to establish the base of their power in the political centre.

The process has been duly noted and documented as it affects the left wing of the Labor party, where it is not historically important, but virtually ignored as it affects the traditional power base on the right of the Conservative party, where it is of fundamental importance. For the socialist old guard to be left in the lurch is an interesting development. For the aristocratic old guard to be similarly left in the lurch is to turn British history on its head.

Role of Clique

Yet even as late as the 1964 general election the crucial breakthrough had not been achieved. The Conservative party was still being led, however diffidently, by a 14th Earl, and it was still dominated behind the scenes by a clique that owed its ultimate loyalties to the old-family network, to the land, to inherited wealth and to titles. But now, starting with the election of Edward Heath as leader and culminating for all practical purposes in the latest party shake-up, the balance of power can truly be said to have shifted.

So far has it shifted, in fact, that the party is now in panic flight from its old associations. Mr. Heath's grammar school background and other variations on the log cabin theme have suddenly become pure gold on the hustings, and rare is the local Tory organizer nowadays who doesn't flinch at the very mention of a title.

Even the members of the old Tory magic circle—as many of them as remain—have taken to outbidding one another for recognition as new, classless Tories.

What this means is that the old alternatives are dead. Never again will a British election be contested between the "sans culottes" and the traditional rulers by divine right, for both have lost their voice. Increasingly, the choice will be between two parties of the centre, each offering its own version of pragmatic, technocratic, classless modernism.

U.S. Can't Afford 'The Old Syndicate'

By JULIUS DUSCHA

WASHINGTON — J. K. Galbraith, a card-carrying iconoclast, called on Liberals to rise up in opposition to "the permanent diplomatic and military establishment and to the New York foreign policy syndicate."

Galbraith, Canadian-born Harvard economist and a former U.S. ambassador to India, keynoted the annual convention here of Americans for Democratic Action with a plea for a foreign policy that took a "somewhat less paranoic view of our mission in the world."

"Liberals should," said Galbraith, "stand equally opposed to the divine right of wealth and the divine right in the field of foreign policy of Sullivan and Cromwell; Millbank, Tweed, Hope Hadley and McCloy; Lucius Clay; Henry Stimson; Nicholas Murray Butler and the more impeccably traditional members of the permanent foreign policy establishment."

Dulles' Old Firm

Sullivan and Cromwell is the Wall Street law firm with which the late secretary of state John Foster Dulles was associated. John McCloy, a long-time foreign policy adviser, is a member of the Wall Street law firm of Millbank, etc. Lucius Clay is a retired general and another long-time foreign policy adviser.

The late Henry Stimson was secretary of war during the Second World War, and his admiring biographer was McGeorge Bundy, who recently resigned as President Johnson's top foreign policy aide. The late Nicholas Murray Butler was president of Columbia University.

Galbraith went on to say that he was sure Secretary of State Dean Rusk would wish to be associated with "the New York syndicate" and that Dean Acheson, another former secretary of state is "a latter-day associate."

"Let us note well," Galbraith continued, "that the reputation of what would have been counted the most successful liberal administration since Roosevelt is in danger of being ruined by a foreign policy of men who have never raised their hands on behalf of any liberal cause in their life."

Galbraith also said that "Mr. Dulles's followers still make nostalgic pilgrimages to meetings of the treaty organizations he established."

Rusk attended a meeting of the Central Treaty Organization in Ankara, Turkey, last week and has frequently cited the Southeast Asian Treay Organization as justification for the American involvement in Viet Nam.

J. K. GALBRAITH
. . . iconoclastic view

Galbraith said that "the old coalescence on the old and simple goal of anti-communism is past" and suggested that "the old syndicate is not far short of honorable retirement" because the United States can no longer afford its policies.

"Having lived on the same planet with the Russians without coming to blows for 50 years, there is a growing disposition to keep on trying," Galbraith observed.

North Viet Nam Prepares For a Long, Hard War

By WILFRID BURCHETT
Manchester Guardian Weekly

(Mr. Burchett has recently returned to Britain after living for some years in North Viet Nam.)

North Viet Nam's leaders believe the war will be long and hard.

This conviction has been translated into firm terms by a reorganization of the country's economy, the dispersal and relocation of existing industry, the building up of new industry based on many small, widely dispersed plants instead of single, large, centralized units.

The economy is going over to guerrilla warfare. This is North Viet Nam's reply to the massive and permanent-looking U.S. military build-up in the South. The more the Americans put into the South, the more far-reaching become the plans for a long war in the North.

"Out of the cities and back into the jungle and mountains to fight and produce at the same time" is the sort of unspoken slogan.

Machines Taken Out of Plants

Some plants I visited in the cities are now empty buildings, with only concrete stands and embedded bolts to indicate where machines had stood. In others, certain departments or sections of departments had been evacuated; production continuing in those that were left until the evacuated sections started working. Then the remaining machines would be removed with relocation planned so that production would be interrupted as little as possible.

Planning is aimed at making every province as autonomous as possible, in agriculture, industry — and military affairs.

"Several plants are better than one big one," one of the leading economic planners told me. "This coincides with the requirements of war, damage from bombing is reduced, and the small industries we are setting up will be the nucleus for further developments in peace time.

There are certain huge plants which can obviously not be taken to pieces and reassembled. These now work at full capacity; they are very heavily protected.

In case of attacks, production will continue as long as possible but in the meantime smaller units are being built up, in case the worst happens.

After more than a year of air raids, the North Vietnamese leaders are confident, that — short of nuclear weapons being used — they can handle this sort of war indefinitely. They believe that no air attacks can decisively interrupt production or cripple communications. Not even the bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong or the mining or blockade of the seaports.

In a trip south towards the 17th Parallel on Highway No. 1, I was surprised at the insignificant effect of a year's pounding at the few hundred miles of road and the railway alongside it. Bridges which have been attacked many scores of times and against which hundreds of tons of bombs have been hurled, are still intact — the vital Hamrong road and railway bridge over the Ma River at Rhanh Hoa for instance — traffic rolls along at much the same tempo as before.

Told Supplies Always Arrive

I was assured that the quantity of supplies planned to reach any given point at a given time, invariably arrived and I was told that if it were necessary to step up the quantities by four or five times, this would present no problem at all. This one can believe because the North-South highway is not being used to anything like its capacity — and this is not due to either bombed bridges or shortage of transport.

I found more bridges in place than when I last travelled that road two years ago and multiple crossing points of the numerous rivers instead of single ferries or bridges as formerly.

In order to reduce the losses in planes and pilots, the Americans use their latest and fastest fighter-bombers. They arrive at supersonic speeds, black puffs of anti-aircraft bursts chasing them, drop their load, and are out of sight within seconds.

Seventy per cent of the bombs aimed at the Hamrong bridge for instance, have fallen on the hamlet of Yen Vuc, at the northern approach to the bridge.

It was a well-to-do hamlet when I saw it two years ago, every house in brick with tiled roofs. Now there is not a single house standing and virtually not a square yard of soil on which no bomb has fallen.

Rice Growing Up to Ruins

In the village itself craters overlap each other, there are craters within craters. But around the outskirts, the craters are all filled in and rice is growing up to the edge of the ruins.

Women have taken over many of the jobs normally reserved for men. One 20mm. battery I visited near Nam Dinh had a woman gunner — a beautiful young expatriate from Siam — two women ammunition servers and one man reserve gunner. The woman gunner had already brought down one plane and had taken part in a dozen or so ground-air battles.

I found in many agricultural co-operatives that up to 80 per cent of the labor force were women; they had taken over the ploughing, something quite new for Vietnamese women, and in visiting the fishing villages, I found they had largely replaced the men in the bamboo rafts and sampans of the fishing fleets.

A large proportion of women in the fields, along the roads, in the fishing boats, had rifles slung over their shoulders.

At one factory, I found a self-defence unit — mostly women — undergoing very sophisticated bayonet drill which consisted mainly of girls with their bare hands wresting a bayoneted rifle from the instructor as he or she made realistic lunges at them.

These self-defence units, whose members must count several millions, would take the first shock of any American landing attempts.

Nothing is left to chance and all possible American moves in stepping up the war have been taken into consideration. One day the road I was travelling led through fields of sweet potatoes, growing in what seemed to be good land for rice.

My companion, who heads the local district administrative committee, said: "This is normally rice land, but we have to take into account that the Americans might destroy the Ban Thach dam which irrigates 50,000 hectares of rice-fields. They have already attacked it several times; damaged the sluice-gates once, and actually breached the dam, but the population rushed out while the planes were still attacking and plugged the breach.

No Food Loss Even at Worst

"We have calculated that much of the rice could be saved even if maximum damage were done, because of subsidiary dams and irrigation systems we dug last year. But this area here would be left dry so, just in case, we have planted it with sweet potatoes which can flourish without irrigation. Of course, our people prefer rice, but anyway there will be no loss of food, even if the worst happens."

The fact that the women have taken over men's jobs does not mean that the latter have all gone into the army, although doubtless a proportion of them have. Many more are engaged in construction projects, building the newly located industries and the roads to serve them, serving in transport columns, and all sorts of other heavy work.

The bicycle convoys of the Dien Bien Phu days are on the roads again but in far greater quantities and carrying much heavier loads.

Organization In Readiness

They are being used it seems, not because of a shortage of manpower or even motor transport or fuel, but to have such an organization in being in case "the worst happens" — a phrase I was to hear very often, while I was in North Vietnam.

When the Pentagon generals say they can bring transport to a halt by bombing petrol storage tanks as Haipong or elsewhere, they underestimate the Vietnamese capacity for making do with bicycles, ox-carts, and hand-carts.

GERMANY'S POSITION IN THE NATO CRISIS

By NEAL ASCHERSON

BERLIN — Is West Germany a fully sovereign country, not just de jure, but de facto? Or is there an element in the Western Alliance which is directed, not merely at defending West German territory, but also at setting unobtrusive limits on the Federal Republic's freedom of action — especially military action?

This is one of the most significant points to emerge so far from the NATO crisis, brought about by France's intention to withdraw her forces from NATO integration on July 10.

To a great extent West German interests in resisting France now are those of her two partners in the "working group" set up in Bonn to study the situation, Britain and the United States. All three share alarm at the idea of the collapse of NATO integration. They consider that under modern conditions it cannot make sense to include in a defensive line a sector manned by forces who might agree to fight or, on the other hand, might not.

When M. Couve de Murville, the French Foreign Minister, visited Bonn last week, the West Germans stoutly put before him three conditions which must be met if the two French divisions in Germany are to be allowed to remain. Any Franco-German agreement on troop stationing must include a terminating clause; the French bases must be formally commanded by a Bundeswehr officer; and in the event of war, the French forces must be placed under joint NATO command.

Fundamental

Those who are dealing with this suddenly fast-moving situation insist that "commitment" is the fundamental; French commitment to common action in crisis, and all the joint training and planning without which the commitment could not be fulfilled. But the word from Paris — intimidating hints before the proper negotiations begin — is that France will not consent to put her forces under any "automatic" commitment to be used in this way or that. She intends to keep her full freedom of decision, accepting only general formulas of obligation.

West Germany's special difficulties in this game of bluff are double: both her security and her status are affected. To take the military point first, West Germany is the trench in which the NATO front-liners sit.

A lack of conventional troops in that front line, runs the nervous Bonn hypothesis, could encourage the East to grab a city near the border — say Lubeck — on the calculation that the West would not think this worth a nuclear reply.

The French Air Force, at present under integrated NATO command on this front, carries U.S. nuclear weapons controlled by their owners under the "two-key" system. The Americans have said that they will take these bombs and certain rockets away, if integration ends, and the question arises whether it will be worth keeping French troops in Germany without them. Politically, it would be good, but militarily it could be a nuisance. The West Germans, though, might be sorry to lose a foreign army for the sake of American rules about nuclear warheads.

Berlin Worry

Again, the West Germans are bound to be particularly worried about Berlin. French forces there have nothing directly to do with NATO, but their presence does depend on the support of NATO formations at the other end of the autobahn, and there are those who fear that the French will have to review their Berlin position if they leave West Germany.

There is plenty of far-fetched supposition in all this. Who can imagine why the Russians should try to seize Lubeck, or come to that, attack Western Europe at all as things are? And it should always be remembered that President de Gaulle wants to stay in Germany and Berlin. That presence gives him a say which his force de frappe, so far, cannot.

He wants to stay there because the presence is important to his campaign to form a Franco-Russian working arrangement. He must pose less as a defender of the West than as a controller of West Germany, whose military and territorial ambitions the Russians so much fear. Here the ambiguity about NATO and West Germany comes in.

The Federal Republic may be "sovereign" these days, but under the present arrangements she cannot tell the French Army — or any other army, come to that — to leave her territory. The French clearly consider that they have an "occupation right" to be in Germany, which only Bonn's consent to NATO integration has politely veiled. Pious horror on the part of the Americans and British conceals their own view of their rights, which is actually much the same. Thus, it would be an important gain in status for the West Germans to be able to give notice to at least one of their protectors.

Vague Support

West Germany has no black-and-white right, either, to demand that the French troops on her soil should actually protect her after July 1. Under integration, the Supreme Allied Commander in Europe could simply order them to resist a Soviet invasion. But under the NATO treaty alone — which is all that will be left — Article Five prescribes only the vaguest "support" for an attacked ally. As they say in NATO, that could mean anything from a rocket to a telegram of sympathy.

The crisis, then, brings the West Germans not only worries, but opportunities. If they can get the French to stay on new terms which allow both sides to give notice, put French bases under German sovereignty, and tie the troops to a firm defence obligation, West Germany will emerge with a very distinct diplomatic gain from this confusion. If the French go, Bonn will be more dependent upon the Americans than ever.

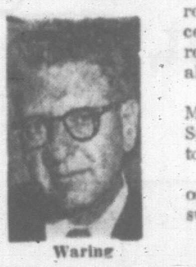
Why All the Mystery On Spencer Surveillance?

By GERALD WARING

OTTAWA—George Victor Spencer, the spy they wouldn't try, was alive on Wednesday, March 30. He bought some cigarettes and a couple of bottles of beer and said he felt fine.



Waring

On Saturday, April 2, his body was found slumped over the kitchen table in his modest Vancouver home. A heart attack, the coroner's jury eventually decided.

On Jan. 31 Justice Minister Cardin had reiterated in the Commons that there would be RCMP "surveillance on this man as long as he remains in Canada."

On April 21 NDP leader T. C. Douglas put to the government the question that has puzzled and bemused many persons for nearly three weeks.

How is it possible, he asked Solicitor-General Larry Pennell, that Spencer "could have been dead for several days before the RCM Police was aware of this matter"?

This was Mr. Pennell's full reply:

"I am speaking from memory now, but I believe a statement was made in the House that the surveillance in this case would be adapted to the necessities of the situation. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police at all times continued to take such steps as were deemed necessary in the circumstances of the case."

On April 14 Prime Minister Pearson told newsmen that he had asked for a full report on the surveillance. There is every reason to believe he received this report. There is every reason to believe that Mr. Pennell, who succeeded Mr. Cardin in January as the minister responsible for the operations of the RCMP, also saw the report.

That report must contain the answer to Mr. Douglas' question—but three weeks after Spencer's death the government still refused to clear up the mystery.

Did the Mounties have a tail on Spencer, or did they not? And if not, what kind of surveillance was that?

* * *

"Was Spencer under physical surveillance by the Mounties in the days immediately prior to his death?" I asked RCMP Commissioner George B. McClellan.

"No," he replied.

"Was this failure to maintain surveillance of Spencer's person in accord with instructions you had received?"

"Yes," he replied.

I didn't have to ask who could instruct the commissioner of the RCMP to ease off on Spencer. I knew. Mr. Pennell. And, if he wished, Mr. Pearson.

Why the mystery? Well, Tory leader Diefbaker had angrily and offensively demanded the surveillance be stopped. Mr. Pearson is a stubborn man, and he just hates to have to back down publicly before Mr. Diefenbaker.

No Evidence That Birds Need a Salt-Free Diet

By DR. CLIFFORD CARL
Director, Provincial Museum

Dear Dr. Carl:

A friend has told me there should be no salt in the fat used in feeding small birds. Bacon fat and the fat from roast would be out. Is there any truth in this?—M.W.H.

Some people believe that table salt is toxic to birds. In fact, it has been stated that one way to get rid of certain seed-eating birds is to soak corn or similar food materials in strong brine and to place this bait where the intended victims will pick it up. This procedure was said to be most effective with waterfowl.

Dr. Carl

However, I have not been able to confirm this and there appear to be no references in the literature to support the contention. In fact there seems to be ample evidence that salt is not harmful to birds any more that it is to other animals.

One can even go further and say that certain birds are actually attracted by salt. Several species have been observed picking up salt grains from roadways were it had been scattered to melt ice and some have been seen pecking at blocks set out for cattle. On one occasion birds were found feeding on the ground around the sink outlet from a cook-house in a logging camp. Close scrutiny showed they were seeking bits of salty grease filtered out in the soil.

In this instance and in the case of those attracted to salt crystals red crossbills were most conspicuous. As these are primarily seed-eaters it has been suggested that their craving for salt may be the result of a lack of this substance in their normal diet.

There is another group of birds that regularly includes salt in their diet. These are sea-birds, those that habitually feed on or around salt water. These species cannot help taking in a certain amount of salt water while eating marine organisms and in addition they must drink sea-water for moisture.

* * *

But because sodium chloride and other salts in sea-water are in amounts large enough to be harmful they must be removed in some way. This is done by a very ingenious structure called a salt-gland, situated in the head above the base of the bill. Its sole function is to filter out the excess salts from the bloodstream and to excrete them in the form of strong brine through an opening on either side of the face. In some birds such as the albatross, fulmar and petrel there is even a little gutter running the length of the bill to carry the secretion away from the mouth.

The process of extraction and excretion works very quickly; concentrated brine has been observed dripping from a captive bird's bill-tip within minutes of its drinking sea-water. Presumably, this rapid response is nature's way of preserving the salt balance within the bird's body—a balance that is vital to all living things.

CHINA READY TO EXPLODE 3rd N-BOMB

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese government sources said today that China's third nuclear explosion, expected early next month, may be a preliminary hydrogen bomb test.

They said the year's interval since Peking's last atomic explosion would have given Chinese scientists enough time to put them on the verge of thermonuclear capability. They said the blast may come in two weeks, if weather permits, as part of a Chinese effort to boost their international prestige during May celebrations in the Communist world.

Sources in Washington reported Wednesday night that the U.S. government has advised its allies to expect another atomic explosion on the Chinese mainland in the near future. There was no indication of how the U.S. government acquired its information, but the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency accurately predicted the first Chinese atomic explosion.

Japanese security officials supported the new prediction and said the blast probably will be set off at the Uighur test site, in Sinkiang province in northwest China, where Peking exploded its first nuclear device Oct. 16, 1964.

TWO TESTS EARLIER

It was about as powerful as the U.S. atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima during the Second World War, equivalent to about 20,000 tons of TNT. The Chinese exploded a second and larger device last May 14. U.S. officials said at the time that it may have been dropped from a plane.

Japanese security officials said Peking probably was preparing a uranium-235 device sufficiently compact to be fitted on a missile as a warhead. This clashed with the view of Japanese government sources, who predicted preliminary work on a hydrogen bomb.

The government sources said it was unlikely that Peking could test a nuclear warhead now because of extreme difficulties in making a heat-proof guidance system for the missile.

U.S. officials also have said that it will take the Chinese some time to perfect a long-range missile capable of delivering an atomic warhead, but they said Peking's scientists might be able to fashion more primitive weapons sooner to threaten countries on China's perimeter.

Allan Rankin Ex-Police Chief Dies

Funeral services will be held in Thompson and Irving's chapel Saturday at 1:30 p.m. for former Saanich police chief Allan Rankin, who died Tuesday at the age of 83.

Mr. Rankin, who lived at 458 Viaduct, had lived in the Victoria area since 1912 and was police chief until his retirement in 1940.

He was born at Portpatrick, Scotland.

Mr. Rankin is survived by three sons, John, Allan and Travers of Victoria; three daughters, Mrs. E. Graham of Merritt; Mrs. G. Dunaway and Mrs. G. Underwood of Victoria; a brother, W. P. Rankin, and a sister, Mrs. Marion Taylor of Victoria.

CEMETERY SEMANTICS DISTURB THE LIVING

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Charles Haley, city traffic engineer, agreed Wednesday to take down the sign outside the Temple Beth Israel cemetery and put up one saying: "Not a through street."

A cemetery official protested the present sign, which says: "Dead end."

QUIMET PRESENTS HIS SIDE TO CORPORATION EMPLOYEES

PM Offers to Help Avert CBC Producers' Strike

OTTAWA (CP)—The threatened strike of CBC producers brought reaction Wednesday from the Commons and CBC President J. Alphonse Ouimet.

The Commons broadcasting committee suggested the House take up Prime Minister Pearson's offer to use federal offices in an attempt to avert the threatened Sunday night walkout. Mr. Pearson made the offer earlier in the Commons.

Meanwhile, Mr. Ouimet broadcast on closed-circuit radio line to CBC employees across Canada, giving management's side in the controversial firing of the co-hosts of the program This Hour Has Seven Days.

CBC producers have threatened to strike at 10 p.m. EDT Sunday — one minute before Seven Days starts in Central Canada unless the CBC meets three demands.

These would guarantee against firings or disciplinary transfers without showing demonstrative cause, provide compulsory arbitration in disputes and provide consultation of producers and supervisors before making production decisions.

The dispute was sparked by the announced removal of the Seven Days hosts, Laurier LaPierre and Patrick Watson, but it has brought into the open many long-term problems between management and staff of the Crown corporation.

Mr. Ouimet told employees the decisions regarding Seven Days were final. The program would be back next year, but with new hosts. The present staff on the program operated under different concepts of ethics and managerial responsibility, he added.

"There must not be the constant challenge to decisions from above."

HOUSE FIRE on the West Saanich Indian Reserve Wednesday left 12 persons homeless. Firemen had to fight the blaze with water from an old well as there are no hydrants on the reserve. Four people were in the house when the fire broke out but all escaped without injury.

LABOR SLAMS UNITED APPEAL

PORT ALBERNI — The labor council here has come out against a plan for a United Appeal in the Alberni Valley.

Dan Connell, president of the Port Alberni and District Labor Council, said in a statement Wednesday the council feels charitable drives "are an insult to all Canadians."

The labor men have taken the position that the good causes a United Appeal supports are the responsibility of the provincial government.

"Without the support of labor there will be no United Appeal in the Alberni Valley," the statement concluded.

Girl School Prowling Brings Fine

DUNCAN—Two Victoria students were each fined $15 in court here Wednesday after pleading guilty to prowling by night.

They were arrested in the grounds of Strathcona Lodge School for Girls.

Accused were Stephen Dyer, 20, of 1781 Keith Street, and Jeffrey Yuen, 20, of 2965 Oakdown Avenue.

They both told Justice of the Peace James Roberts that no harm was intended.

The arrest was made at 2 a.m. after a telephoneu complaint to the RCMP.

Sunday Selling Verdict Stands

NANAIMO — Judge Arnold Hannah dismissed an appeal Wednesday by Vic's IGA Foodliner against a conviction of selling goods on Sunday contrary to the Lord's Day Act.

In the original conviction, the store was fined $40 and court costs.

Judge Hannah found that the charge was properly laid under the act. He said there was no evidence of any work of necessity or mercy involved in the sale which would legalize the act of selling on a Sunday.

NO HYDRANTS

Blaze Leaves 12 Homeless

Twelve people are homeless as a result of a fire that swept through their four-room home on the West Saanich Indian Reserve at Brentwood on Wednesday afternoon.

House owned by Mrs. Cecilia Smith was destroyed along with all its contents.

Cause of the blaze has not been determined.

Flames had a strong hold on the frame structure by the time Central Saanich volunteer firemen arrived on the scene shortly before 1 p.m. and firemen were hampered at first by a lack of water. There are no hydrants on the reserve but the firefighters located an old well.

Four people were in the house when the blaze broke out but all escaped without injury. They were Mrs. Smith's daughter, Judy, 18, and her two children, Joanne, eight months, and James, 19 months, and a niece, Cecilia, six.

Also homeless are Mrs. Smith and her other children, Joyce, 14; Betty, 10; Marlene, nine; Gene, 20; grandchildren Ronnie, four; Alice, five, and her brother, Moses Sam.

The family was cared for by neighbors Wednesday night and immediate necessities have been provided by the St. Vincent de Paul store at Saanichton, said Chief Philip Paul.

LOST EVERYTHING

Chief Paul said the family lost virtually everything to the flames.

"All they have left are the clothes they were wearing and some that were on the clothesline," he said.

The chief said following a meeting Wednesday evening with other members of the band that the department of Indian affairs has been notified of the fire and some aid is expected.

Construction of a new home for Mrs. Smith, a widow will be given top priority, he said, and a house may be rented for them in the meantime.

Chief Paul suggested that donations of necessary items such as clothing and bedding be left at the St. Vincent de Paul store at Saanichton.

Wilfred Henry, 19, a neighbor of the Smiths, said the fames appeared to come mainly from the kitchen at first but quickly spread through the home. The small house was located just west of West Saanich Road, overlooking the waters of Saanich Inlet.

The blaze had gutted the interior of the home by the time firemen arrived, Central Saanich Fire Chief Don Facey said, and there was no chance to save anything.

Why Some Husbands Don't Talk To Their Wives

Why is it that some men who were once happy and outgoing become "silent husbands"? Is it true that silence means a man has ceased to care? How prevalent is this problem in today's great wave of troubled marriages? Illuminating conclusions from a frank discussion by a group of wives, are reported in May issue of Reader's Digest. Here are the causes of the age-old problem and the simple ways in which it can be solved. Get your copy of May Reader's Digest—on sale everywhere.

Woman Cleared in Traffic Death of Child

LADYSMITH — Mrs. Alistair Couwenberg of Yellowpoint Road was cleared Wednesday of any blame in the April 12 death of five-year-old Willaim Thomas Forrester.

A coroner's jury at the inquest conducted by Russ Inkster of Nanaimo found Forrester died after running into the path of the car being driven by Mrs. Couwenberg.

Dr. J. W. Neville said the boy died in hospital several hours after the accident from a broken neck and severe internal injuries.

Cpl. Ken Sutherland, RCMP, said he arrived at the scene shortly after the accident. As far as he could determine no speeding was involved.

Mrs. Minnie Willcox, said: "I had just come out of the post office when I noticed two small boys come out of the candy store.

"There was a milk truck parked on the street and the boys hesitated.

"I could see a car coming very slowly and called out to the boys as I fugured they might try to cross the street.

"One of them did and hit the side of the car."

Mrs. Couwenberg said: "I was driving slowly when suddenly the boy rushed out into the street and into the right front fender of my car."

Fred Johnstone, Ladysmith, who was driving behind Mrs. Couwenberg, said their speed was about 15 miles an hour.

He saw Forrester run suddenly into the street from in front of the milk truck.

Fine for Liquor

A Parksville man who pleaded guilty to a charge of consuming liquor in a public place Feb. 25 was fined $50 in central magistrate's court Wednesday Norman Nelson, driving his car south on 19 Highway near Qualicum Beach, allegedly threw a bottle of beer out a car window as police approached.

TOP SOIL

By far the cheapest and best fertilizer for your lawn and shrubs. If applied as top dressing (one yard for every 600 sq. feet) it will, after three yearly applications, develop a thick and lasting turf that feels like a soft carpet. This is how good and lasting lawns used to be made. One yard of our weedfree topsoil, costing about $4, contains over 225 lbs. of organic matter and minerals. In comparison, one sack of chemical fertilizer, costing about the same amount, contains only about 10 lbs. of plant nourishing minerals. Simple arithmetic thus proves that good topsoil is by far the cheapest and best fertilizer for lawns, both new and old ones.

The price of weedfree topsoil is such that considering the cost of deweeding and the health hazards involved, TOPSOIL THAT IS INFESTED WITH WEEDS HAS NO VALUE AT ALL.

AFTER BEING FENCED IN BY DUNCAN BYLAW

Her Son's Dog Just Sits and Cries

DUNCAN — The first fine has been paid under the new city dog bylaw, but paid under protest.

However, city council is not backing down even after receiving a blast of criticism from the irate recipient.

Mrs. Edna Gammie, Campbell Street, at first refused to accept the ticket.

City hall sent it to her by registered mail.

Paying the $5 penalty for allowing her dog to run loose, Mrs. Gammie objected the bylaw leaves dog owners no alternative to have their animals chained up.

She said: "This is cruel."

Mrs. Gammie said the dog was her five-year-old son's pet.

It used to follow him around the yard and cries," she said. while he was playing outside.

"Now the dog just sits in

Mrs. Gammie says her son is competent to be in charge of the dog.

She alleged: "If the SPCA is going to pick up every dog, licensed or unlicensed, which is away from its owner's premises the city will have a hay day."

Mayor Jack Dobson said: "The letter shows what we are up against in enforcing the bylaw.

"It makes me wonder whether council should consider a total ban on the keeping of dogs in the city."

Ald. Robert Mason sympathized with this idea.

He said: "I'm sick and tired of getting calls about loose dogs."

No Defect Found In Doomed Plane

No mechanical defects were found in a plane that crashed 40 miles north of Port Hardy April 10, department of transport investigators said Wednesday.

Four persons were killed when the five-seater amphibian aircraft struck a tree and plunged into a lagoon on Drury Inlet.

Dr. Tom How, director of B.C. Air Services, said the investigators were checking the possibility poor weather may have been responsible for the crash.

Snow and hail storms were reported in the area the day of the crash.

The aircraft was on a flight from Alert Bay to Warner Bay, about 10 miles from the crash scene.

Car Gets Brisk Launching

NANAIMO — Magner Whetton of nearby Cedar launched his car along with his boat and trailer Wednesday at a public boat launching site here.

Whetton said he backed his late model station wagon up to the water's edge and went to check the trailer after he set his brake.

He said the car rolled into the water and floated for a few minutes before sinking out of sight.

The car was recovered by a tug boat which was in the vicinity.

N-Sub Has Cracks

LONDON (AP)—Navy Minister J. P. W. Mallalieu confirmed Wednesday hairline cracks have been discovered in the hull of Britain's nuclear-powered submarine Dreadnought but said there was no danger for its crew. Mallalieu said the submarine—commissioned Oct. 17, 1963—is undergoing a detailed investigation.

GM Reports Earnings Dip

NEW YORK (AP)—General Motors Corp. has reported a decline in earnings in the 1966 first quarter from the level of a year earlier.

GM, the world's largest manufacturer, earned $594,000,000, or $2.07 a share, compared with $636,000,000, or $2.22 a share in the 1965 first quarter.

Sales rose to $5,700,000,000, a record for a first quarter, from $5,600,000,000.

Worldwide factory sales in the first three months of this year totalled 1,979,000 units, down from 2,020,000 a year earlier. U.S. factory sales totalled 1,557,000 against 1,588,000 a year earlier.

MARKET SUMMARY

Prices Drop At Toronto, Wall Street

Prices tumbled on both the Toronto and New York markets today.

On Wall Street both rails and industrials were down.

General Motors dipped among motors following a decision finding the company guilty of violating the anti-trust law.

Rails reacted further to the merger decisions made Wednesday by the Interstate Commerce Commission. New York Central and Pennsylvania each dropping two or more. Northern Pacific and Great Northern, their merger refused, fell another three points each.

AT TORONTO in the main list, Moore Corp. dropped 1¾ to 83¼. Aluminium 1½ to 43⅝ on 14,130 shares, Jefferson Lake 1⅜ to 28⅝, MacMillan, Bloedel 1⅛ to 26¼ and Interprovincial Pipe Line 1 to 81½.

Western oils continued to suffer heavy losses with Canadian Superior off ⅝ to 21¼. Banff ½ to 16¾ and Pacific Petroleum ¼ to 13½. Scurry Rainbow bucked the trend, gaining ¾ to 31¼.

Base metals moved fractionally lower. Noranda slid ⅜ to 52⅝ in profit taking after being up 1¼ Wednesday.

AT NEW YORK Texas Gulf Sulphur lost nearly 6, Fairchild Camera and Texas Instruments 5, Motorola nearly 4, Boeing (ex dividend), Polaroid, Xerox, IBM, Admiral, Magnavox, about 3.

AT MONTREAL most sections moved fractionally lower in moderate trading today.

AT LONDON the market looked better today after the news of planned talks on the Rhodesian situation.

Some gilts firmed a shade. Southern Rhodesians added one point. Dollar stocks eased under Wall Street influence but in Canadians it was only in Algoma and Hollinger that losses reached two points. Canadian Pacific eased a point.

Canadian banks were dull.

AT VANCOUVER losses outnumbered gains in the mining section shortly before noon today.

Coast Copper dropped .12 to a new low of $9.75 and Hogan lost .04 to a low of .73. Buttle Lake dropped .10 to $2.25 and Chataway lost the same amount to $1.40.

Silver Arrow touched a high of $1.10 to increase .12, Trojan rose .01 to .74 and Granduc put on .15 to $3.85.

In the industrials, Western Pacific Products hit a 1966 high of $18.62, up $1.62 and Northwest Life dropped .50 to a 1966 low of $11.

GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Grain prices showed variety today with some indicating easier tones as the date for the May contracts draws near.

Flax continued to show easier tones with the export market quiet.

Rapeseed showed relaively firm undertones. Canadian oilseeds reflected the higher prices of soybeans on the Chicago market.

Oats and barley moved in a narrow range, with domestic market dominating the trade.

GIBSON TELLS McMILLAN, BLOEDEL

'Stop Building Empires'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Gordon Gibson, 62, a millionaire from his own logging enterprises, told Canada's largest forest company Tuesday it should stop building empires and start making money.

Gibson said MacMillan Bloedel Limited should consolidate operations because "I'm very afraid of us becoming the biggest lumber company in the world." It is now No. 8 in the world.

He spoke for 23 minutes during a question and answer period at the company's annual meeting.

Mr. Gibson, a shareholder in the company, said MacMillan Bloedel is becoming too ungainly and criticized the company's plans to move into a new head office building.

It is an "ivory tower," he said, that will "give a false impression that we are making a lot of money." He said management creates new management, it becomes top heavy and the need for new office space snowballs.

Mr. Gibson estimated he is getting a one per cent return on his investment and called it a "pathetic thing."

Company president J. V. Clyne said expansions in Europe were defensive, because "we found often our customers were being purchased by our competitors."

Profits in 1965 were down $900,000 to $40,500,000 because of higher costs in the industry, Mr. Clyne said.

He said the company's proposed 27-storey head office will be no ivory tower and that "everyone works like the devil."

ITT, ABC Merger Given Approval

NEW YORK (UPI) — Shareholders of both International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. and American Broadcasting Companies (ABC) Wednesday approved the merger of the two companies.

The ITT shareholders met in Baltimore and ABC shareholders in New York to vote overwhelming approval of the merger. President Leonard Goldenson said ABC expects record second-quarter earnings this year.

The merger, still subject to the approval of the Federal Communications Commission and the justice department, would unite the largest international manufacturer of electronic equipment with the third largest private broadcasting company in the world.

The chairman of the board of directors of ITT, Harold S. Geneen, told the stockholders the proposed merger would result in combined revenues for 1966 of over $2.5 billion.

Geneen said there would be "to the fullest possible extent . . . autonomy of operations and continuity of management."

SOLE STOCKHOLDER

Geneen said later ITT would be the sole stockholder of ABC under the name of the American Broadcast Companies Inc.

He said two directors of ITT would sit on the ABC board and four ABC directors would sit on the ITT board. He said the names of the directors were not yet known.

Geneen said the two companies would "share whatever facilities are available."

The stockholders also authorized five million shares of preferred stock at $10 per share and 20 million shares of common stock.

Geneen said 2,823,058 shares each of common and preferred stock would be issued once the merger is completed.

Petroleum Industry Must Expand

MONTREAL (CP)—Frank M. Dawson, president of Texaco Canada Ltd., says the petroleum industry must invest more than $15,000,000,000 in exploration and producing by 1980 to meet Canada's growing demand.

Mr. Dawson said the industry must continue to have maximum freedom and incentive and a minimum of artificial government restraints and controls, to meet this investment.

Mr. Dawson reported at company's annual meeting net profits of $4,025,000 or $1.23 per common shares for the first quarter of 1966, compared with $3,576,000 or $1.09 a share for the same period in 1965.

He said that the oil industry has grown rapidly in the last two decades because it had the incentive to invest and compete and the consumer has had the freedom of choice in the market place.

COURT CONVICTS GM IN ANTI-TRUST CASE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court ruled today that General Motors Corp. violated anti-trust law by trying to ban sale of Chevrolets through discount houses in the Los Angeles area.

Justice department counsel contended such sales would increase competition at the retail level and thus benefit consumers.

GM lawyers argued the auto giant had to have a dependable dealer organization and said discount houses are not needed to create price competition.

Justice Abe Fortas delivered the unanimous decision.

New TV Network Plans Revealed

OTTAWA (CP) — Kenneth D. Soble has given the CTV television network notice that he is out to gobble up its members when the current CTV licence expires June 30, 1968.

Mr. Soble, who operates CHCH-TV in Hamilton, told a public hearing of the Board of Broadcast Governors Wednesday he is getting ready to line up support for a new national TV network and have it in shape for presentation to the BBG at the first hearing after Oct. 1, 1967.

He and Maurice F. Strong, president of Power Corp. of Canada Ltd. in Montreal, would supply the main capital but would seek wide public support.

Placing his bid for permission to organize a private network before the BBG, Mr. Soble recalled that the board had authorized affiliate stations of the CTV network to purchase the network only under certain conditions. These were that network operations be reviewed at the first public hearing after Oct. 1, 1967, and that any CTV bid for a licence renewal be heard at that time.

Also at that hearing, the BBG would entertain applications "by any other persons" for permission to form a network.

PURCHASE BID

During the hearing Maclean-Hunter Publishing Co. Ltd. placed a $2,706,920 bid for a Calgary radio and television station.

The company expressed hope that it would not be forced to divest itself of its interest in a Halifax radio-television combination.

The company faces this possibility because of recent rules set by the BBG for the purchase of the CTV television network by its affiliate stations.

Maclean-Hunter has an interest in CJCH-TV and radio station CJCH in Halifax and has offered the $2,706,920 for control of CFCN radio and CFCN-TV in Calgary. CJCH-TV and CFCN-TV are both CTV affiliates.

The BBG approved purchase of the CTV network March 4. It ruled out multiple ownership within the network by saying it would not approve any arrangement "whereby any person may . . . participate in the control of management of more than one company licensed to operate an affiliated station."

Floyd Chalmers, chairman of the Maclean-Hunter board, said at a public hearing his company started negotiations to purchase the Calgary stations from H. G. Love and members of his family last December. The transaction was concluded Jan. 15, subject to BBG approval.

BELOW BLEAK NORTH SEA WATERS

Race to Exploit Riches

LONDON (Reuters) — The race to exploit the mineral wealth of gas, oil and hydrocarbon beneath the cold, bleak waters of the North Sea is on again in earnest.

Despite the collapse of the drilling rig Sea Gem Dec. 27, in which 13 men were killed, the international oil companies are pressing ahead with their efforts to unlock the great reservoir of gas beneath the sea and provide Britons with cheaper fuel for heating and cooking.

The sinking of British Petroleum's Sea Gem, which discovered a well capable of producing 50,000 cubic feet of natural gas a day, enough to supply the needs of a city of more than 2,500,00 people, inevitably delayed the time when gas from under the sea will be piped into British homes

CONTINUE SEARCH

But exploration continues.

Early in January, a new rig named Ocean Prince, operated by an Anglo-American consortium under the Burmah moved down the Humber River to a site 28 miles off the Yorkshire coast, not far from the scene of the Sea Gem disaster.

Fifty men now are living on this strange, man-made island as the complicated business of drilling goes on.

About the same time, British Petroleum launched a new rig, Sea Quest, at Belfast, Northern Ireland.

In London, a joint Anglo-American concern has announced the development of a computer-controlled diving bell for use in work on drilling equipment in areas like the North Sea.

U.S. Army Contract Won by Canadair

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadair Ltd. of Montreal has been awarded a $2,700,000 contract for advanced production engineering of an amphibious military vehicle for the U.S. Army, the defence production department said Wednesday.

Design and development of the two-unit tracked carrier is one of the first programs undertaken by Canada under the terms of the Canada-U.S. defence development sharing agreement.

LOOKS AT SPORTS

The babble from the rabble had worn itself out and now in the Leafs' plush parlor players mingled en negligee or less. Mostly less.

This was Tuesday night after the morgue doors had yawned shut for San Francisco Seals in the great Western League semi-final pass-skate competition.

Some, like Lou Jankowski and Andy Hebenton and Mike Labadie, propped up one wall. Rivulets of perspiration ran down their faces, damp testimony that playoff hockey taxes the pumping system. They represent 103 years in the business. Hebenton, the elder statesman, is 36, Jankowski 35 Labadie 33.

Jankowski was wearing a cigarette. He always does. One night after a league game, I was in the dressing room almost before the door closed and Jankowski was sitting there with his cancer stick. Some night I'm going to stick around and find out if he takes a shower with it in his kisser.

None of them is famed for their rhetoric alone. This night they didn't have to speak. Long John Henderson, who occupies the pew at the end—Al Millar's place—was overflowing with conversation.

"Great to be a winner, eh Lou!" Henderson chortled. The cancer sticked bobbed agreement.

"Way to go, eh Mike!" Henderson hollered.

Labadie nodded slowly. This, by his own reckoning, has been his last profficient year in the last six. Yet he is on a winner. His is not to reason why, etc., etc.

Was Bud Poile Shifting the Heat?

Henderson's flicking tongue continued to flap.

"What're they sayin' now?" he asked. "Weak link, uh. Well, let Poile try us again next year. Only he better bring a better team."

Henderson stretches 77 inches from metatarsals to his skin-infield forehead. His memory isn't undersized either.

He started the fall semester with San Francisco, platooning with Jack McCartan. But Norman Poile, the Seals' general manager and Charley Burns, his subaltern, decided Henderson was expendable and despatched him to the Central Pro League.

When Alan Millar was invited to leave the Leafs' goal, Frisco's Poile graciously made Henderson available to Victoria. Since then Poile has used everybody but Groucho Marx in goal. In the playoffs Poile suggested that if Victoria had an Achilles heel, it was attached to Henderson's foot.

The thought intrudes that Poile never really expected Henderson to pull a Humpty-Dumpty.

With McCartan crocked, Poile was forced to use Bob Gray, an amateur and Doug Favell, a wet-behind-the-experience pro. It would have been nice—for Frisco—to have had a goalkeeper. By putting heat on Henderson, Poile conld have hoped to take some off himself.

'Bla-Bla' Was (Sort of) Speechless

Henderson was resolute and vigilant in every game. Against Leafs Tuesday, Favell allowed two goals which were hardly works of art.

Not far from Henderson, in the Leafs' boudoir, sits Robert Barlow, known as "Bla-Bla" for his silence, especially between 2 and 4 a.m.

"Bla-Bla" was relatively subdued for him. A large knot on his dome no doubt was a contributing factor. It had been put there early in the first period by Seals' Ron Harris. They had been scuffling behind the net when Harris decided he wanted a piece of Barlow, a large piece. Gloves off, he dumped Barlow and then, as the saying goes, stuffed him.

"We were pushing," Barlow explained, "and my elbow came around and . . ." . . . WHAP!

"I don't mind losing," Barlow grinned through a gap reserved for dentures, "as long as we score. That penalty cost him two goals."

Barlow's rationalization was more accurate than his arithmetic. Leafs scored only once in Harris' absence.

Over in the corner of the training room, Capt. Kidd was holding court.

Capt. Kidd is George Imlach, chief justice of the Leaf clan, slumming in the boondocks. He wore a cotton-batten patch, held on by plastic tape, over his right eye. Perspiration kept working the tape loose and George steadfastly pressed it back in place.

Double Nothing Is Still Nothing

He'd been taking his constitutional, he said, when a strong wind lifted his hat. Grabbing for it he jabbed a finger in the optic and the nail had scratched the ball. After what Montreal did to his Leafs there was a temptation, resisted, to ask him how he had managed to save any fingernails.

Capt. Kidd had a long nose-to-nose talk with Larry Keenan. Last autumn Keenan reasoned to have a good shot with the Toronto firm but a wonky knee in need of surgery saw him returned here.

Now Capt. Kidd was saying . . . "and next fall we'll want to have you right, from the start."

Now Poile came in. He shook hands with Mario (they are old Army buddies) and then Imlach said, "I heard a story today out of Toronto that I had signed you to work with us."

"So did I," Poile laughed.

"For the same amount I offered you in 'Frisco?" Imlach asked wryly.

"No," Poile said, "for double your deal."

Then he left.

Laughing.

Amerks Take Big Step With Win Over Aces

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rochester Americans have taken a major step in defence of their Calder Cup championship and now only Cleveland Barons stand in their way in the American Hockey League.

The Amerks Wednesday night defeated Quebec Aces, Eastern Division champs, 6-3.

The triumph gave the best-of-seven set to the Americans 4-2. They'll meet the Barons in the opener of the best-of-seven final in Toronto Saturday night.

Larry Jeffrey scored twice and Bronco Horvath, Jim Pappin, Daryl Sly and Mike Walton had one goal each for Rochester. Leon Rochefort had two goals and Ed Hoekstra one for Quebec.

Goals by Jeffrey, Horvath and Pappin shot the Amerks into a 3-0 first-period lead. Rochefort converted passes from John Hanna and Billy Sutherland for Quebec's first goal at 6:50 of the second period. However, Sly and Walton registered for the Americans before the end of the same session to give their team a 5-1 lead.

Reardon Out

MONTREAL (CP) — Ken Reardon, former player and executive of Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League said Wednesday night he has asked to have his name withdrawn from the list of applicants for the job as general manager of San Francisco Seals.

Glad Rags Wins Thousand Guineas

NEWMARKET, Eng. (Reuters) — Irish-trained Glad Rags won the Thousand Guineas, first fillies classic of the British turf season, run over one mile here today.

Berkeley Springs was second, with Miliza II, the favorite third.

There were 21 runners.

Glad Rags, a 100-to-6 shot, won by a neck in a photo-finish.

Four Weeks The Limit Says Avery

ROME (AP) — The International Olympic Committee ruled Wednesday that no athlete who will compete in the 1968 Games in Mexico City can have more than four weeks of special, high altitude training in the last three months before the opening ceremony.

IOC president Avery Brundage of Chicago said any violation of the rule would be a "gross breach of sportsmanship" and that the committee had approved the restriction so that no athlete or country could "take an unfair advantage over other competitors."

There has been much criticism of the choice of the Mexico City site because it is 7,500 feet above sea level. Many critics contend this would endanger the health of athletes.

LARRY KEENAN

KEENAN SELECTED . . . . . . TO MARK ART JONES

Frank Has a Job for Larry

Three days of rest before they open the Western Hockey League final against Portland Buckaroos Saturday at Memorial Arena are helping Victoria Maple Leafs recover from aches and ailments.

Five players were handicapped by injuries when the Leafs finished their semi-final series here Tuesday by eliminating San Francisco Seals.

The extra days are also giving coach Frank Mario time to catch up on paperwork and plan strategy for the best-of-seven final for the Patrick Cup.

"I have been going over the figures of our games with Portland during the season to see which players gave us the most trouble," Mario said Wednesday as he briefly put down his pencil.

"From what they did against us during the regular season, we can expect the most trouble from Art Jones, Gerry Goyer and Connie Madigan."

Jones, who tied Vancouver's Billy McNeill for second place in the league scoring race, and Goyer both scored damaging goals against Victoria during the season, in which the Leafs won six, lost four and tied two with the Bucks. Madigan was voted the league's outstanding defenceman.

"I think I'll have Larry Kennan marking Jones here Saturday," Mario said. "Larry is getting stronger. He was skating and checking very well against San Francisco.

"He is also liable to break out for some goals. He could be the big man for us in the final."

Keenan, who scored 35 goals last season, got a late start this time after a knee operation and then was sidelined until the playoffs by a wrist fracture.

"There's one thing," Mario added, "If we skate and check as well against Portland as we did Tuesday night, we'll be champions."

Mario also announced that the Leafs expected a new player in camp today.

He is Mike Corrigan, who signed a professional contract after completing his junior season with Toronto Marlboros and played with Tulsa in Central League playoffs.

Corrigan, able to play both at centre and at left wing, was described by Mario as a good skater and strong checker.

Corrigan will probably replace Steve Witiuk, who has been unable to play since suffering strained knee ligaments late in the regular season.

McNeill Coasts To MVP Award

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Vancouver Canucks' centreman Billy McNeill has been selected the most valuable player in the Western Hockey League for the second consecutive season.

BILLY McNEILL
. . . most valuable

Results of player voting announced today gave the former Detroit Red Wings forward 293 votes, 146 more than runner-up Guyle Fielder of the Seattle Totems.

The crew-cut speedster led the WHL scoring race for most of the season, and finally finished second with 102 points from 40 goals and 62 assists.

McNeill, 30, was third top scorer in the WHL the previous season.

Leading Victoria candidates were Fred Hucul, 38 votes, and Andy Hebenton, 32. Milan Marcetta received 12 votes, Sandy Hucul, six, and Bob Barlow, one.

It marks the third time in the 17-year history of the league that the Leader Cup has been won by the same player in successive seasons. Previous two-time winners were Fielder and Walter "Babe" Pratt. The award carries a $300 cash bonus.

The leaders:

McNeill, Vancouver	293
Fielder, Seattle	147
Connelly, San Francisco	69
Madigan, Portland	66
Jones, Portland	65
C. Schmautz, Portland	54
F. Hucul, Victoria	38
Hebenton, Victoria	32
Burns, San Francisco	32
MacFarland, Seattle	27
Maloney, Vancouver	17
Marcetta, Victoria	12

Bert Bertoia has a lacrosse team. And no place to play. Thanks to Victoria Maple Leafs who persist in pursuing the Western Hockey League title, Bertoia's Victoria Shamrocks will be making a late start in the Intercity Lacrosse League this year.

Leafs have a firm grip on Memorial Arena. They won't surrender it until possibly May 7. By then the ICLL will be well under way, even if Rocks aren't.

To accommodate the Rocks, the ICCL has rescheduled them to play their first game May 10 at Coquitlam. Rocks open at home, Wednesday, May 11, with Coquitlam as guests.

This season Rocks will play 13 Wednesday and two Saturday home engagements.

FIRST SEASON

Bertoia is starting his first season as coach. Even the most partisan club followers would concede he faces no bed of tulips. Lost and gone forever, Clementine, from the 1965 edition are goalkeeper Skip Chapman, Terry Davis, the minute scoring specimen and defensive dandies Ed Kowalyk and Jack Showers.

To replace them Bertoia has culled the Senior B and junior ranks.

For goal he will choose from Barry Forbes and juniors Doug Thompson and George Grover. On defence his starting (and, he hopes, awesome) foursome will be Ted Liebich, Ranjit Dillon, Tom Black and Bill Gray. Liebich is the only "import." He comes all the way from Nanaimo.

FAMILIAR NAMES

Up front familiar names on the program will be Nirmal Dillon, Ron Jay, Reg Foster, Bill Munro, Jim Cunningham, Bob Harris, Tom Collett, Bill Sposwood.

The new look will be represented from among juniors John Lauvaas, Don McNeill, Vern Black and Pat Green, Senior B's Lon Restall, Ron Marshall, Quebec League repatriate Bob Holness and 1964 returnee Pat Mulcahy.

The "new look" Rocks work out at Esquimalt Sports Centre Sunday at 5 p.m.

Can Bertoia lead them to the top of the mount?

NORMAN'S NETMINDING RESCUES SALMONBELLIES

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—A fine second-half performance by goalie Les Norman gave New Westminster Salmonbellies a 10-8 win over Vancouver in Inter-City Lacrosse League exhibition play here Wednesday night.

Norman replaced Ken Ridd for the final two quarters and stopped 15 out of 16 shots as New Westminster recovered from a 7-6 half-time deficit.

Cliff Sepka led the New Westminster scoring with two goals and four assists. For Sepka, it was the start of his 13th season in senior lacrosse.

Pacing Vancouver were Bill Robinson and Bob Salt, with two goals each.

NINE-TEAM LEAGUE

Mack Loop Opens With Three Games

Victoria's baseball season will swing into high gear this weekend.

The expanded Connie Mack League will usher in its new campaign Sunday with three games at Windsor Park. Birnies and Boosters are scheduled to play at 1 p.m., War Amps meet Evening Optimists at 3:30 and Al's Esso tackles Victoria Optimists at 6.

Also included in the nine-team league are clubs from Lake Cowichan, Duncan and Ladysmith.

Although play started Tuesday, the Victoria Babe Ruth League will officially open the season with two Sunday games at 1:30. Menzies Plumbing will play Evening Optimists at Beacon Hill Park and Verdiel Floors will meet Wheaton Construction at Bullen Park.

National Little League gets under way Saturday at Jaycee Park. Ceremonies will be held at 3 p.m., between games of a doubleheader.

In a photo-finish he beat Great Nephew, with Celtic Song third.

Group Revives Garibaldi Bid

VANCOUVER (CP)—A British Columbia group will seek to hold the 1976 Winter Olympics on Whistler Mountain in Garibaldi Park near here.

John Fraser, president of the Garibaldi Olympic Development Association, which lost out to Banff, Alta., as Canadian site for the 1972 Winter Olympics, says he is confident the 1976 Winter Games will be held in the provincial park.

The Canadian Olympic Association in 1964 chose Banff over Garibaldi as the proposed Canadian site.

Handicap Can Be Asset

TORONTO (CP) — Members of St. Francis de Salle soccer team, newest entry in the Toronto and District Soccer League have one advantage over their opponents: They can't be antagonized verbally by the opposition.

All 15 players are deaf.

This joint handicap has its advantages, says coach Leo Bass who has only 20-per-cent hearing. The players, who represent many nationalities, get along perfectly and are able to ignore the roar of the crowds as they concentrate on the game.

League officials will tote flags as well as whistle to indicate stoppages in play to manager of San Francisco de Salle team.

Habs Aren't Dead Toe Blake Insists

DETROIT (CP)—Despite his club's two successive losses to Detroit Red Wings in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final, Montreal coach Toe Blake figures his Canadiens are far from eliminated.

TOE BLAKE

In an effort to halt Detroit's march to the Cup, Blake whipped his athletes off a train here Wednesday afternoon on their arrival from Montreal and onto a waiting bus which whisked them to Detroit's Olympia Stadium.

Once there, the team was subjected to an hour-long workout with the stress placed on shooting accuracy and line rushes.

In contrast, the Red Wings, who defeated Montreal 5-2 Tuesday night and 3-2 in the opener last Sunday, were given a day of rest by manager-coach Sid Abel.

On their arrival from Montreal by air early Wednesday, the Wings retired to their between-games hideout in Toledo, Ohio, 55 miles south of Detroit, and will return just before tonight's scheduled third game starting at 6 p.m. PDT.

Abel has made it a practice in recent years to give his athletes as much freedom from the rink as possible between playoff contests. A spokesman for the club in Detroit said the Wings may skate here Saturday in preparation for Sunday's fourth game, an afternoon affair.

WHAT HAPPENED?

Blake is still trying to figure out what happened to his defence in Tuesday night's loss.

"Sure, the first game was 3-2 and it was anybody's game," he said, "but 5-2, there's not that much difference between these two clubs now."

Montreal officials took heart Wednesday from the fact their team had not dropped three games in a row all season.

"We're not out of this series yet," Blake said and Sam Pollock, the club's general manager, echoed those sentiments.

Blake said an example of Habs' defensive lapses came on the Wings' second goal Tuesday when right-winger Bruce MacGregor was given a clean path to the Montreal net just after the beginning of the third period.

"I'm still trying to figure out what happened to (Bobby) Rousseau and the defence on that one," Blake mused.

Rousseau had wheeled as if to check MacGregor, then changed course and sped toward his own blue line, leaving the Detroit winger in possession deep in the Montreal zone.

Blake is unhappy with his forwards, who have accounted for only two of the four goals Canadiens have picked up so far in the finals. Centre Ralph Backstrom got one in the opener along with defenceman Terry Harper while Yvan Cournoyer combined with J. C. Tremblay, another defenceman, for Habs' total output in the second game.

Blake said Backstrom played a fine game in Montreal last Sunday but "Tuesday night he was on the ice for three Detroit goals and never had a shot on the net all night."

Utility forwards Cournoyer and Dave Balon will likely see more action tonight, although Blake gave no indication exactly what line changes he contemplated, if any.

He also indicated Lorne Worsley will remain his first choice for netminding duties.

Worsley has appeared in all Montreal playoff games so far.

"I'd hate to make a change in the goaltenders at this time," Blake said. "(Charlie) Hodge may have stopped the soft ones but could have missed the difficult ones that Worsley was good on."

Neither club reported any serious injury although Canadiens' defenceman Jean-Guy Talbot and J. C. Tremblay were nursing minor ailments.

Talbot's left eye was almost shut as a result of a clash on the boards in the second period with Detroit forward Ab McDonald. Tremblay was limping after stopping a hard shot with his ankle.

Laing Queries Bid for Games

OTTAWA (CP) — Resources Minister Laing said Wednesday he has doubts whether Canada should make a third try for the Olympic winter games.

He said in an interview that the two previous bids by Banff had cost taxpayers $300,000 "and it makes you wonder just how tough a league it is."

"When you go out to offer tremendous sums of money, up to millions of dollars, to attract people for 10 days, you begin to ask yourself how good a bargain it is," Mr. Laing said.

If the Banff bid had been successful, the games would have been held in Banff National Park. Mr. Laing's cabinet responsibilities include the national parks.

Earlier in the Commons he had rejected statements by Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson that park policy contributed to Banff losing its bid for the 1972 games.

The government had done all it could to help Banff, the minister replied. "The games would not have resulted in any serious damage to the park and certainly "no permanent damage."

Observers at Rome this week said protests from conservation groups that the games would harm wildlife there dealt a body blow to Banff's chances.

Mr. Laing didn't rule out a third attempt by Banff. He said he wanted to talk to the Canadian delegation from Banff "to get their views of what went wrong and how you approach this thing."

"There's beginning to attach to this in my mind an aura of something that doesn't sound like amateur sport," he said.

Bidding for the Olympic games took "big-time money and I don't know whether Canada should be in this kind of competition."

Games or no games, "as time goes on we are going to have in Banff one of the best ski areas in North America."

In the House, Mr. Laing said "there is already a very large sum of money invested in it and there will be a great deal more."

Dodgers' 'Little D' Cools Atlanta Bats

By Associated Press

Don (Little D) Sutton looks like he's ready to challenge Don Drysdale for the Big D label—both on the mound and at the plate.

A 21-year-old right-hander in only his second year of professional baseball, Sutton emphasied his rapid development Wednesday night when he posted the first complete game of his major league career in Los Angeles Dodgers' 4-1 victory over Atlanta Braves.

Sutton's place with the Dodgers remained questionable because of his inexperience until Drysdale and Sandy Koufax held out during spring training and manager Walt Alston looked at Sutton's minor league record.

'FOURTH BEST STARTER"

"Sutton has improved every start," said Alston after the six-foot-one, 185-pounder checked the Braves on five hits and struck out 10 while walking only one. "Right now he's the fourth best starter on the staff."

Sutton, however, may be after bigger things.

He's already posted two victories, and also is stealing some of Drysdale's hitting thunder. Big D was the Dodgers' leading hitter last year but Little D collected two hits against the Braves and now is No. 1 on the club with six hits in 13 at-bats for a .464 average.

BIG D WINLESS

Drysdale is winless and hitless.

Only two other National League games were played, Houston Astros defeating St. Louis Cardinals 3-1 behind Dave Giusti's three-hit pitching and Cincinnati Reds' outslugging San Francisco Giants 8-6 as Vada Pinson went 4-for-4.

Smoky Burgess, the catcher who could pass for one of those paunchy movie bartenders, happens to be the most prolific pinch-hitter in the American League.

Wednesday he hit a two-run pinch single that helped Chicago White Sox to an 8-6 victory over Boston Red Sox.

Burgess, 39, stands five feet, eight and weighs 192 pounds—most of it centrally located.

Every time he delivers a pinch hit, he adds to his major league record. Wednesday's was his third this season and the 118th of his 17-year major league career. It helped the White Sox to their 10th victory in 13 starts.

In the only other American League game played Wednesday, Washington Senators blanked New York Yankees 2-0

Top Scores Came Early In Distaff Tenpin Race

MARG. ROBERTSON
. . . joins field

Early qualifiers may be the trundlers to beat in the women's tenpin section of the rolloffs for the Times Bowler-of-the-Year titles.

All winners of weekly awards in the third annual 27-week Bowler-of-the-Week competition are eligible to shoot for trophies and cash in the rolloffs on May 8.

Open to all bowlers on southern Vancouver Island lanes, the contest offered weekly awards to those who bowled the top scores in regular league play in four divisions—women's and men's fivepins, women's and men's tenpins.

Champions in the May 8 rolloffs will receive trophies and any champion who is a subscriber to The Daily Times will receive a bonus prize of $100.

Bowler-of-the-Year rolloffs for fivepinners will be held at Town and Country Lanes, starting at 1:30.

Tenpin rolloffs are scheduled for 2:30. Distaff trundlers will compete at Mayfair Lanes and the men will roll at Aurora.

FIELD COMPLETED

Field for the women's tenpin chase was completed today when Marg Robertson was named the winner of the 27th and final week. Marg topped her division and earned a rolloff berth by hitting 200-179-155—534 in the Ladies' Classic League at Mayfair.

Four three-game series of 600 or better were recorded by women's tenpin quilifiers, three of them in the first four weeks.

Lucy Lenton started things off with a 618 series and Jessie Holding posted the best score of this season's contest with a 624 tally in the third week. Marg Cooper hit 600 in the fourth week and Freda Peacock rolled 602 in the 15th week.

Here are the women's tenpin finalists, listed in the order in which they qualified:

RANGERS TRIUMPH

Dane's First Goal Wins Scottish Cup

Times News Services

Glasgow Rangers continued an old soccer habit Wednesday night when they won their 19th Scottish Football Association Cup by defeating Glasgow Celtic 1-0 before a capacity crowd at Hampden Park.

The match was a replay after the two teams had drawn, 0-0, last Saturday.

Rangers' goal came in the 70th minute from Danish fullback Kaj Johanneson, his first goal in Scottish soccer.

Rangers have not lost a cup final in 36 years, and last night's win gave them a 19-18 edge over Celtic in Scottish cup victories.

In other matches Wednesday, Leeds United forced a playoff in its Inter-City Fairs Cup semi-final by beating Real Zaragoza of Spain, 2-1, in Leeds.

English international centre-half Jackie Charlton headed the winner at 65 minutes. The Spaniards, who won the first game, 1-0, lost the toss for the playoff venue which will be in Leeds at a date to be announced.

In the other Inter-City Fairs semi-final, Chelsea lost the first leg, 2-0, to Barcelona in Spain.

MORE ALIMONY TROUBLE . . . . . . FOR RING CHAMPION

Sonji Socks Cassius Again

SONJI . . . she can't lose

MIAMI (UPI)—If Cassius Clay beats up Henry Cooper or if Henry beats up Cassius, Sonji couldn't care less. She wins either way.

Sonji was Clay's wife until Jan. 11 when a court split them asunder. The shapely model-singer summoned her former husband, the heavyweight champion of the world, back into court Tuesday. It made the second time in a little over two weeks Sonji has put Clay in the uncharacteristic spot of standing mute before the bench.

It's all over alimony.

The divorce decree said Cassius is to pay Sonji $1,250 a month for the next 10 years and one month. He also had to pay her legal fees, which were rather expensive.

On April 5, Clay narrowly missed going to the Dade County jail on a contempt of court citation. The citation was ordered after Sonji told the court Clay had not paid her a nickel—he sent her a cheque.

Clay was able to get out of that one by getting to Sonji two days later cashier's cheques for $27,500 plus $50 in cash.

The original decree said Clay was to post $50,000 as a guarantee against the alimony. Sonji said Tuesday Clay still owes $25,000.

Judge Harold Spaet Tuesday read an affidavit from Clay. It said the champion was without funds because the money from his last two fights—Patterson (Clay in a TKO) and Chuvalo (Clay in a unnanimous decision) — were waylaid by various pieces of litgation and the Canadian internal revenue service.

But Clay said he is going to fight Henry Cooper in London May 21.

And for that fight he has a $100,000 guarantee, Sonji will be paid from that, he said.

Spaet said that would be all right, but told Clay to get the $25,000 to Sonji—in bonds or anything else negotiable—within 60 days.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Accepting Confederation Father Busts Is Dr. Malcolm Taylor.

Macdonald, Cartier Busts Go to Uvic

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night presented University of Victoria President Dr. Malcolm Taylor with busts of Fathers of Confederation Macdonald and Cartier.

Part of a national Jaycee project to promote Canadian unity, the Junior Chamber of Commerce gave a first pair of the same figures to Premier Bennett several months ago.

Accepting the busts for the political science department of the University, Dr. Taylor said the building of the Canadian nation did not stop at 1867.

He said universities and organizations like the Jaycees were "sister education institutions" that had to work together for the common good and the further growth of the nation.

"The test, in the end, of our way of life will be how we enable people to develop to their utmost capacity," said Dr. Taylor.

Three Pay $110 For Having Beer

Three youths were fined a total of $110 Wednesday in magistrate's court on charges of being minors in possession of alcohol. All pleaded guilty to the charges.

George Baldwin, 670 Wilson, and Rock Lanthier, 2825 Lake End Road, were found sitting in a parked car in Colwood, April 9, with a case of beer on the seat of the car and some bottles hidden under the seat.

Baldwin was fined $40 and Lanthier $35.

Donald Brown, 1416 Allison, was stopped at 1:10 a.m. April 3 on Shelbourne and found to have 23 bottles of beer in his car.

He was fined $35.

HUNT FOR NEW MISS VICTORIA STARTS MAY 16

Not Much Growing on in Jaycee Beard Race

Centennial year beard-growing contest sponsored by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce is off to a peach-fuzz start.

At their Wednesday meeting Jaycees were told only 12 entries for the contest had been made to date.

The beard-growing committee chairman said there were at least 150 good beards in the city, but they were keeping away.

"Everyone should do his best," he urged. "That is, if his employer lets him."

"We're having a new category this year," he said. "Sexiest and scratchiest. To be judged by Miss Victoria."

Beards started in the new year may be entered in the contest with a phone call to Jaycee headquarters, 383-4521.

In other business, Jaycee exhibition chairman Don Mathison urged a full turnout of members to the rides and displays which open May 16 in and around Memorial Arena.

There will be 21 midway rides, a new Miss Victoria, Guy Mitchell and 4-H club exhibits along with displays by area business and industry.

Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes will officially open the five-day show.

The provincial Jaycee convention will be held in Victoria June 2, 3 and 4.

ONE TO GO FOR "EXPO"

Honor Concert Winds Up Music Festival Friday

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Main centre of activity moved to McPherson Playhouse Wednesday and continued there today as Victoria Music Festival entered its final phase.

Competitive choral sessions terminated this afternoon, leaving only the schools honor performance Friday night to wind up the event for 1966.

Friday's concert will be held at Central Junior Secondary auditorium, starting at 8 p.m. A number of choral, instrumental and folk dance performance selected by the adjudicators will be presented.

Wednesday night's dance honor performance drew a capacity audience at Central.

High-scoring dance groups from public and private schools, ranging from Grade 2 to secondary level made up the colorful program.

In the only adjudicated class Victoria Scottish Country Dance Society in close competition with Sons of Norway came out slightly ahead with 82 marks.

MONTEREY WINS

The Lillian Smethurst Award of $25 for a school reaching a high standard of performance in one or more classes, was won by Monterey School.

Monterey's excellent Grade 7 boys, group which scored a 95 on Tuesday, added to the girls' 94, and an earlier second place 88, tipped the scales in their favor.

But they were nudged closely by Margaret Jenkins which had three groups earn a place on the honor program and a fourth named for Friday's final concert.

In competition Margaret Jenkins had scored two 90s, a 92 and a 94.

It is discouraging to notice the slump in school choral classes this years.

These used to be the glory of the festival but now it would seem, little interest is shown from any point of view.

The reason for this falling off is not clear but whatever it is something should be done about it. Not only is singing the most natural form of music-making but it confers important physical and mental benefits as well.

In 16 classes listed Wednesday, 50 per cent had only one entry, four had two and two had three entries. And this is not counting those in which groups had withdrawn.

AUDIENCES SPARSE

Audiences also were noticeably sparse, an inevitable reflection of the general downgrading.

Ralph Manzo of Washington State University, adjudicating Wednesday evening, was clearly not happy with much of what he heard. However his remarks endeavored to be encouraging and his marks certainly did not reflect his general lack of enthusiasm.

Best aggregate marks of the evening were shared by Oak Bay Junior Secondary boys and Victoria Senior Secondary girls, both of whom amassed a substantial 170.

DELIGHTFUL

During the day there had been some quite delightful performances however; notably from Holy Angels' School, Strawberry Vale, Lampson, St. Joseph's School, Margaret Jenkins, Uplands, and Oak Bay Junior Secondary Boys' Choir, all of which had been awarded 90-average markings.

A PATCH OF BLUE

Sneak Preview

Royal Theatre

This perceptive and very delicately handled film clearly puts the Negro in a position where he can pity the white man in the way he has been pitied and patronized for so long.

Both as caricature and wish-fulfilment, A Patch of Blue could be one of the great films of 1966 — a tender fairy story in which Sidney Poitier plays Prince Charming to a blind Cinderella.

Elizabeth Hartman is superb as the blind girl and Poitier has never been better — not even in Lilies of the Field which won him the Academy Award two years ago.

The story, based on a novel by Elizabeth Kata, has been so deftly handled by director Guy Green that there is no suggestion of maudlin sentiment or phoney heroics.

* * *

The blind girl lives with her weak, drunken grandfather and her vulgar mother, terrifyingly portrayed by Shelley Winters. The girl sits alone in this awful apartment stringing beads until one day she is taken to the park where she can feel the sun on her face.

There she meets Poitier, a Negro reporter, who takes pity on her and determines to help her escape from the cocoon of fear and ignorance created by the wicked mother.

The girl does not know he is a Negro until the vicious Winters tries to stop her from seeing him again. Poitier calls in a social service agency and the girl is whisked away to a school for the blind where she can learn Braille.

A Patch of Blue presents Poitier in a new and interesting light. In Lilies of the Field he was a competent good-natured handyman reluctantly giving his services to a group of unworldly but determined nuns.

* * *

In The Bedford Incident, he was a newspaper reporter aboard a battleship captained by a fanatical skipper. There were no women in the film and the main interest was Poitier's very subtle understanding of a demented white man.

In A Slender Thread Poitier played hero to a beautiful white woman with suicidal tendencies, but only met her over the phone. Now this gifted Negro is actually permitted to fall in love with a white girl

This suggests that the black man is escaping from the sterotyped movie mould in which he has been cast for so long — that of a good-natured, helpless individual who is persecuted by a bunch of shiftless, no-good whites.

REAL SINGING TALENT

U.K. Star Explodes on Hollywood Scene

PETULA . . . revealing performance

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Petite Petula Clark has exploded her singing talent on the Hollywood scene, startling those who thought of her as a rock 'n' roll singer.

The British singer sold a stellar audience at the Cocoanut Grove on her varied repertoire of something old and much that is new. Her performance was a revelation to those who came expecting a teen-type rocker.

The reason for that reputation was her first American record, Downtown, which was such a favorite with the youthful crowd that her talent as a song-belter was virtually obscured.

"But Downtown is not rock 'n' roll song; it is really a very beautiful piece of music," she said in her hotel suite as one of her two young daughters crawled over her. "And I have certainly never considered myself a rock 'n' roll singer.

"Last year at the Grammy awards, I accepted my statuette for Downtown, then I noticed the inscription. I comment, 'I didn't know I was a rock 'n' roll singer.'

"I was glad to see that when I won this year for I Know A Place, the category had been changed."

Downtown brought many changes to her life.

"Actually, this was the time when I expected to be slowing down my career," she remarked. "I had enjoyed a career as the most successful female performer in England and on the continent. Having had the best of it, I thought I would be settling down to the house we are building in Switzerland we also have places in Paris and on the Cote d'Azur—as my daughters would soon be starting school.

"And then Downtown was released in this country. Now we have doubled our travel time, and who knows when it will end?"

Petula, who is married to and managed by Frenchman Claud Wolff, is a veteran of British show business despite her gamin appearance. She began by performing before soldiers in the war, along with another noted star.

"Julie Andrews and I were actually very good friends in those days," she remarked. "We both had the same problems we were child stars with show-business parents. We saw a lot of each other then, but not in recent years. I would like to see her again."

Petula appeared in 25 English films, none of any vast importance, and then returned to her beginnings as a singer. She rode the crest of the British tidal wave in popular music.

She digs the new beat; it communicates to the current generation, she says.

The Value of a Spiritual Outlook

"VISION"

Every day we depend on "vision" that goes beyond what our eyes see. The challenge is always to find a greater vision — a deeper spiritual perception — that will guide mankind's progress, and lift men everywhere into their heritage as children of God. Hear this one-hour public lecture on "The Value of a Spiritual Outlook" by PAUL A. ERICKSON, C.S.B., member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

Gerda Lived In 'Spy Centre'

Soviet Trade Mission in Building Kept Under Surveillance by RCMP

OTTAWA (CP)—The Montreal apartment building where Gerda Munsinger lived also housed premises suspected by the RCMP as a Soviet spy centre and visited by known Russian agents, a royal commission was told Wednesday.

Former RCMP commissioner C. W. Harvison testified the building was kept under surveillance for purposes other than the RCMP's surveillance of Mrs. Munsinger during her final months in Canada.

He said there is no evidence she engaged in espionage operations while in Canada from 1955 until 1961. And there was no evidence of any breach of national security as a result of her relationship with Pierre Sevigny or any other members of the government.

Mr. Sevigny was Conservative associate defence minister from 1959 until 1963. An RCMP report placed before the royal commission inquiry said Mrs. Munsinger was Mr. Sevigny's mistress.

The commission also has been told other reports described her as a petty thief, prostitute and self-admitted Soviet agent before coming to this country.

Mr. Harvison said the RCMP had no evidence that Mrs. Munsinger tried to get any security information from anyone while in Canada.

Conservative counsel C. F. H. Carson questioned Mr. Harvison about surveillance reports in the RCMP's Munsinger file. The former RCMP head acknowledged they showed Mrs. Munsinger was kept under close surveillance from Nov. 9, 1960, until at least Jan. 18, 1961.

Mrs. Munsinger Not Involved

He agreed that they also included statements made Jan. 18, 1961, by the officer in charge, identified only as Milligan, that it was apparent Mrs. Munsinger was not engaged in intelligence operations and therefore was of no further interest to RCMP intelligence.

And on Jan. 24 the same officer had suggested the Munsinger case be transferred to the criminal investigation branch in connection with smuggling. There was no elaboration on this point.

Mr. Carson said a "yellow sheet" dated Nov. 22, 1960, apparently to the assistant director of RCMP security and intelligence, suggested "less embarrassment" would be caused if the case was taken up verbally with the "hierarchy of government."

Mr. Harvison said his view was that the affair should be brought to the government's attention verbally and then confirmed in writing.

He said that as far as could be ascertained there was no further association between Mr. Sevigny and Mrs. Munsinger after he first reported the affair Dec. 7, 1960, to then justice minister Fulton.

He had reported to Mr. Fulton verbally, showing him parts of the Munsinger file which he carried with him. He wouldn't challenge the statement that Mr. Fulton had asked for a written brief about the file but couldn't recall whether the one made had been ordered by Mr. Fulton or him.

Fulton Talked to PM About Case

When he called again Dec. 12 or 13 to get back to this written brief, he had the distinct impression Mr. Fulton had seen then prime minister Diefenbaker about the case.

He said he could not recall any conversation that day in which Mr. Fulton told him the Sevigny - Munsinger liaison would stop and Mrs. Munsinger would leave the country. Mr. Carson had suggested Mr. Harvison was so advised.

The former commissioner said at another point that he had no instructions from Mr. Diefenbaker, Mr. Fulton or any member of the Conservative government to close the Munsinger file and stop the investigation.

Investigation continued right up to the time she left Canada. Steps were taken at London, where her plane stopped, to stamp her passport so she could never return to Canada.

He was asked whether he could explain how Mrs. Munsinger could come to Canada in 1955 after her application for a visa was refused in 1952.

"I can't tell you that," he replied. Her 1952 application was made under her maiden name Hessler.

Mr. Harvison said it is primarily the responsibility of the immigration department to see that rejected persons don't get into the country under another name. An inquiry had shown thousands had arrived in Canada illegally in those years.

He said that after Mrs. Munsinger left he reported this to Mr. Fulton and considered "this rather wrapped up the matter."

Greene Says 3 Scientists Are 'Heroes'

OTTAWA (CP) — Agriculture Minister Greene Wednesday night called three scientists "heroes" of Canada for their work in producing the new antibiotic drug myxin.

He said on the free-time CBC telecast The Nation's Business this achievement will stand in history long after Ottawa's current and unimportant fusses and furores are forgotten.

Announcement of myxin's discovery in Ottawa by agriculture department scientists Dr. Douglas C. Gillespie, Dr. Edward A. Peterson and Dr. Fred D. Cook was made Tuesday.

Mr. Greene said myxin has been found effective in lab tests against the organism causing tuberculosis, against the bacteria that causes sweeping hospital infections, and against a wide variety of plant and crop diseases.

It's possible anti-cancer properties are being tested at the University of Saskatchewan's cancer research institute in Saskatoon.

Oil Lift To End

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian oil lift from the Congo to Zambia will end Saturday, it was learned Tuesday. Informants said Zambia now is getting enough petroleum products by overland routes to make the RCAF airlift no longer necessary.

'HEART' MODIFIED

Plastic Pump Use Planned Again Soon

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A modified version of the partial artificial pump that kept Marcel DeRudder alive nearly five days may be used on another patient within several weeks.

DeRudder, 64, died Tuesday of a ruptured left lung.

Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, the noted surgeon who performed the six - hour operation last Thursday, said the lung rupture was a complication "over which we had no control."

"We don't know what caused the rupture," he said after DeRudder's death.

"The pump did what we thought it would do. We would hope to use it in all cases of this type."

Asked when the device might be used again, he replied: "I can't tell . . . probably in several weeks."

MADE PROGRESS

DeRudder never regained consciousness, but DeBakey said that, prior to the lung rupture, there had been signs this and other complications would have been overcome.

The autopsy report attributed the prolonged unconsciousness to a blood clot in a major artery in the brain. It said a considerable amount of this fragmented clot had been found during the operation in the left auricle, the heart chamber that receives blood from veins.

DeBakey said the pump, during the post - operative period, assumed from 60 to 80 per cent of the total function of DeRudder's left ventricle, the chamber that does most of the heart's pumping.

The autopsy report said the left ventricle, severely damaged by DeRudder's 25-year-old heart ailments, already was showing signs of healing.

Some lessons we've learned about making small cars for Canadians.

Lesson 1. Build them in Canada. That's where the rugged weather is.

Lesson 2. Watch your paint. Use 5 separate coats of Canadian primer and paint, after rustproofing the bodies 6 times.

Lesson 3. Offer something unusual. Like a small car automatic for around $2,000.

Lesson 4. Make it good-looking. A small car doesn't have to be ugly to be well engineered.

Lesson 5. Give it a great independent suspension. Canadians have a knack for leaving the beaten path.

Lesson 6. Make the seats convertible to beds. A lot of Canadians are campers.

Lesson 7. Put in 4-wheel disc brakes, and offer a 4-speed synchromesh gearbox. Canadians are a sporty group.

Lesson 8. Keep at least a million dollars worth of spare parts. And keep them available everywhere in Canada.

Lesson 9. Put in an engine that likes to be driven hard. Canadian roads are long and Canadians like to move along.

Lesson 10. Install a heater as large as most domestic big cars. Put in a booster fan and outlets for back seat passengers. Canada is a frosty country.

Lesson 11. Keep your prices down and your engineering quality up. There's a lot of competition.

These are lessons we've learned in Canada. This is the Renault 10 Major.

Drop in and give one an exam.

A run-of-the-mill nylon carpet from Harding? Never. Every Harding Carpet bearing the Dupont '501' label is a thing of beauty. It's luxurious. Elegant.

And wait until you see the original designs created by Harding artists. Versatile sculptured designs that give a small room the luxurious feeling of space, and a large room warmth. Quietly elegant carpets with plain textures that go with just about every type of decor.

Have we got colours? We certainly have. Du Pont Nylon dyes with a purity that rivals nature. Harding nylon carpets come in wild, wonderful colours. Subdued, dramatic colours. Exotic colours. Colours like Mandarin Red and Egyptian Gold. Colours that are a decorator's delight. Colours that you'll love to live with for years.

Now let's be practical. A thing of beauty is not a joy forever unless it wears and wears. That's why we don't use ordinary nylon in our carpets.

We use Du Pont 100% heavy carpet nylon. And we make our carpets to Du Pont '501' quality standards. This makes a big difference Du Pont continuous filament carpet nylon yarn is made of strong, unbroken filaments which run the length of the carpet. This means the pile resists pilling, fuzzing and shedding. It's the toughest, strongest, longest-wearing carpet fibre known. And remember . . . a Harding Carpet is pretty.

So what if you've got a couple of kids. A Harding Nylon Carpet can withstand repeated attacks from cowboys, Indians and even an invasion of men from Mars. And when the kids are teenagers it'll still be around for the twist, Frug or whatever the current dance craze is years from now.

You can use a Harding Nylon Carpet confidently in living rooms and dining rooms. In bedrooms and bathrooms. On stairs. Just about anywhere.

Visit your Harding dealer soon and ask to see a Harding Carpet bearing the Du Pont '501' certification mark. Ask him the price. You'll be surprised that a 9′ x 12′ rug will cost you around $120. And don't forget to send in the coupon. We'll rush you a swatch, and booklets on care and selection of carpets.

DECKHAND FIRED FOR GETTING TOO EARLY A START

Sea Rescues Payoff for Little White Lies

This is the second in a series of articles on the adventures of local seamen by Times marine writer Terry Izzard.

By TERRY IZZARD

Not every businessman will admit to getting the boot from his first job.

Roy Blake is an exception.

The youthful-looking chief sharpshooter for one of B.C.'s major towing companies has good reason to talk with pride of the day he was fired.

It was 1942 and the son of a seaman was a mere boy of 14.

One of five brothers, he had left school in New Westminster that same year to boost the meagre family budget.

In order to secure a job as deckhand with the local tugboat company of Young and Gore, the freckle-faced youngster lied about his age.

His application form showed Roy Donald Blake, age 16 (the minimum working age).

The ruse was only good for six months at the end of which young Ron was politely told his $35-a-month services would have to be dispensed with.

Undeterred by the abrupt ending to his first job, the determined 'deckie' lied about his age once more to land a $30-a-mont position with Westminster Tugboat Co.

Humping Coal

It was during these six months, while decking, cooking and humping coal aboard the Buster B., that the novice seaman was given the first piece of advice that set him on the rungs of the ladder he has since climbed.

His advisor was well-known New Westminster skipper, Capt. Tom Cooper. His advice:

"Kid, if you're going to stay at sea get out of the river here and do something with yourself."

Roy Blake did just that.

After lying for two years, he was able to put down his correct age when signing up with Straits Towing and six months later when he joined Young and Gore for the second time.

Gained Fame

As he plied daily between Seymour Inlet and Vancouver, a load of flat logs in tow, it seemed he would never match up to his grandfather, who gained fame in the last century by towing Cleopatra's needle from Egypt to London.

Little did he know that in the next 20 years he would gain fame of a different kind — with some of the most dramatic rescue tows in the Pacific Ocean's history.

However, that was still a far cry away when he joined his present employers, Island Tug and Barge Ltd., in the summer of 1945.

The tousle-haired teen-ager was still a deckhand when he began a 3½-year stint aboard the Ss. Snohomish, then the largest steam tug on the Pacific coast.

But he was already studying for his mate's ticket and at the grand old age of 18 he did his first tour of duty as second in command.

Turning Point

With a trip to Argentina tucked under his belt, during which time the Snohomish had been sold, Roy returned to Victoria as mate of the Island Commander.

The year 1951 proved the turning point in his life.

First, he earned his tow boat master's certificate and took command of the old Island Mariner.

Secondly, he married his fiancee, Patricia, and settled down to live in Victoria.

The next 10 years were to be the most memorable in the young seaman's life.

Now Capt. Blake, he learned what it was like to face the open sea at the helm of his own command, the Island Sovereign.

Among his most memorable tows was a fleet of tankers which he successfully brought from Venezuela through the crippling force of a hurricane.

In 1957, after a three-month illness, he sailed as mate aboard the Sudbury I to pick up the floundering freighter Macedonia, 1,200 miles off the coast of Japan.

The 43-day trip through heavy seas made headlines the world over.

Hard work proves worthwhile for Capt. Roy Blake

Meanwhile, his employers were taking note of the skill with which he handled both ships and the men under him.

In 1960, after a two-year haul aboard Sudbury I, Capt. Blake was brought ashore and promoted to port captain of the company. In just 18 years, novice 'deckie' Blake had scaled the ladder.

But there was no letting up in pace when he swapped the confined space of a tug's deckhouse for his spacious, airy office.

His 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. working day is a myth as his trouble shooting takes him from Prince George to Oregon.

On more than one occasion he has been roused from bed in his comfortable Beach Drive home, not to see it again for 48 hours.

Few Regrets

Put it's all in a day's work for the balding, six-foot father of two.

Now 38, he has little cause to regret the time in his life he found it necessary to lie.

Former Aide Denies Physician's Claim

LONDON (Reuters) A former secretary to Sir Winston Churchill has denied a physician's claim that bad health strained the British wartime leader's relationship with United States President Roosevelt.

John Colville, assistant private secretary to Churchill in 1940-41 and again from 1943 to 1945, was commenting in a letter to The Times on statements made by Lord Moran, Churchill's doctor for 25 years, who sparked off a controversy by publishing his medical memoirs in a Sunday newspaper.

Colville said Lord Moran was seeking to justify himself by saying he "wishes to disarm criticism of Sir Winston's conduct of affairs during the last year of the war.

"He also maintains that physical and mental exhaustion brought about the deterioration of Sir Winston's relationship with President Roosevelt.

"Of course the prime minister was tired during the last year of the war. Who wasn't? But it was Roosevelt who was dying, not Churchill."

Ghana Asks U.S. Extradition of Ex-Ambassador

LONDON (Reuters)—Ghana's former ambassador to Britain, Kwesi Armah, was today ordered held in jail for a week, after a court appearance in an extradition case.

He was charged with irregularly receiving money and offering to let it influence his conduct in government business.

Armah, a former close associate of deposed Ghanaian president Kwame Nkrumah, was arrested Wednesday night on an extradition warrant. The charges were laid under Ghanaian laws dealing with corruption and extortion.

Prosperity Reduces Recruiting Success

OTTAWA (CP)—Civvy street competition will continue to force down the strength of the armed services, Defence Minister Hellyer conceded Wednesday.

"It will be necessary to reduce the number of people (in the services) and increase their emoluments," he told the Commons.

But in reply to a question by Marcel Lambert (PC—Edmonton West), Mr. Hellyer said it was "not a fair interpretation" to suggest the government was contemplating a 10-per-cent reduction in service strength.

There would be no cut as such, but rather a normal attrition. Many Second World War veterans were near retirement.

SUGGESTION BOX AWARDS

Four Vancouver Island servicemen won awards this month for their contributions to the department of national defence's suggestion award program.

They are: CPOs E. A. Ferguson and R. J. Bridges of Esquimalt; Roland Clare, 2181 Allenby of HMC Dockyard, and LAC J. G. G. Roy, 121 Communications unit, RCAF Comox.

Pegged Wages Recommended In Conciliation

A conciliation board report has recommended a pegged wage for non-teaching employees of the Greater Victoria School Board.

The award was accepted earlier this week by the 203 employees, mostly janitors and maintenance men.

Their wages are now pegged at 5 per cent lower than those received by a laborer working for an affiliated firm of the Victoria Building Industries Exchange.

A $7-a-month increase had been offered by the school board in place of the pegged-wage plan, which had been in effect for the past nine years.

Several points of grievance procedure were also decided in favor of the employees, and they were given extra holiday benefits for long service.

Conciliation board members were B. W. Dysart, chairman; lawyer Kenneth Murphy, school board nominee, and Dr. G. P. Mason, employees' nominee.

TO CHEAT BETTORS

Woman Admits Doping Dogs At Race Meets

LONDON (CP) — A 26-year-old Canadian woman says she fed drugged meat to racing dogs at both London and Ramsgate last year at the instigation of a man now charged with conspiring to cheat bettors on greyhound races.

Margaret Murray reiterated testimony she gave a week ago at the trial of four men and two women charged with the conspiracy. She came to England from Canada in 1962 and returned there last year, but was brought back to appear as a witness at the trial.

Her address in Canada, and the addresses of several other witnesses, were kept secret by the court.

Shortly after Miss Murray testified last week, Judge C. Aarvold ordered a retrial of the case and since then two of the witnesses have testified that they gave perjured evidence in exchange for money.

Miss Murray said Wednesday she met Peter George Hubbard, 31, and Ronald Maxwell, 42, at the beginning of 1965. At Hubbard's suggestion she got a job as a "kennel maid" — a woman working in the greyhound kennels at Walthamstow in north London, and doped some of the greyhounds, she said, for which she was paid about $360.

In June, 1965, she left to work as a kennel maid at Ramsgate. She was there during nine meetings and doped dogs at seven or eight of the meetings — at least two at each meeting and at most 15 dogs.

Hubbard told her which dogs to drug and she got the drugged meat from Hubbard or Peter Curtis, 29, another of the accused, Miss Murray said.

"I decided to leave because I was sick of what I was doing," she said.

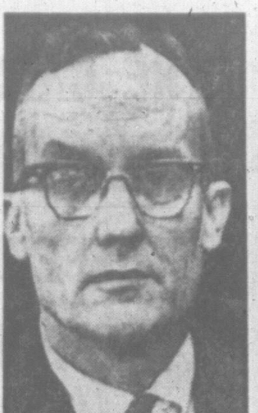
Press Talks Go To Conciliation

Contract negotiations between the Victoria Newspaper Guild, Local 223 of the American Newspaper Guild, and Victoria Press Ltd., have broken down after several weeks of talks.

The Guild has applied to the B.C. Department of Labour requesting the appointment of a conciliation officer.

'Ease Abortion Law'

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Some 350 U.S. birth control experts adopted a resolution Wednesday recommending liberalized abortion laws. The doctors, holding a convention here, suggested abortion be "medically indicated and therefore legal" if desired by the patient when the mother's life is impaired, when congenital defects are indicated and when pregnancy is the product of rape or incest.



RESIGNATION of Thomas C. Mann as under-secretary of state for economic affairs was announced "with regret" by the White House today in Washington, D.C. Mr. Mann was a controversial figure as assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs blamed for "hard line" U.S. policies in Latin America before his appointment as under-secretary a year ago. He has indicated he wants to write a book.

Teachers Meet At St. Ann's

The annual meeting of the Greater Victoria Catholic Teachers' Association will be held in the auditorium of St. Ann's Academy at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Rev. Remi J. De Roo, Bishop of Victoria, will address the meeting at 2:30 p.m. He has chosen for his topic one of the Documents of Vatican II, the Decree on Christian Education.

The executive of the association extends an invitation to prospective members, retired teachers and other persons interested in Christian education to attend.

49 Missing In Air Crash

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Search planes today sighted the wreckage of an airliner that disappeared Wednesday with 43 passengers and a crew of six in the rugged Andes mountains.

It was not known immediately whether there were any survivors.

Search planes located the smashed four-engine Constellation near Huampara, about 60 miles southeast of Lima.

The passengers included a Canadian woman, Mrs. Raya Pearlman, 27, of Ottawa.

The four - engined Lineas Aereas Nacionales (LANSA) Constellation disappeared on a 375-mile flight from Lima to Cuzco.

The Lima airport said the plane radioed a distress call 10 minutes after taking off, and police at Cuzco said they had a report it crashed at Coclococha, 170 miles south of Lima.

Mrs. Pearlman was associate secretary in charge of the South American program of the Canadian University Service Overseas.

She had represented CUSO at a seminar of International Peace Corps programs in Fortaleza, Brazil, April 18 to 22. At the invitation of the Peruvian government, she was travelling to Cuzco, Peru, to investigate requests for volunteers to serve in that area.

SUITS, CHARGES MULTIPLY

Some Days Are Like That

VANCOUVER (CP)—The legal tangle surrounding financier Arnold J. Swanson, 51, became more involved Wednesday:

Within hours Wednesday, he was:

—Charged with contributing to the delinquency of a 16-year-old girl by having sexual intercourse with her;

—Charged with threatening James Lloyd McKay Sturgeon, believed from California, in a telephone conversation Sunday;

—Prevented by a B.C. Supreme Court inunction from dealing in his mother-in-law's $2,500,000 estate.

—Sued, together with Oxford Investments Ltd., and his wife, Elizabeth Swanson, by West Coast Securities Ltd., which claimed brokerage and other service fees were owing them;

—Sued by Raymore Investments Ltd. for $50,000 it claims it loaned Swanson last December and was unable to collect.

Two days ago Swanson was charged with having illicit intercourse with two girls and with contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old.

That same day his wife, the former Margaret Leighton, a North Vancouver shipping heiress, sued him for divorce on grounds of adultery.

And his estate was put into receivership when Mrs. Swanson obtained a court order restraining him from transferring property acquired since their marriage.

Ten Jets Downed

TOKYO (AP)—Hanoi's official newspaper claimed today North Vietnamese pilots shot down 10 American jets and damaged many others in dogfights over North Viet Nam April 23, 24 and 26.

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Pontiac Laurentian Four-Door Sedan

A lot of our advertising appears in people's driveways.

Pontiac's beauty sells a lot of Pontiacs. Consider the arrogance of its split grille. The long, lean, sculpted body. That nimble-looking, distinctively-Pontiac stance. But we have a clever device for selling even more Pontiacs. We call it our Pontiac dealer. He's the man with all the answers. He can show you, for instance, exactly why it is that we're putting more of our Success Cars in people's driveways than ever before. He's a man you should make it a special point to meet. In a few brief moments he can tell you about Pontiac's lavish interiors with their host of standard equipment, luxury and safety features. He'll even demonstrate Pontiac's new brand of performance if you're feeling adventurous. But more important than anything else, he can give you an excellent deal on the Pontiac of your choice. And let you do some advertising for us.

FANTASIA OUTSHINES BAT-MOBILE

Holy Peacock Feathers!

By DON VIPOND

So you're tired of the old family buggy?

A few too many dints and rattles? Too slow away from the stop light?

Meet "Boots" Olson of Seattle, Wash. He must have been tired of his old car too because he's done something about it.

"Boots" calls his car, a Corvette, "Fantasia." It's different, no doubt about it.

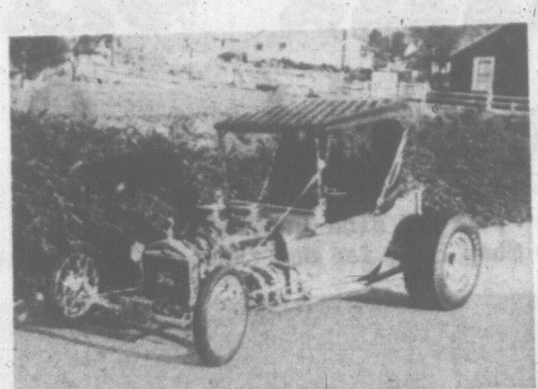
You've heard of optional extras? Well "Boots" has gone sort of wild. He's invested about $15,000 in Fantasia.

Like the TV and the stereo mounted in the dash. And the telephone.

Then there's the upholstry. Peacock feathers! No kidding. with a clear plastic.

The body of course is custom, completely reformed. Color? Metal flake peacock green, of course.

That metal flake business means hours of preparing the body, erasing every tiny flaw, then spraying with very fine metal chips, then countless coats of almost transparent lacquer, plus plenty of elbow grease for rubbing down. All in all, about $600 just for the paint job.



THIS 1915 MODEL T FORD roadster pickup, owned by Dick Knutson of Eugene, Ore., represents a $10,000 investment. Powered by a 1965 Chevrolet engine, it can do things Henry Ford never dreamed of half a century ago and will be one of the feature displays at Autorama 66.

Will it move, too?

Well, if you see it alongside you at the traffic light, just pretend you're making a turn. It'll reach 105 miles an hour in a quarter mile.

Any questions? Where is the TV aerial, you say? Why under the front fenders.

"Boots'" car is one of about 50 entries in Autorama 66, a display of custom cars, hot rods and dragsters, which will be on view at the Esquimalt Sports Centre Friday evening and Saturday.

The show is the ninth annual autorama organized by Victoria's Quarter Milers Club. Members will present $1,000 worth of trophies Saturday yight.

The cars will be coming from across B.C., Washington and Oregon.

Train Wreck, New Uprising Hit Assam

CALCUTTA, India (AP)—The third train wreck within a week in Naga tribal territory of Assam State and a new uprising by Mizo tribesmen against Indian government forces in southern Assam were reported Wednesday night.

A freight train in the Tinsukia-Mariani area went off the rails Wednesday. No casualties were reported. There was no indication of the cause.

Three trains have been blown up in the area within two months, with a death toll of 133.

A leader of the Naga independence movement denied Wednesday that his people are involved in train sabotage, as suspected by Indian officials.

To the south, Mizo rebels exchanged rifle fire for two hours with Indian forces near the town of Aijal Monday night, official Assam sources reported. There were no reported casualties and the rebels finally fled.

Arthur Mayse

On Wednesday I ate scarce enough to keep a middling large bird alive, and my appetite is still languid, all because of the annual Culinary Arts Ball which was held in the Curling Rink on Tuesday evening.

This feast, the twenty-first offered by Vancouver Island branch of the Canadian Restaurant Association, must be shared to be believed.

It is preceded by a viewing of tables in a double rank, set end to end and loaded with hams, noble beef barons, turkeys, spare ribs, mounds of shrimps, castles of prawns, baked salmon on monstrous platters, and desserts of incredible richness.

All these are adorned and embellished by artist-chefs who regard the Culinary Arts Ball as the year's most demanding challenge. As if this weren't enough, the talented student-cooks of B.C. Vocational School at Nanaimo sent down a truckload of the handsomest edibles this side of paradise and set them off with statuary done in beef tallow and ice.

Add leisured dancing, toss in the briefest of speeches by association branch president Bill West, and you have an evening worth starving for in advance and dieting off later.

The University of Victoria has released its three thousand, except for a few stragglers who still have exams to write, and the scramble for summer jobs is on again.

For the young men and women involved, it's a serious and sometimes a grim pursuit, made so in part by the fact that our work-seeking undergraduate population outnumbers the berths available.

A good many students have already returned to jobs they held last year, or gone out to new ones which may take them to fields far removed from campus and lecture hall.

Hotels and tourist lodges absorb some of the work-seekers. The woods, mines and various government departments take others.

For all, the object is to earn the fees and at least part of the swarming expenses of another bout with higher education. To fail in the search—and sometimes this happens—may mean a lost year.

Some are lucky enough to find their own jobs, but for many the chief hope of employment lies with the student placement office of the National Employment Service.

This office, which operates year-round, works to bring student and prospective employer together. With a small staff, it handles a big and complex task very well indeed.

Uvic students as a group are hard workers. They have to be if they are to survive even their first freshman year. They learn fast, and the employer who adds a student to his temporary staff can count on getting full value.

One evening when I was still wearing out my first pair of hip boots, I watched a burly angler fly-fish his way down a reach of an Island river.

He was in so deep that he appeared to be floating, but at closer range, I saw that the current lapped a fraction of an inch from the top of chest waders.

Presently he hooked a good trout, which he played and netted in a fashion that labelled him a master of his craft.

The deep wader was Major George Roger Monteith, proprietor of a Fort Street tackle shop known to fly fishermen near and far, and as fine a sportsman as this outdoors-minded coast has produced.

Roger Monteith died Tuesday in Veterans' Hospital at the age of 81. He had retired from his shop some years earlier, but his interest in shooting and fishing remained keen.

On a lake here and a stream there, from the Cowichan north to the Campbell and beyond, you will find anglers who remember him as wise counsellor and good companion.

Long-Time Resident Dies at 85

Funeral service will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday for E. E. (John) Goodwyn, 85, of 456 Moss Street, a long-time Victoria resident.

Born in Norfolk, Eng., he was a resident of Victoria since 1926.

He was an original member of the Glad Tidings Church and an honorary member of the Board of Deacons and treasurer of the church for 20 years.

During the First World War he served overseas with the Winnipeg Rifles.

Survivors include the widow, Fanny; two sons, Dick and Ray, both of Victoria and three grandchildren.

Rev. Eric Hornby and Rev. Percy Wills will officiate at the funeral with interment to follow in the Royal Oak Cemetery.

Toronto Firm Purchases Fox Theatre

Victoria's Fox Cinema on Quadra near Hillside has been sold to 20th Century Theatres Ltd. of Toronto, it was learned today.

The theatre was built by Bernard A. Nixon in 1948, and it has been operated by Mr. Nixon and his family ever since.

The Nixons came here from Lethbridge, Alta., in 1947.

Twentieth Century Theatre owns a number of movie houses in Canada.

For the past three years the Nixons have shown first-run feature films and many interesting foreign films at the Fox.

Load Shift Flips Truck

Truck driver Maurice Pelletier of 1350 Bay escaped injury Wednesday when his vehicle overturned at Hobbs and Sinclair as his load shifted.

Police said he was making a left turn at the time when four yards of peat soil moved causing the vehicle to flip.

Forged Travel Cheques Turn Up in District

Three $20 traveller's cheques lost in Vancouver April 16 turned up in Victoria Wednesday with forged signatures.

The cheques, countersigned under the name "Larry Hunter," were discovered as forgeries by Gonzales Pharmacy of 1845 Fairfield, Carlyle's Store, of 148 Superior, and Wilson's Low Cost of 401 Gorge Rd. E., police said.

The person cashing the cheques is described as in his early 20s, five feet, seven inches and 170 pounds.

Sixteen other cheques signed by Larry Hunter are not accounted for. They are drawn on a Vancouver bank.

Putrid Problem Posed by Lion

By BILL CHATTERTON

Problem — You have got the body of a huge sea lion lying on the beach in front of your home. It's over 10 feet long, probably weighs about 1,000 pounds and will be smelling out the neighborhood within a few days. What do you do with it?

This is the dilemma faced by some residents of Ardmore in North Saanich.

Four children found the carcass of the huge sea lion which is thought to have washed onto the beach during a recent storm.

The sea lion lost its head on Wednesday. Robert Pauwels, biology teacher at Belmont senior secondary school, cut it off in hopes he will be able to use the skull in his classes.

But the rest of the sea lion is still very much on the beach.

Mr. Parrott is vice-principal of Belmont and it was through him that Mr. Pauwels learned of the sea lion.

Mr. Pauwels has now got the head of the sea lion at home. He hopes to get some carrion beetles to remove the thick flesh, otherwise he will have to bury the head for a few years.

The Ardmore residents living near the beached sea lion will have to dispose of the rest of it soon but they are not quite sure how. They may try towing it back out into the waters of Saanich Inlet.

But putting a rope around the amphibian's smooth body won't be a simple matter.

Brock Parrott probes dead sea lion before it lost its head.

Assessment Talk At City Council 'Just Not True'

Intermunicipal harmony went by the board this morning as three angry district reeves answered criticism that their assessment departments operated inefficiently.

"Without any consultation with us to ascertain the true facts these gentlemen have levied serious criticism against our municipalities and our assessing staffs," the joint statement says.

"The facts are that the level of assessed values in each municipality is closely watched by the provincial assessment commissioner to ensure that it is in line with the required 50 per cent of market values as laid down by statute.

COMMISSIONER SATISFIED

"The assessment levels of all of our municipalities are satisfactory to the commissioner otherwise he would order them changed.

"The city officials seem to have ignored the fact that percentage increases in total assessments in each municipality in a given year over the previous year depend to a considerable extent on the amount of new construction completed in the municipality in that year and also on whether or not the level of assessments of the previous year was below the level acceptable to the commissioner."

The statement adds that even new buildings are not necessarily reflected in increased assessment values because many new buildings, such as schools and university buildings, are tax exempt and do not appear on the assessment roll.

The joint statement also takes sharp umbrage at recent city statements that Victoria is carrying part of the financial burden of other municipalities.

"Some of the elected and appointed officials of the city of Victoria have recently proven much too prone to claim the city is carrying part of the financial burden for the other municipalities.

'JUST NOT SO'

"This is just not so," the statement continues. "It is instances such as this which make it very difficult to maintain the high level of intermunicipal cooperation which we have enjoyed in the past several years."

The angry rebuttal by the reeves was brought about by comments passed at a meeting of city council in committee of the whole on Tuesday.

City comptroller James Bramley in his annual budget report had stated that the five per cent assessment increase ceiling imposed by the provincial government could work to the disadvantage of the city, "if the assessment programs in other municipalities are found to be lagging."

Mayor Toone commented that the efficiency of Victoria's assessment department appeared to be costing the city money.

City manager Dennis Young suggested the mayor re-phrase the comment to say that it was the inefficiency of other municipalities which was costing the city money.

NDP MEANS NOW DOING PAINTING

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan has reserved a section of the Duncan courthouse fence to vent his artistic talents.

Mr. Strachan (NDP—Cowichan Newcastle), who lives at Cedar, near Nanaimo, will probably start his painting when he arrives in Duncan May 5 to open the Crofton Art Group show.

Mrs. Strachan said he has been doing charcoal sketches for a number of years recently, and when he was a child his father wanted him to be a cartoonist.

Two Injured Reported Fair

Two persons injured in recent serious traffic accidents are reported in fair condition in hospital.

Robert Hodge, 36, of 2525 Scott St., is in St. Joseph's Hospital suffering from head and neck injuries.

He was rushed to hospital Friday when his bread van was in collision with a fire truck on an emergency run at Fort and Douglas.

Five-year-old Gary Fenwick of 5165 Cordova Bay Road, is suffering jaw, skull and leg fractures in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

He was in collision with a three-ton cement truck two weeks ago in front of his home.

City Hall Picketing Resumed

Protest pickets appeared at city hall shortly after noon today to further their bid to persuade the city it is morally responsible for $35,000 owing sub-contractors for work on Centennial Square.

Michael Peddlesden, one of the sub-contractors owed $12,000 for masonry work on the Square following the business failure of the main beautification contractor, said the pickets would remain until city council met later in the day.

City solicitor T. P. O'Grady said he had received no instructions from the mayor to take action against the picketers.

Mr. Peddlesden was scheduled to appear before council this afternoon to state his case personally.

Today's protest is the second made by picketers this month.

The first placard bearers were employees of Peddlesden and Melbye. Today the ranks were swelled by representatives of other firms who lost money when Coniston Construction was declared bankrupt.

Magistrate Gives Two Vagrants Board and Cell

Two persons were sentenced to a month in jail in central court today for vagrancy.

Dale Shaben, 18, of Calgary, was picked up last week by police on lower Yates Street in the company of six known criminals.

"I don't know whether you recognize it, but you are headed for trouble," said Magistrate William Ostler to the youth.

William Dalton Davis, no fixed address, was caught by police Wednesday night begging in front of the Government Street liquor store.

Court was told he was intoxicated at the time.

Benefits Depend Upon Assessment

By JIM HUME

Victoria city council finished a two-day budget slashing marathon Wednesday with the announcement that taxes for the average home owner will be reduced by three dollars.

Comptroller James Bramley said the general reduction would apply to all home owners whose assessments remained unchanged last year.

He stressed that if assessments on a home had increased during the year the tax bill would reflect the increase.

"But the home owner whose assessment remained unchanged in 1965 will get a tax bill between three and four dollars lower than last year," Mr. Bramley said.

City assessor Alfred Joyce said a $20,000 market value home would have a tax bill $3.20 lower than last year. A $15,000 home $2.40 lower and a $10,000 home would earn a $1.60 reduction.

Along with the news came a dash of bitters for tradesmen and contractors.

Permits, fees and licenses will take an upward jump before the year is over.

Members of the city's treasury staff worked late into the night Wednesday trying to find ways of increasing the estimated city income of $14,223,354.

FEE INCREASE

Their answer — increase fee, licence and permit prices — was to be ratified by council this afternoon.

Mr. Bramley said he couldn't say how much the prices would jump but confirmed that general increases would probably be in effect before the end of the year.

The announcements followed the two-day hacking session which saw estimated expenditures reduced by $179,051 and the mill rate held at 62.5.

The general and debt mill rate will be reduced slightly from 40.9 to 39.3 while the school mill rate remains the same at 23.2.

In their final run at the budget Wednesday afternoon council members wielded a sharp axe.

Planned road improvement projects, parks and comfort stations all fell by the wayside as aldermen launched their last assault to hold the line.

Jutland Rd., Burnside Rd., and Finlayson St. will have to wait for another year before they get improvements originally scheduled to be carried out this year.

The delay saved the city $45,800 earmarked for the project.

A $15,000 item designed to get work started on a playing field at Oaklands Park was also shunted to the sidelines.

So was $4,000 designated to get work started on a rest room for the Cameron Memorial Pavilion in Beacon Hill Park.

Ald. Robert Baird fought staunchly to keep the $4,000 — half of the estimated total cost of $8,000 — in the budget.

"Victoria lags behind the times in these things," he said. "It's a disgrace that visiting band members have to trek across the lawns to the central rest room."

He almost won his point.

Four aldermen voted in favor of getting the job started, four voted for delaying the work for at least a year. Mayor A. W. Toone cast the deciding vote.

GRANT WARNING

Aldermen also sounded warning that this may be the last year council proves so generous towards those seeking grants.

Though grants totalling $176,225 were approved by council Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow asked that the Maritime Museum and Bastion Theatre Studio be informed that the city's largesse would not continue indefinitely.

Bastion Theatre will receive $9,620 from the city and the museum $5,000.

"I think it's time we informed these people that we expect them to stand on their own feet," Ald. Edgelow said. "When we start to give grants to pay wages we are heading for trouble. They should be made to realize that these grants will not just keep on coming."

Home-Made Bomb Blast Injures Boy

A youth who was making a do-it-yourself bomb is in good condition in hospital today after his experiment backfired Tuesday night.

Robert Flett, 14, of 252 Superior is recovering in St. Joseph's Hospital from cuts to his face, arms and body.

Police said the boy was making the bomb on the lawn of a neighbor where he was baby-sitting.

He mixed drain cleaner in water, put the contents in a capped bottle which exploded in his face.

Woman Guilty Of Driving Dangerously

A Milnes Landing woman involved in an accident in which a seven-year-old Metchosin girl was killed was convicted today in magistrate's court on a charge of dangerous driving.

Florence Stolth, 49, driver of the pick-up truck which collided with Betty Ann Walker, 3957 Happy Valley Road, Feb. 14, was remanded to May 16 for a pre-sentence report.

The accident occurred shortly after school was let out for the day on a straight stretch of road in front of the child's home just after she had alighted from a school bus.

Mrs. Stolth's truck was heading towards Victoria in the opposite direction to the westbound bus.

Ruling on a defence contention that the flashing lights of the school bus were not in operation, Magistrate J. A. Byers said he was satisfied with bus driver George Cottyn's evidence that he had looked down at his flashing light indicator just after the girl was hit and had seen that it was on.

SPEED LIMIT

He also ruled against a defence motion that the speed limit on Happy Valley Road was 40, not 30 miles an hour.

Mrs. Stolth had admitted driving over 30 miles an hour.

Summing up, the magistrate said, "on a small country road she was, I think, driving dangerously."

Cars of Yesteryear To Converge on City

The British Columbia Centennial Committee's vintage car run, a nostalgic gasoline-age project of the 1966 Centennial year, is ready to roll July 2.

Overnight and daytime stops have been approved after a series of dry runs over a looping course from New Westminster, through the Interior, to Vancouver Island ending at Victoria.

At 21 communities, citizens plan to welcome the motorists for lunch and overnight stops. Parades, picnics, dances and a vintage car ball are planned. Thousands along the route will see the entrants.

Owners of more than 40 piston-pulsing vintage cars, none younger than 1936 and most much older, have applied to take part in the run. Thirty will be accepted, after a meticulous check-up by Frank Appelbe of Vancouver, co-ordinator of the run, or by an authorized vintage car adviser to the provincial centennial committee.

FINAL SURVEY

Mr. Appelbe completed the final survey of the course last week. Here is the run 30 representatives of automotive yesteryears will undertake:

July 2 — leave New Westminster 10 a.m. Lunch at Mission, overnight Hope. July 3 — lunch Princeton, overnight Penticton. July 4 — lunch Summerland, overnight Kelowna. July 5 — lunch Vernon, overnight Kamloops. July 6 — lunch North Kamloops, overnight Cache Creek. July 7 — lunch Boston Bar, overnight Chilliwack. July 8 — lunch Langley, overnight North Vancouver. July 9 — lunch Duncan, arrive Victoria approximately 5:30 p.m. to complete run.

Her retirement from teaching has opened a new avenue of interest for Miss Gladys Ledingham. Instead of reading stories for her pupils, she writes them to her great-nieces and nephews who are living in South Africa with their parents, Mr. S. A. Murphy, former reeve of Saanich, and Mrs. Murphy.

TEACHER USED FICTION . . . . . . TO GIVE LESSON IN LIFE

MONGOOSE BECOMES GUIDE TO LEARNING

By DINA STEWART

A mongoose named Rikki-Tikki-Tavi doesn't sound much of an educator.

But the fictional little cobra-killer of Rudyard Kipling's "Jungle Books" and many others like him played an important role in the professional and private life of Miss Gladys Ledingham.

The retired elementary school teacher is a philosopher at heart and it is her firm belief that "literature makes a person." In explanation, Miss Ledingham continues, "We are what we think and many of our ideas and ideals come from the books we read.

"Kipling endowed his mongoose with the human, humorous and the finer qualities of the child—through a child's reading of the story, he gains a lesson in behaviour and in life.

"Through an author's books, we can know how he thinks, his reasoning, and therefore, know him. A child could go up to Kipling on the street and say 'Hello,' if he knew him personally, but it wouldn't be enough, for he'd only be acquainted with the author for as long as the latter lived.

"But to know how that author thinks, through his books, is for the child to know the author for as long as the reader lives!"

Books and literature are two of the main loves of this native Victorian. "When I went to a school to teach, if there wasn't a library when I arrived, there certainly was when I left!"

One of her keys to success in the teaching profession was "holding a child's interest," and her love and use of literature proved to be a vital assistant. "I knew that if I could hold his interest, there would be no discipline problem, and I often used stories, good stories from books such as the Jungle Books to maintain this interest."

She gives an example of how the system worked: "I was substituting at one of the junior high schools one day and determined to hold their interest, I began to read. A couple of the boys in the class, big six-footers, were quite determined not to pay attention and were fidgetting with pencils and paper down at the back of the room. I continued to read, and their fooling became more and more spasmodic until finally, they found they couldn't stop from listening!"

Last year, Miss Ledingham retired from the Parent-Teacher Association Council, to which she had belonged since its inception in British Columbia. She was one of the founders of the organization.

She recalls: "When I was teaching at Craigflower School, the principal at that time Margaret Johnson—asked me if I could dismiss my class early and entertain a visitor who had something to discuss with her, a Mrs. Lorimer. Miss Johnson was unable to let her class go at that time.

"So Mrs. Lorimer and I were chatting on the school steps when Miss Johnson arrived and between the three of us, we ended up hatching the plans for the first PTA in the province, and maybe the first in Canada."

Through the council, Miss Ledingham was instrumental in instituting a program in the schools to improve the reading habits of children, the leisure reading program. It was originally handled by the PTA but proved such a success that the school board has now taken over its administration in the schools.

Miss Ledingham explains one of the main factors for beginning of the program. "About 15 or 16 years ago, a large number of crime comic books began to be published in the United States. They were terrible and the PTA and Davy Fulton undertook a campaign to have these books banned in Canada. It was successful."

But much of the damage had been done. Recalls Miss Ledingham, "I one day asked my class who read one of the crime books every week. They just chuckled. When I asked who read two a week, they laughed. Finally, one boy put up his hand and said 'Why don't you ask us how many we read a day?'

"We needed something to fill the gap and so we devised the leisure reading program. This is where cards are sent out to schools and the children enter the books they have read during the term—those who have read a certain number receive certificates at the end of the year. Recently, we sent out 10,000 cards and 8,000 children received certificates in Victoria schools."

Her work in starting and working with the program and her interest in education and literature were reasons why the PTA council last month honored Miss Ledingham by offering a bursary in her name.

It is the "Gladys Ledingham PTA Bursary" to assist a student entering a school or library. It was kept such a secret from her that Miss Ledingham almost didn't show up to receive the honor! "I had a houseguest at the time and, naturally was reticent about leaving her. But I'm glad I did!"

Eric Martin To Open Show

The curtain will "ring up" at 8:30 p.m., this Saturday, when the Victoria Branch, Canadian Mental Health Association presents "Bits and Pieces" in the McPherson Playhouse. The "bits and pieces" are from Jerry Gosley's "Smile Show."

The concert is a membership drive for the association and tickets entitle the bearer to become a member. The affair will also mark the opening of Mental Health week. Officiating at the opening will be Hon. Eric Martin, provincial minister of health.

On display during the evening will be handicrafts and arts from the members of the White Cross Centre of the Victoria Branch.

GIVEN HONOR

By unaminous vote, members of the Women's Canadian Club made Mrs. W. G. Wilson an honorary member at the close of the luncheon meeting, held in the Empress Hotel ballroom, Monday. A past president, Mrs. Wilson headed the group from 1931 to 1933. She becomes the 10th honorary member of the organization.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Lowman

Yesterday I promised to bring you some of Joyce Lee's wonderful facial exercises. According to Miss Lee, "Age is no deterrent to exercising your face back into more youthful proportions. I have four clients who are over 75. One started at 79 and in a little over a year she looked more like 55." Many of Joyce Lee's clients are sent to her by plastic surgeons and dermatologists.

You should never do facial exercises without a well-creamed face. You cannot create a wrinkle on creamed skin. Miss Lee also likes for her students to put cellophane tape across the forehead (gently, without stretching the skin) to act as resistance and to prevent lines from forming.

For hollows in the centre of the cheeks — cream the face thickly. With a soft eyebrow pencil draw a line around the hollows. With the palms upward insert both thumbs in the mouth so that the balls of the thumbs are pressing on the inside flesh of the marked areas. Push the flesh out into a resistance position. Draw the muscles of your cheeks inward against the resistance of your thumbs in slow small movements counting from one to 10, one movement to each count. Use as much inward force as you can against your thumbs. Don't use the corners of your mouth or lips to help and don't move your thumbs. Release muscles slowly counting from 10 to one.

For a thin upper lip: Cream the upper lip very thickly. With elbows unsupported put the first joint of both index and middle fingers under the lip. With the fingertips, slowly bring the lip outward and upward, curling it back toward the tip of the nose. Move the upper lip muscles down hard against the four fingertips. Resist with the fingertips. Try to force the fingertips down in 10 small definite movements. Release lip muscles in 10 small movements, fingers relaxed. Repeat three times in succession, once daily, six days a week.

For a thin lower lip: This requires much the same sort of exercise, with the fingers inside the mouth rolling the lower lip out and down. Then with the fingers resisting, try to roll the lip back to normal position.

For a double chin: If you are just beginning a double chin your tongue can help you erase it. Lower jaw slightly and rest the tip of your tongue in a relaxed manner against your lower lip. Point your tongue without bringing it beyond the lip, and then relax it. Repeat five times in succession several times a day.

Another: Keep the mouth closed but the teeth slightly apart. Press the tip of the tongue against the gums of the upper teeth in one to 10 count, as firm as you can on 10. Relax in reverse.

Theme of the three-day session was "No Man Is an Island," emphasizing the international aspect of guiding in Canada and abroad. International commissioner for the province, Mrs. Alex Hunter, North Vancouver, was chairman.

The first evening, a parade of international flags, dances and songs was presented and adult leaders, guides and rangers told of experiences at international events during the year.

The following day, the increased teamwork necessary by the guider, commissioner and local association to assist the girls and leaders going to national and international camps was discussed.

It was reported that 168 guides and rangers in the province would be going to the national Heritage Camp in Ontario next year, marking Canada's centenary. The revised program to teach girls from the brownie to ranger level to become aware of people and countries throughout the world was also discussed.

Annual departmental reports were given on the final day of the meeting. Provincial commissioner Mrs. J. S. Kendrick, West Vancouver, noted that present membership was 33,496, an increase of 3,000 over the previous year and the largest increase recorded in the province.

Concluding the conference was a banquet. Provincial woodcraft advisor, Mrs. Don Munday, North Vancouver, presented awards, assisted by Mrs. Kendrick. Deputy chief commissioner of Canada, Mrs. A. F. Wilks, Vancouver, spoke on the two world conferences she had attended in Greece and Denmark as a Canadian delegate.

Novel Cribbage Board Ideal for Cardsharp

By Penny Saver

My neighbor is a full-fledged cribbage "nut" and she will do almost anything to persuade you to have a game with her. She told me of one experience she had last summer when she and her family were vacationing at an inland lake. There was another family there that had the same sentimentalities about cribbage as she does. One evening, by the light of a gas lamp, she sat and played the game for five solid hours. Her opponent was far superior and my neighbor was "skunked" every game.

In one shop, I found a little item that ought to thrill my neighbor. It's a tiny cribbage board attached to a key chain. It isn't just a decoration, as it comes complete with four pegs and is large enough that it could be used. One complete circuit around this board yields 30 points, so it would take four rounds to complete a game. This little gem, which is about one inch by two inches, sells for 95 cents. It is enclosed in a leather case too.

Another cribbage fan's dream is a wee board the same size as the above, with a deck of tiny cards. The cards and the board are in a wallet-size pouch, so that it can be fitted in a pocket or purse. This complete set is priced at $2.25.

These are ideal for compulsive cribbage fans, for whenever they find a prospective opponent, anytime or anywhere, cards and board are on hand. Pick one up as a gift item.

For the person who prefers standard sized cards, yet a convenient pocket-sized board, another set containing just these things sells for $2.50. The set is in a leather case just the size of the cards. It contains two boards of 15 points down the side, so if these are placed end to end, you have the conventional board. These are great novelty items for the cardsharp in your house.

There is only one thing that these compact boards lack, and that is the little score section. A few ticks on a piece of paper will solve that problem.

Thinking of pencils, I jumped when I saw a tall vase full of little black things on the ends of pencils. The grotesque things are soft plastic replicas of shrunken heads, with long, stringy hair. They're fantastically horrible, and made for putting on pencil heads. Price is just 45 cents.

This shop is full of surprises. If you want to know where Penny found these, give her a call at 382-3131.

DEAR ABBY . . .

'See That Guy?— He's My Husband'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a waitress with a small problem. I am not married, but am not interested in dating because I have a boy friend overseas I'm trying to be true to. Well, you know how some men are. Some of them just won't take no for an answer. I don't like to get nasty about it, but it's pretty hard to turn them down without telling them off. Besides, it's rough on a girl's tips when she has to put a guy in his place. Any suggestions?

SAVING MYSELF

DEAR SAVING: Just point out the huskiest bartender in the place and tell the wolves that HE'S your husband.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is to be married soon. It will be a large wedding in a fairly large church. Here is the problem: We really have no family. I was an only child. My mother was an orphan. My husband is from a distant part of the country from a poor family. What is left of his family cannot attend the wedding. We do not have many friends and our side of the church will look very empty.

We are terribly embarrassed as there will be only a handful on our side and the bride's family and friends will number nearly 200. We're red-faced and sick about it, and fear we will be laughed at. I don't know what you can do, but thought I'd try for an answer. Thank you.

RED-FACED

DEAR RED-FACED: You have no reason to be embarrassed. Your family is small and you are not the type of people to invite casual acquaintances to your son's wedding, for which you are to be commended. Since the bride's people are paying for it, I am willing to bet you will not be laughed at.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago my sister gave us a washing machine that had been given to her by a neighbor. The neighbor got a new one as the old one needed too much work. Well, this washing machine has been out on our patio for over two years. My husband looked at it and decided it needed more work that he could give it right now. Rather than let it stand, I put it up for sale. (I asked $35.) When my sister heard about it she flew over here and raised the roof. She said SHE could have sold it, and she wanted it back. I told her I was sorry about the whole thing, but I didn't think I had done anything wrong. She wasn't out a dime on the deal. So what's her beef?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Technically your sister has no grounds for complaint. She GAVE you the machine, therefore it's yours to use, sell, give away or throw away. (Her "beef" isn't kosher.)

DEAR ABBY: Someone should tell Mary C. that New England housewives certainly DO hang their clothes outside in freezing weather. I often have to shovel a path to my clothesline, and the clothes are frozen stiff as boards before I even get the second pin in them.

GOODBYE CHARLIE

Hello Fashion

Mr. and Mrs. Lyall L. Wedman of Vancouver, formerly of Victoria, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Sharron Irene, to Mr. John Wesley Harrison, son of Rev. and Mrs. Barnet T. Harrison of Sidney. The wedding will take place on Saturday, May 14, at 2 p.m. in Central Baptist Church, with Rev. Robert D. Holmes officiating. (Meyers Studio.)

BRIDAL GOWN OF VELVET

White velvet formed the street-length gown worn by Catherine (Candy) Anne Southern when she became the bride, recently, of Robert Lennard Peden in St. Martin's-in-the-Fields Church.

The gown was styled on empire lines with the bodice featuring a square neckline and sleeves to the wrist. The skirt was slightly gathered. Her short veil misted from a self-fabric pill box headpiece, which was centred with a tiny bow and trimmed with pearls. Only jewelry was the groom's gift of a gold watch. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses, white carnations and white ribbon.

SPRING FLOWERS

Daffodils and Easter lilies decorated the church when Rev. B. Cowan heard marriage vows exchanged between the daughter of Charles Southern, 908 Sioux Place, and the late Mrs. Southern, and the son of Mrs. D. Peden, 2845 Rockwell Avenue, and the late B. C. Peden. Mr. Southern gave his daughter in marriage.

Matching street-length gowns of majesta peau de sole, accented with floral headpieces edged with tulle, and bouquets of white carnations and red roses, were worn by the bride's attendants. They were matron of honor Mrs. C. M. Southern and bridesmaids, the Misses Wendy Fysh and Velva Bate.

John Gardner was best man. Ushering the guests to their pews were the bride's brother, Murray Southern and the groom's cousin, Robert Starck.

Jack Southern proposed the toast to his niece at the reception following in Holyrood House. The three-tier wedding cake which centred the head table was topped by miniature figures of a bride and groom and flanked by arrangements of red roses.

The couple will make their home at 1338 Esquimalt Road, following a honeymoon trip to the United States. For travelling, the new Mrs. Peden chose a pink coat, complemented with white accessories. White carnations and pink rosebuds formed her corsage.

PECULIAR PETUNIAS with a perennial problem are at the home of Mary Moonen, 1284 Union Street. Mrs. Moonen says she planted the annuals in the spring of 1965 and this is their third blooming. Times garden expert Jack Beastall says certain types of petunias, snapdragons and wallflowers will act as perennials if they are kept in a warm place.

HOME GARDEN

Daphne Provides Fragrance

By HILDA BEASTALL

At the mention of daphne, every gardener thinks first of fragrance and then of the flowers, and indeed daphnes are near the top of any fragrant list.

Hilda

Fortunate we are to be able to grow about half a dozen different kinds of daphne, all of shrub-like habit, here on the southern end of Vancouver Island.

Starting in February we can enjoy the sight and smell of daphne mezereum, with its pinkish-purple flowers on bare stems.

There is a white form, alba. Both are smallish shrubs only rarely exceeding three feet in height.

Also in winter, the evergreen D. laureola produces hundreds of greenish blossoms hanging underneath an umbrella-like canopy of thick green leaves. The plants are usually a group of single stems from the ground, and only about 15 to 18 inches tall. Although listed as fragrant, I have never yet detected any scent.

Next to flower, in late March if the weather is mild, is the deliciously scented D. odora. Some splendidly branched shrubs of this species were in bloom at a local shopping plaza and were well worth the visit.

Flowers are a pale mauvish-purple in clusters at the end of every branch of the 20-inch shrubs, and attractive because of the rich citrus-like perfume.

Very early in spring, the next daphne made its presence known, this one with pure white blossoms, so richly scented that the plant just begged to be found. This was D. blagayana, one for a rocky mound, for it is of low creeping habit, needing to have stones placed over its woody little stems for protection from hot sun.

The highlight among daphnes is probably D. cneorum (pronounced nee-orum), now profusely blooming on rocky ledges, filling the air with scent from richly pink blooms which smother its twiggy stems.

In bud to bloom during the next two or three weeks, is D. burkwoodi variety "Somerset," a four-foot deciduous shrub, bearing its delicately pale pink blooms at the end of stiff branches, It is no less fragrant than the others.

One which is yet to flower for us is D. retusa, said to be one of the best of the genus, having purple buds opening to starry white flowers of delicious fragrance.

All daphnes require a sunny site with good drainage and are then not too particular as to soil. D. retusa is the only one which seems to do better in a gravelly, peaty soil.

FIRE, WATER, CARS MAIN CHILD KILLERS

Sunday is Child Safety Day throughout B.C. by provincial government proclamation.

But it can only be successful by parental co-operation.

Last year, 161 tots died accidentally in B.C. without ever having had the chance to celebrate their 10th birthdays.

Most were killed by fire, drowning or traffic collision but some died through poisoning, untended machinery and other accidents.

A total of 9,326 youngsters under the age of 15 were hospitalized during 1965 — one-quarter of all the accident cases admitted to B.C. hospitals.

The B.C. Safety Council sponsors Child Safety Council hope that parents will check such things as loose matches, cleaning fluids, pesticides, gasoline, moth balls or drugs lying around the home and put them out of reach of children.

Contractors are urged to see that excavations are drained and machinery rendered inoperable when workmen are away from construction sites.

All motorists should ensure no children are near when starting a car, as well as excercising caution on the road. And parents should provide bright-colored rainwear for their children.

Grandparents should think about the safety of toy gifts, avoiding those with sharp edges or other dangerous characteristics.

Most of all, parents should spend some time with their children teaching safety habits at home, on the street, near or in water and on the playground.

"It would be a tragedy if we, as adults, fail to educate our youngsters to safety," a B.C. Safety Council release points out.

Courthouse Swap Gets Final Okay

Technical complications in a property swap involving the old Bastion Square courthouse finally were cleared up Tuesday.

A provincial cabinet order gave formal authorization to the deal made more than two years ago between the government and Victoria city when it needed a temporary city hall during rehabilitation of the present quarters.

Under the arrangement, the province gave the vacant courthouse—now housing the Maritime Museum—to the city in return for $5,000 in cash and three properties evaluated at $110,000.

The properties include:

The Topaz underground vaults on the grounds of the S. J. Willis Junior High School used by the province for records storage for years but legally owned by the city;

The James Bay firehall site—but only when it is no longer used by the city as a firehall;

And the North Park School property which legally belongs to the city but will be turned over by the province to the Greater Victoria school board.

An official involved in the negotiations said the delay was caused by difficulties in sorting out a mixup found in the old survey and title of the courthouse property.

Court Charges Delay Settlement

MONTREAL (CP)—The province's 2,300 government - employed striking teachers voted early today to accept a labor contract but will remain on strike.

At separate meetings in major centres throughout the province the teachers decided to continue their walkout pending withdrawal of charges against members of their executive for ignoring an interim inunction ordering the teachers back to work.

Premier Jean Lesage said Wednesday the government is not in a position to withdraw the charges because the matter is now before the courts and will have to be settled there.

The members of the executive are liable to a maximum penalty of a $2,000 fine and 60 days in jail each if convicted.

The teachers, members of Le Syndicat des Professeurs de l'Etat du Quebec, struck April 12.

The union, an affiliate of the Quebec-based Confederation of National Trade Unions, represents 2,600 teachers, 300 of whom remained at work during the contract dispute, while 30,000 students have been idled by the walkout.

First Halibut Catch

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Clipper, first halibut boat of the season to land her catch here, got a record opening price for her nearly 90,000 pounds of fish from the Bering Sea. The Clipper sold her catch Wednesday to Canadian Fishing Co., receiving 39½ cents a pound for 86,000 pounds of medium; 39 cents a pound for 1,000 pounds of large, and 25 cents a pound for 1,000 pounds of chicken.

ANTI-COMMUNIST WORDING REMAINS

WINNIPEG (CP) — A bid to delete the anti-Communist wording from the oath required of Canadian Labor Congress officers was defeated Wednesday at the CLC Convention.

The proposal from the B.C. Federation of Labor would have struck from the oath a disavowal of "any group which expounds or promotes or encourages any doctrine or philosophy contrary to or subversive of the fundamental principles and institutions of the democratic form of government."

Pat O'Neal of Vancouver said a clause of the constitution to unseat any officer contravening the oath is completely unworkable and had never been enforced.

"Who is to say who is subversive and who isn't?" he asked.

Bert Gordon, a Sudbury steelworker, said the Communist menace is still alive.

"We've got to keep the Commies out," he declared, touching off cheers and applause.

The vote on the B.C. proposal was overwhelming in favor of rejection.

Two-Year Self-Study Voted for Union Body

By BEN WARD

WINNIPEG (CP) — Demands by Quebec labor leaders for "associate state" status within the Canadian Labor Congress appeared to be put aside Wednesday after the CLC convention voted to establish a special inquiry into its own structure.

Labor leaders fearful of a blowup over bilingualism and biculturalism said they were confident the crisis had passed.

A host of constitutional proposals were swept off the convention floor by unanimous agreement and referred to the inquiry commission which is to report to the 1968 convention in Montreal.

One resolution that might have sparked a French-English feud was voted down without a single speaker. It called for automatic guarantees of a French-speaking member of the executive council.

That left only one potentially explosive topic on the agenda, the application of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada to rejoin the 1,286,000-member labor body.

The SIU issue was due to hit the floor today, most likely with a compromise resolution indirectly empowering the 21-member executive council to make the final decision.

PAMPHLETS ATTACK SIU

During the week four separate pamphlets attacking the SIU as unfit for congress membership have been distributed at the convention by members of the rival Canadian Maritime Union. Anti - SIU forces have vowed to fight any proposal that does not involve a flat rejection of the Seafarers.

SIU President Leonard (Red) McLaughlin has been in the city since Saturday and says he is confident his 8,500 members will be taken back into the labor body. He has not attended the convention itself.

One of the decisions reached at Wednesday's session was to hold future conventions in May. A six - inch snowstorm struck Winnipeg in the morning, snarling traffic and delaying the opening of the day's proceedings.

The setting up of the inquiry commission, an executive proposal, found wide favor among the 1,600 delegates. One of its aims would be to reduce the number of unions in Canada, now at a record 162.

President Claude Jodoin said the executive council will decide later on the membership of the commission and its working arrangements.

Delegates said they hoped it would produce a major overhaul of the organization in 1968.

Stray Bullet Fatal

BARRIE, Ont. (CP) — Kenneth Grenier, 5, died Sunday after being hit in the chest by an apparently stray bullet while playing outside his home near Mt. St. Louis, 15 miles north of here. Police said a hunter may have shot the boy accidentally. There was no indication who fired the gun.

CLC to Lobby U.S. Union Leaders

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Labor Congress convention decided Wednesday to put pressure on American unions that do not allow their Canadian locals to take part in the CLC's political action.

A resolution was passed to have the CLC executive hold discussions on the matter with their American counterparts in the AFL-CIO.

The AFL-CIO would be asked to persuade its affiliated unions to remove barriers against political activity contained in their constitutions.

Currently about 220,000 Canadian union members are in locals affiliated with the New Democratic Party, paying five cents each a month. Unions in the CLC have 1,286,000 members.

Another resolution calling on all unions to back the NDP won unanimous support.

Mrs. Olive Smith of Vancouver said those who do not pay NDP dues are "freeloading" on the advantages gained by NDP pressures.

H. F. (Lofv) MacMillan of Saint John, N.B., a public employees union delegate, said many union locals "hide behind their constitutions" to avoid election activity on behalf of the NDP.

Another round of political speeches came when the convention adopted resolutions criticizing the Saskatchewan government and Liberal Premier Ross Thatcher. Both dealt with alleged anti-labor actions in the government.

"The name of Thatcher should not be mentioned on the floor of this convention except in a derogatory manner," said Dick Henhan of Edmonton, a railway worker.

On social security matters, the delegates called for increased benefits in the Canada Pension Plan, criticized the integration of the government plan with private pension plans and urged a campaign to make all private pensions subject to negotiation at the bargaining table.

Quick Draw Death

PAWNEE, Ill. (AP)—Ronald Kayser, 26, was shot to death Wednesday in what authorities said was a "quick draw" pistol match between friends. Kayser's friend, Delbert Johnson, 26, was charged with involuntary manslaughter and released on $7,500 bond.

Mafia Tentacles At Expo Gates

MONTREAL (CP) — The leader of a province-wide business group says Montreal is "a Wall street for criminals," and the tentacles of the Mafia are at the gates of Expo 67.

Jacques Le Blanc, president of the 3,000-member Federation of Quebec Businessmen's Associations, said Wednesday in an interview that "1967 will be a bonanza year for organized crime in this city."

"A special police corps must be set up immediately in the province of Quebec to clean up the situation this year. Next year will be too late."

CLEAN UP CRIME

But Jean - Paul Gilbert, director of the Montreal municipal police force said Wednesday the situation is not alarming and will not become so.

Mr. Le Blanc said Justice Minister Claude Wagner should be given "carte blanche" to clean up crime and should be looked upon as, and given the powers of a J. Edgar Hoover, longtime FBI chief.

"Montreal is the nerve - centre of organized crime in Canada," he said. "Its international airport, seaport and the fact that it is a general entry point to Canada make it a gold-mine for gangsters."

PROTECTION RACKET

He said his association represents small and medium-size businesses and that the protection racket, now flourishing, will boom in 1967.

"We know the prostitution racket will expand as well as gambling and sales of liquor, but as small businessmen, it is the growth of the protection racket we fear most of all.

"At the moment the hands of the police are tied. It is difficult to prove that you have been threatened and today's operators are smart. They send a 200-pound thug to pound his fist on your desk and threaten your life but he carries no gun.

"Then they arrange for 10 or 12 holdups at your place until the insurance companies will no longer protect you. After that you have little choice.

"Last week I saw a 55-year-old businessman crying like a baby because of the repeated menaces of the protection racketeers. They just scare the guts out of people."

"Politics, of course, play a large part in this," he said. "If our governments really wanted to clean up crime they could do it in 24 hours. All we need is realistic law - making and emergency police powers and the might of the Mafia and crime syndicates could be broken forever in Canada."

Death Threat Cited in Court Case

VANCOUVER (CP)—William Randall of Vancouver, president of the Ascot Jockey Club, read to an assize court jury Wednesday a letter he said he received threatening him with death unless he paid $10,000.

Randall read the letter while testifying in the trial of Albert Hartley, 54, charged with attempting to extort the money from Mr. Randall between Jan. 9-17, 1964.

The letter was signed "The Avenger" and advised Mr. Randall to "obey and live or disregard and die."

It began: "Randall—read this carefully and obey it to the letter—it means your life."

"During 1962 and 1963 my brother last $10,000 at Exhibition Park at your raectrack.

"He committed suicide last November and left his wife and four children destitute. They are now back East on welfare. You are going to give me $10,000 to give them or I will put a bullet in your head some time during this month of January."

The letter warned Mr. Randall not to contact police because they couldn't protect him.

Mr. Randall said he telephoned police after receiving the letter. The case is continuing.

Greater Victoria's 1966 Red Cross campaign still stands short of its $83,000 target.

But campaign officials have not given up hope, and canvassers are still at work for the fund drive.

An official audit showed $78,369.21 in the fund this week, 94.4 per cent of the goal.

But the money is still coming in, said an official.

The campaign "certainly hasn't closed," she added, "and we are confident the target will be reached."

Mrs. Carl Hare was guest speaker at the annual dinner of the Shakespeare Readers, held at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel recently.

Elizabethan music was played by Dr. K. D. Edwards on the virginals; Miss Cathie Butler on the lute, John Graeme and Elizabeth Butler on recorders.

Flower decorations were by Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Roe and a corsage was presented to Miss Olive Garrood, past president.

Impaired Drivers

Fined $350 in traffic court Wednesday on a charge of impaired driving was Donald Martin, 828 Courtney.

Martin's licence was suspended for four months.

Fined $300 on the same charge was George Alisch, address unavailable, whose licence was also suspended for a four-month period.

Pleading guilty to driving without consideration were Glenn Steinke, 1078 Esquimalt, and Peter Sweeny, 3220 Happy Valley. Each was fined $40. Steinke's licence was suspended for one month and Sweeny's for three months.

Posh Hotel Opens Doors

There were cocktails and hors d'ouvres for 1,000 at the official opening of the posh Red Lion Inn Wednesday night.

John A. Wallace, president of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce, officially opened the $2,000,000 hotel.

It is Saanich municipality's first hotel.

The public is invited to inspect the facilities until 10 p.m. tonight.

The opening climaxed three years of planning by David Hummell, Siegfried Marquardt, William E. Osland and Kenneth Hole.

The hotel here is planned as the home office for a chain of Red Lion motor inns stretching from San Francisco to Edmonton.

But Can He Beat Perry Mason?

WASHINGTON — Richard M. Nixon held centre stage at the Supreme Court Wednesday as he urged the justices to expand the newly discovered constitutional "right to privacy."

The former vice president, appearing for the first time as a constitutional lawyer in a Supreme Court argument, drew a large audience anxious to hear how he would handle a fascinating lawsuit — and how the justices would handle him.

Listeners heard Nixon hurl law citations at Justice Abe Fortas and falter in a tilt over California law with Chief Justice Earl Warren. Nixon said the integrity of the individual was at stake in the $30,000 damages award to his client, businessman James J. Hill, in a suit against Life magazine for invasion of privacy.

He said the right to privacy, first expounded by the court last June in the Connecticut birth control case, "is of paramount importance." Otherwise, he said, "how is an individual to remain an individual in our mass communication society?"

Nixon said Life's popularity and general accuracy aggravated the injury to Hill, the subject of a 1955 article that recalled the invasion of his home in 1952 by three escaped convicts.

Among the spectators were Nixon's wife, Pat, and their two daughters. They congratulated him on his argument, and so did theo pposing attorneys.

Careless Drivers

Fined Wednesday in traffic court for careless driving were: Han Wah Lee, 946 McBriar, $40; Jacque Polard, 2780 Spencer, $40; Bernard Ball, 516 Dallas, $40; John Parker, 968 Page, $40; Allen Todd, 60 Menzies, $35; Wayne Roberts, 1118 Yates, $35; Gordon Perkins, 2730 Queenswood, $15.

BRIDGE RESULTS

Overall winners in the Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club's Open Pairs Championship were Elizabeth Warren and Jack Goldie with 274 points.

Other leading pairs were: Anne and Earle Dye, second with 257½; Evelyn Lamont and Walt Allen, third with 254; Fran newall and Les Isaacson, fourth with 249½; Maria Collm and John Bishop, fifth with 248; Velma Acres and Tony Marsh, sixth with 244.

Sally Ann Flag To Fly in May

The Salvation Army flag will fly high on the Causeway flagpole during May, the month of the Red Shield Appeal.

A flag-raising ceremony will be held at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Local Director Will Adjudicate

Robin Wood, director of Victoria School of Music and a familiar figure at many sessions of Victoria Music Festival, will act as an adjudicator Friday.

He will adjudicate at the Vancouver Music Festival, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, which this year has an entry of 13,000 in 345 classes.

Mr. Wood has been assisting School of Music contestants in Victoria. He appeared as accompanist for violinist Trudl Conrad who scored 90, 92, 93 and 93, and won the valuabel Congress of Strings Award Wednesday.

8 CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks for the many expressions of sympathy our family received on the passing away of my dear husband and father of our family, Albert Sabiston. Also our thanks for the very sincere message from Rev. Dr. S. Parsons. Our thanks especially goes out to Dr. A. J. Roe, the Oak Bay fire and police departments for their very sincere help and understanding. Also to McCall Bros. for their kind arrangements of the ceremony.—Mrs. Sabiston and family.

8 CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for their kind words of sympathy and floral offerings in the loss of our beloved son Herbert Butler. Your kind thoughts will always be remembered. — Mr. and Mrs. A. Mercer.

9 IN MEMORIAM

PIMLOTT — In loving memory of James William Pimlott, who passed away April 28, 1964.

"At rest in God's beautiful Garden,
Free from sorrow and pain,
Safe in God's wonderful keeping,
Until we meet again."

—Ever remembered by his dear wife, the family, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and brother George.

BRIDGE LESSON

By JACOBY AND SON
Newspaper Enterprise Association

When W. W. McGhee died in Lake Charles, La., last February, the bridge world lost one of its most lovable characters. When he lived in Chicago the players of that area thought enough of Bill to elect him president of the Midwest Conference. After he moved to Fort Worth we thought enough of him here to elect him president of the Texas Conference.

Opening lead—♥K.

He was everyone's friend but particularly close to all the Jacobys and we will miss him more than anyone except his own family.

Bill and Ginny McGhee won several tournaments with various Jacobys. Here is a hand from a team match: Bill held the West cards and opened the king of hearts against South's four spade contract.

He continued with the ace and then stopped to think. Ginny had played deuce, trey of hearts so he knew that South was out of hearts. Most players would lead another heart anyway on the theory that there is never any harm in forcing declarer. There would be this time because at the other table this was done and Jim Jacoby sitting South proceeded to ruff and run off all his trumps. On the last trump lead his West opponent found himself unable to hold a high heart, three diamonds and two clubs and had to jettison the queen of clubs to give Jim his tenth and contract trick.

Bill anticipated this possibility and shifted to the king of clubs. A low club was played from dummy, whereupon Ginny made the best of her hand and signaled come-on with her nine spot. Bill continued with the queen of clubs.

South had to win that one in dummy but the squeeze was long gone. The best he could do was to run off his trumps but Bill hung on to his diamonds and our team won the board.

BRAND NEW
CLOSE TO JUBILEE HOSPITAL

Beautiful 3 bedrooms by master builder. Pride and workmanship have gone into this 1300 sq ft home with a finish and fixtures far above the average.
The cathedral entrance adds a feeling of privacy to the large living room with brick fireplace. The dining room leads to a spacious modern kitchen with built-in range. A bathroom with added storage space, master bedroom and cozy den complete a truly convenient main floor.
The second floor provides two bright, airy bedrooms, 3-pce bath with shower and large attic storage.
The full extra high basement has a roughed-in rumpus room with brick fireplace, ample space for 2 large bedrooms and a large unobstructed work space.
The attractive exterior with shake roof, carport with blacktop driveway complete this wonderful home. This house is not quite complete and some of your own ideas as to finish could still be incorporated.
Priced right at $19,500—So act now this will sell this week.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

It's no wonder film production companies in Hollywood are going into the red at an alarming rate, according to reports from down south.

Stephen

Of the 59 pilot films made by the major companies for next season, only 19 have been sold and of these one has already been cut.

The production of the pilot films for projected series is an expensive affair. To make any money at all, a series has to run at least three years before the banker-backer smiles.

The program which has already been cut is Blue Light with Robert Goulet. ABC-TV introduced the show as a midseason replacement this season and it failed to pass the viewer acceptance test.

The high pilot film casualty rate was listed in the showbusiness daily Variety.

Universal-TV sold four of eight pilots; 20th-Fox sold seven of 12, but one, Blue Light, was axed; Screen Gems sold five of 12; Bing Crosby Productions, none out of two; Desilu, two out of five; Four Star, none out of five; Warner Bros., none out of two.

One of the Metro sales, The Girl From U.N.C.L.E., was a spinoff on its The Man From U.N.C.L.E. series on NBC-TV.

Over-all, the actual pilot figure runs around 90 when the independent production companies are taken into consideration.

The pinch has occasioned deep thought from the industry. There are those production heads who feel that companies can no longer afford to take the risks they have in the past. The industry will have no reappraise its position to find a better way of doing things.

The high cost of production has been attached to the prosperity boom now on, with the high cost of living attached, so that each worker understandably wants and needs more to meet this plane.

Therefore, it's a matter of getting networks and sponsors to readjust the economics so that they will continue to get the best possible product from those responsible for the programs.

China Displays Caution About War in Viet Nam

In the following story British author Frank Tuohy writes about the Chinese people's attitude toward Viet Nam.

By FRANK TUOHY

HANGCHOW, China (AP) — Here in China, people are surprisingly lukewarm about the war in Viet Nam. I assume this is the official point of view, because official views are all the visiting foreigner gets.

Yet the Chinese certainly want foreigners to think they are ready for war. Take, for example, the curious goings-on outside my Nanking hotel.

Early on a Sunday morning and Sunday is a rest day in China as in other countries—gangs of blue-clad girls were dragging in truckloads of earth from outside, and others were stamping it down on to a raised mound beyond some magnolia trees. Because it was a fine morning I went out before breakfast and took some photographs. Afterward, I asked what all the girls were doing.

"They are building an air raid shelter."

I have seen some more aid raid shelters in China, but not many. The Nanking hotel one perplexes me still. Why build a shelter for the foreign guests of a tourist hotel? Why make such a show of it? Are foreigners supposed to believe that the Chinese expect war? And further, do the Chinese really fear war, or is the central committee merely using the threat to boost morale after recent reverses on the economic and diplomatic fronts?

Th proposition with regard to the Vietnamese conflict is extraordinarily complex.

PORTRAY COWARDICE

Posters and cartoons show cowardly U.S. soldiers surrendering to Viet Cong soldiers. There is a Vietnamese martyr-saint, Yuan Wen-tse, who was executed in October, 1964, for allegedly attempting to blow up Defence Secretary Robert McNamara at Saigon. I saw an interesting play about him on my last night in Peking.

At all films, concerts and operas I went to, the audience applauded nationalist sentiments, but this time there was no clapping until the final curtain.

Furthermore, nowhere in China have I seen a picture of Ho Chi Minh, and everyone is extremely cautious on the question of support.

A neutral Vietnamese journalist I know was told in one factory: "Viet Nam is an incentive for us to increase our production."

She asked: "Do you mean to work hard in order to send your goods to North Viet Nam?"

HELP US

"No, to help us encourage our workers to increase their productivity."

Almost the same words were used to me in a commune outside Canton.

Yet I feel that Chinese believe that the Viet Cong is composed of South Vietnamese who are heroically liberating their country. The Chinese compare the situation to their own in 1945-49. Then they had finished a war with Japan, as the Vietnamese later ousted the French.

U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk has said that China is seeking to establish a hegemony in Asia under the pretext of supporting wars of liberation. The Chinese answer, which is acceptable when you have seen the country itself, is that they have much too much to do within their own frontiers to harbor such ambitions. The cautious sympathy they profess for the Vietnamese would seem to support this.

Some Paper Tissues Hard on Skin Tissue

CHICAGO (AP)—A dermatologist contended today that colored facial and toilet tissues and tissues with high "wetting strength" are causing skin eruptions in sensitive people.

Dr. A. Harvey Neidorff, director of the Altoona Allergy and Dermatology Clinic and chief of allergy and dermatology at Mercy Hospital, Altoona, Pa., said such paper tissues are treated with a formaldehyde resin and that the chemical causes reactions in persons who become sensitized.

Dr. Neidorff, chairman of the dermatology section of the American College of Allergists, said the incidence of formaldehyde sensitivity in humans has increased sharply in the last decade, keeping pace with increased use of the chemical in the paper and garment industries.

In a speech at the college's annual scientific congress, he said that persons with known allergic reactions are more likely to become sensitive to formaldehyde than other individuals.

He said the chemical is widely used to strengthen tissue paper and to impart wrinkle-proof, quick - drying and color-stability properties to wearing apparel.

Red China No Aggressor —Fulbright

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. J. William Fulbright has rejected another bulwark of U.S. China policy—the view of the Communist Chinese as a people bent on aggression.

Fulbright said Wednesday that China was trying primarily to regain the status it had before western powers — including the United States—smashed the Chinese economy with economic intervention in the 19th century.

The chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee said American hostility to the present Chinese regime was prolonging the extremism of the revolution that brought it to power in 1949.

Kenya Minister Resigns

NAIROBI (Reuters) — Information Minister Ramogi Achieng Oneko Monday announced his resignation from the government and from President Jomo Kenyatta's ruling Kenya African National Union party.

He was the first cabinet minister to quit since the resignation of former vice-president Oginga Odinga slightly more than a week ago precipitated a crisis within the government and ruling party.

Oneko said he had resigned over disagreement with President Kenyatta's policies on foreign affairs, land, agriculture, the East African Federation and foreign loans.

About 30 members of parliament, including two former assistant ministers, resigned from Kanu in the last week and were believed to be grouping themselves into an opposition, possibly under the leadership of militantly socialist Oginga Odinga.

Kenya has been a one-party state since November, 1964, when Kadu, the Kenya African Democratic Union, voluntarily dissolved and merged with Kanu.

Secrecy Need Argued by CIA

BALTIMORE (CP) — Efforts by a Canadian citizen to press a slander charge against a man the CIA says is its agent ran into slow going today in U.S. federal court.

A galay of U.S. and CIA lawyers slowed down questioning of Juri Raus who is alleged by Eerik Heine of Toronto's suburban Rexdale to have falsely called him a Soviet agent.

Heine for the last 18 months has sought to collect a $110,000 slander suit in the face of CIA resistance.

The CIA case was restated today in these submissions to the court:

CIA director, W. F. Raborn, claimed privilege on security grounds and said Raus would "respectfully decline to answer questions which would elicit information that relates to intelligence sources and methods and which I have prohibited him from disclosing. . . ."

A statement from Raus' counsel said "any ruling which would impose liability on the defendant in this case would expose every agent of the CIA throughout the world to the peril of an adverse judgment in a lawsuit against him, no matter how ill-founded, simply because the agent is prevented by the nature of his job from defending himself by setting forth the complete intelligence concerning the claimant."

Both Raus and Heine are natives of Estonia. Raus became an American citizen and Heine a Canadian citizen by naturalization.

Potential Killers!

By JACK HUTTON

I saw him through the rear vision mirror when he was still half a mile behind passing cars three at a time, hugging the white line and leaning on the horn.

There were five friends in his car, obviously cheering him on every time he flirted once mor with an oncoming car.

Would he try passing me? And, if so, how? The answer came two miles later when a curve signed loomed ahead—obviously a long, dangerous one, and blind.

What happened next is still a blur. I saw the hopped-up car pull to my left, the driver hunched over his steering wheel as if he were urging on a race horse, the horn blaring.

The transport truck that appeared out of nowhere spun to the right, churning gravel into the air. I yanked my car to the right, fighting to stay out of a deep roadside ditch. For two seconds it looked like a three-vehicle tragedy.

The transport driver is probably counting the gray hairs he gained in those frantic moments. I haven't forgotten the rage and relief that I felt in equal mixture after the passing car escaped through the hole we had created for him.

And I haven't forgotten the fact that the passengers in the car were laughing. Incredibly, they were pounding the driver on the back, roaring with glee over a psychotic stunt that could have killed every one of us.

Others' Lives

This incident happened last fall. But I can't help remembering it now with a holiday weekend only weeks away. How many similar drivers will there be on the roads, playing Russian roulette with other people's lives?

This isn't meant to be an unfair blast against all drivers under the age of 25. But look at the type of driver I just described: the dangerous minority all fall into this age group.

Where are we going wrong? Do we hand out drivers' licences too freely? Should anyone under the age of 18 be allowed to handle tons of metal on a crowded highway? Should everyone take tests more frequently?

Should we be teaching driver-training in all secondary schools? Should there be lectures on road safety included in all secondary schools for students approaching the minimum age for a licence?

Three years ago I was solidly against driver-training during the school day. Today I'm not so sure.

Before letters start pouring in defending younger drivers, let me say I'm not condemning the majority. The best drivers on our roads may be in this group, particularly if they've had driver-training.

But something has to be done about the minority. Watch for them in a few weeks—and remember what I've said.

GOODBYE CHARLIE

Hello Fashion

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Carlton P. Willis, age 7, of Fort Devens, Mass., for his question:

Who discovered gold?

The story of gold goes back to the beginning of history. We know that people have treasured it for 5,000 years and maybe longer. In the past there were many countries that treasured gold, just as they do today.

Gold was discovered in California 118 years ago, and this started the Gold Rush. Thousands of people rushed to California from faraway places. Some of them found flakes and nuggets of precious gold and some got gold from mines in the ground. These lucky ones became rich — for in those days gold was just about the most precious thing a person could own. Nowadays other things are more costly than gold.

This was not the first time gold was discovered. Spanish soldiers followed Columbus to the New World and went searching for it. They found lots of it in Central America and in South America. Two years after gold was discovered in California, more was found in Australia. In the next few years, more gold was discovered in Canada and New Zealand, India and South Africa, and in 1897, which was 69 years ago, gold was discovered in Alaska.

But none of these was the first discovery of gold. In Greece and India, in Spain and Russia people had been mining gold for ages — and no one knows for sure when these gold mines were discovered. Many gold mines in the Old World were discovered and started way back in history, for gold was always precious and valuable and always there were people who went searching for it.

Egyptians Mined Gold

Maybe our cavemen ancestors found nuggets of gold on the ground and treasured them. These nuggets would be rough and bumpy chunks of dull yellow. To look its best, gold must be smelted or melted and purified and shaped into graceful objects. People could not do this until they learned how to smelt metals in hot furnaces. In the Bronze Age, they smelted bronze from copper and tin. And at this time, some of the ancient lands began smelting gold. Perhaps the Egyptians were the first to do this. We know that they mined and washed gold and made golden ornaments 5,000 years ago. They left pictures of how they did it.

We know a lot about the story of gold — but no one knows who discovered it first. No one knows where or when the first gold was found.

There is not much gold in all the world, and it is valuable because it is beautiful and hard to find. Here and there we find lumpy nuggets on or in the ground. There are fragments and flakes of gold in certain streams — but most of it is mixed with other rocky minerals of the earth's crust. These rich rocks are ores which must be crushed and washed, rinsed and purified to give up their fragments of precious gold.

Andy sends a 15-inch World Book Globe to Robin Volk, age 10, of Rochester, N.Y., for her question:

Why were pigeons the birds chosen to carry messages?

When you mail a letter, you expect it to be taken by the most direct route to the right address. When you send a message, you choose someone you can depend upon to get it there on time. Birds are flighty fellows and most of them do not fly dependable schedules. As they search for food, they change their minds again and again and you can never be sure when or whether they intend to go home.

However, a certain pigeon always flies home by a direct route. He can be crated and carted hundreds of miles from his loft. When freed, he circles a few times to get his bearings, then off he flies wasting no time along the way. Most birds would not bother to go straight home and even ordinary pigeons do not have his special gift for finding their way. This is why our gifted bird was chosen to carry messages. He is the special carrier pigeon also known as the homing pigeon.

U.S. Girl Stowaway Found in U.K. Sub

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — The British submarine Walrus continued its journey home today after dropping off a stowaway who said she wanted to visit England because she liked English boys.

And the girl, Barbara McVay, 17, of Baltimore, is back with her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Turso.

BARBARA McVAY
. . . risked drowning

The Walrus and two more British subs were docked in Baltimore since last Thursday, following NATO manoeuvres.

When the Walrus left for home Wednesday, Barbara was hiding in the conning tower.

But after four hours, exhaust fumes from the sub's engine sickened her and she turned herself in.

COULD HAVE DROWNED

"It's a good thing she got sick," a police detective said later. He said the compartment where she hid would have filled with water if the sub had submerged.

When she did come out of hiding, the sub radioed the British embassy and was ordered to get the girl back to land immediately.

An army patrol boat met the sub in the Delaware Canal. Barbara was placed in the Wilmington detention home until her parents arrived several hours later.

"I wanted to go to England," she said. "I like English boys."

She also said she wanted to visit her father, later identified as Tech. Sgt. V. E. McVay, stationed in the British Isles with the U.S. Air Force.

Capt. Douglas M. H. Stobie, a member of the naval attache's staff at the British embassy, told a reporter a full investigation would be made to determine if any crew member had helped her.

College Cuts Contracts With CIA

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Massachusetts Institute of Technology disclosed Tuesday it will cut off in June some research contracts it holds with the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

Professor Max Millikan, director of MIT's centre of international studies, said his department has held contracts with the CIA for some time.

"A year ago we had a general review of the situation," he said, "and because the contracts were subject to misinterpretation, particularly abroad, though also in this country, we decided it was best to terminate them."

Dr. Millikan said the contracts called for the centre to conduct basic research on the international situation, particularly on Communism and on Communist China.

"There never was any secret about it," Millikan said. "Our research always resulted in publication by the researchers."

Millikan was an assistant director of the CIA in 1951 and 1952 in its office of search and investigation.

Riding Changes Arguments Open In House

By DENNIS ORCHARD

OTTAWA (CP)—Quebec and Maritimes MPs put their best logic forward Wednesday for the Commons record that will be sent to nine of Canada's 10 independent commissions on electoral redistribution.

The House heard 14 appeals against changes proposed for the names and boundaries of ridings in Quebec, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia.

It was a quiet start on a matter vital to almost all MPs scores of whom are challenging the riding changes.

The record of their arguments will be sent back to the commissions after the close of the redistribution debate next Wednesday.

If the arguments convince the commissioners — who include magistrates, judges, provincial electoral officers and university presidents and professors—they may make some final revisions. But they are under no obligation to do so.

At the next federal election, their redistribution will determine the 264 ridings up for grabs—one seat less than the present 265.

The Commons is expected to clean up the Maritimes quickly today with a single New Brunswick appeal. Newfoundland MPs are not making any objections.

ALBERTA NEXT

Vigorous protests from Alberta MPs come next, with the promise of a first-class scrap. Ontario is expected to follow Friday.

The 10 Quebec objections Wednesday related to individual constituencies and dwelt mainly on name changes. The whole redistribution pattern for the province's 75 constituencies comes up later, when MPs can tackle the new boundaries.

Gerard Duquet (L — Quebec East), making his maiden speech, said a proposed conversion of Quebec East into the riding of Limoilou would dump a name dating back to 1860 and carried into the House by former prime ministers Wilfrid Laurier and Louis St. Laurent.

Mr. Duquet read a letter from Mr. St. Laurent, now 84, expressing hope that the original name will be retained.

Prince Edward Island's four Conservative MPs deplored the changes proposed in boundary lines almost untouched in this century.

J. Angus MacLean, former fisheries minister, opposed division of the two-seat riding of Queens and replacement of the present names—Kings, Prince and Queens—by the suggested new names of Cardigan, Egmont, Hillsborough and Malpeque.

Both Island and Nova Scotia MPs said the commission had given little thought to "community of interest" factors in slicing up existing ridings.

Minor Fined $50

Stanley Furber, 2772 Millstream, pleaded guilty Wednesday in magistrate's court to a charge of being a minor on licenced premises and was fined $50.

Furber was checked for identification outside the 5 Mile House, Colwood at 10:30 p.m. April 11 and was found to be under 21.

He admitted to drinking on the premises.

One Week After Nielsen Attack

(See also Page 18.)

OTTAWA (CP)—RCMP Commissioner George B. McClellan testified today that Prime Minister Pearson instructed him to have Guy Fraveau, then justice minister, informed by the RCMP about the Gerda Munsinger case.

The commissioner said that Mr. Favreau was informed verbally about the case Dec. 1. 1964, by the RCMP director for security and intelligence.

(This was a week after Erik Nielsen, Conservative MP for the Yukon, launched his charges of influence-peddling in high Liberal circles.)

Commissioner McClellan was under cross-examination by C. F. H. Carson, Conservative counsel, at the inquiry into the Gerda Munsinger affair.

Mr. McClellan said he was appointed RCMP commissioner Nov. 1, 1963, when Lionel Chevrier was Liberal justice minister.

Mr. Carson asked whether the RCMP had brought the Munsinger case to the attention of Mr. Chevrier.

Commissioner McClellan replied that neither he nor any other member of the RCMP informed Mr. Chevrier about the Munsinger affair.

Mr. Carson asked whether the RCMP had brought the case to the attention of Mr. Favreau, who became justice minister Feb. 3, 1964.

"It was not brought to his attention by me personally," Mr. McClellan said. This had been done Dec. 1, 1964, by Assistant Commissioner W. H. Kelly, director of security and intelligence.

The commissioner said Assistant Commissioner Kelly "was instructed by me on instructions to me by the prime minister to discuss with Mr. Favreau" the Munsinger case and "he discussed it."

Brief Delivered Dec. 2, 1964

Commissioner McClellan testified he delivered a brief on the Munsinger file to Mr. Pearson at 10:30 a.m., Dec. 2, 1964, and the prime minister returned it "some time in the last month or so."

The commissioner promised to supply later the date on which Mr. Pearson returned it to him.

He said he delivered it to Mr. Pearson personally and he knew of no action on it by the prime minister.

At one point, he protested that the questioning was getting into the area of his conversations with Mr. Pearson.

The same brief had been given to Mr. Favreau Dec. 1, 1964, the day before the commissioner delivered it to the prime minister. He said he knew of no action on it by Mr. Favreau.

Mr. Carson sugested that the notations of dates and times the prime minister and various other ministers were advised are on the RCMP's original file, but apparently not on the copies supplied to the inquiry headed by Mr. Justice Wishart Spence of the Supreme Court of Canada.

Commissioner McClellan said that when he met the prime minister Dec. 2, 1964, he handed him the file in the presence of Gordon Robertson, clerk of the Privy Council.

the Munsinger file also showed a note that the affair was brought to the attention of former justice minister Donald Fleming on March 11, 1963, almost a month before the election that turned the Conservative adtministration of John Diefenbaker out of office and replaced it with a Liberal government headed by Mr. Pearson.

Commissioner McClellan said the RCMP did not inform Justice Minister Cardin about the case either before or after he took his present portfolio.

Earlier, the commissioner said Gerda Munsinger twice got into Canada when she shouldn't have.

Doesn't Know How She Got in

He told the inquiry he has been unable to find out how she entered the country in 1955 after she had been rejected in 1952 on security grounds.

The commissioner said the German blonde got back into Canada in January, 1961, after a 17-day visit to Europe because the steps to prevent her return were not carried out by the immigration department.

He said the RCMP had been told by the department that she couldn't be refused re-entry.

He also said he is "not making any guarantees" that Mrs. Munsinger won't get into Canada a third time.

Commissioner McClellan said the RCMP had taken all the steps it could in January, 1961, to prevent her re-entry. These steps had been in the form of advice to the immigration department which was not always heeded.

"Not always heeded by whom?" asked Conservative counsel C. F. H. Carson.

"By government policy," the commissioner replied.

He added that this is "quite understandable" but did not elaborate.

Mr. Carson asked what has been done to see that Mrs.

PEOPLE PLUCKED FROM TREES, ROOFTOPS

5 Die, Hundreds Flee Flash Flood at Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Five persons were drowned today when tremendous rains forced hundreds of persons from flooded homes in Dallas and a northern suburb, Garland.

One of the victims, drowned in his late-model Cadillac, was W. L. Perryman, president of General American Oil Co., an independent oil firm operating in six states and Canada.

Firemen chopped through the Cadillac's back window to free a woman from the car, which had been swept into a swollen creek.

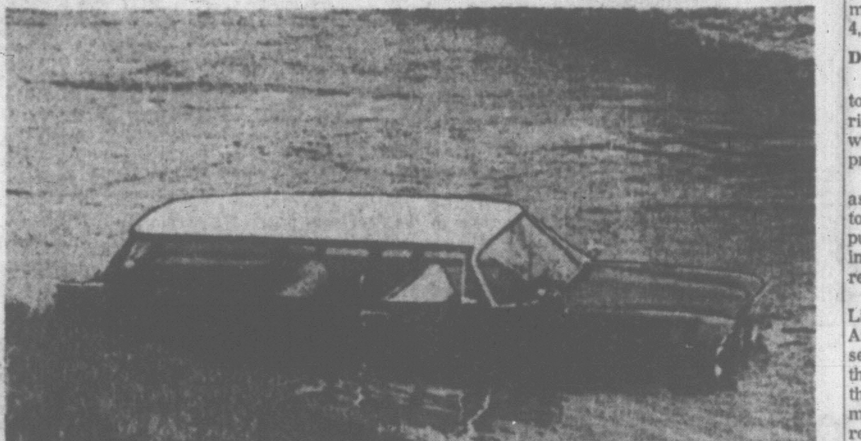
Rain had been falling at about an inch an hour until it subsided at down. During one one-hour period, three inches fell.

Fire department boats, towed by station wagons to scenes of local flooding, plucked people from trees, rooftops, and the roofs of cars in flooded expressway underpasses.

1,500 WORKERS IDLE

Water got into the Ford Motor Co. assembly plant in northeast Dallas, damaging electrical motors and forcing the plant to close, leaving idle 1,500 workers until Friday.

The new round of turbulent weather came as rivers and lesser streams throughout the eastern half of Texas poured flood waters toward the sea. Rains up to 21 inches had flooded wide areas, particularly to the east of Dallas.



FLASH FLOOD in Dallas, Texas, today forced motorist to abandon this station wagon in a hurry. Heavy thunderstorm dumped over three inches of rain over area in less than an hour. (AP Wirephoto.)

MISSIONS MAINTAINED

U.K., Rhodesia Delay Break During Talks

(Times News Services)

LONDON—Britain and the breakaway Rhodesian government decided today to hold off on any final and complete diplomatic break while they are holding talks to see if negotiatiing Rhodesian independence is possible.

Salisbury reports said the Rhodesian government, in a gesture of good will, had put a hold on its demand last week the British high commission there close down by mid-May.

A spokesman said orders to the British staff to quit were being held in abeyance.

The decision meant the Rhodesian staff at Rhodesia House in London will continue to operate instead of closing down at the same time.

The two countries had all but suspended diplomatic relations but never made a formal break. Closing down of the two missions would have been the last straw.

The development came after Prime Minister Harold Wilson asked his cabinet to approve his action in opening talks with Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith.

SECRETARY RETURNS

Oliver Wright, Wilson's principal private secretary, flew in from Salisbury this afternoon to report to the Prime Minister on his meetings with Smith.

Another British troubleshooter, Malcolm Macdonald, prepared to leave on a mission to persuade the political leaders of black Africa that the coming talks with Smith will not constitute a British sellout to Rhodesian white supremacists.

Wright arranged the negotiations in secret contacts with Smith and with Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd of South Africa.

It was the first breakthrough toward a Rhodesian settlement since Smith's white-minority government declared indepedence from Britain last Nov. 11.

In his talks with Smith, Wright produced agreement on the time, place and level of informal bargainings designed to achieve a basis for constitutional settlement.

The British demand that a settlement provide unimpeded progress toward eventual majority rule by Rhodesia's 4,000,000 Negroes.

DEFEND WHITE RIGHTS

In return, Britain is prepared to underwrite and defend the rights of Rhodesia's 250,000 whites and pay for a crash program of Negro education.

The British government assured the Commonwealth today that the talks will be purely exploratory and will not involve recognition of the Smith regime.

Canadian High Commissioner Lionel Chevrier and Canada's Arnold Smith, Commonwealth secretary-general, were among the representatives called into the Labor government's Commonwealth secretary's office to receive an explanation of the sudden change in the Rhodesian outlook.

They were told that British-Rhodesian talks will begin soon

Multiple-Murder

NEW YORK (AP)—A 23-year-old former mental patient was booked by police on a charge of homicide today in the fatal stabbings of his attractive wife and their five children. Police said the prisoner, Jose Torres, 23, had made a statement but they declined to disclose its contents.

Rifle-Toting Mad Escapee Still Free

LILLOOET (CP)—An armed mental hospital escapee whom police believed they had surrounded eluded an intensive police search near here early Wednesday, then turned up 30 miles east of the search area.

"It appears that we are trying to catch a phantom," said an RCMP spokesman in this small community.

Police said the suspect was seen 30 miles east of here carrying a rifle on an abandoned logging road that runs up the east side of the Fraser River in the B.C. Interior.

A dozen RCMP officers using four-wheel drive vehicles and tracker dogs were following the trail early today. More policemen were en route from Clinton, 20 miles north of Lillooet, in hopes of cutting off the escapee.

The man, about 30 years of age, had been prospecting earlier this year in the area. Police said he went berserk, stole a horse, and was committed for treatment to the Riverview Mental Hospital at Essondale, near Vancouver, on April 7.

He apparently escaped and returned a week later to Lillooet. Police started, searching for him after Indian families at a nearby reservation reported the man robbed them at gunpoint of food and other supplies.

The Indians were evacuated from the reservation during the weekend and moved to Lillooet.

In recent years four RCMP officers have been killed in the Interior by mentally deranged gunmen. Three were killed at Kamloops and the fourth died near Kelowna.

Poles Protest U.S. Bomb Damage to Ship

WARSAW (AP)—Poland has sharply protested to the United States that one of its cargo ships was damaged in a U.S. bombing raid near Haiphong last week.

U.S. Ambassador John Bronouski was called to the Polish foreign ministry and handed the protest note Tuesday, a U.S. embassy official said. The note, which reserved the right to claim damages, was forwarded to Washington.

The official Polish press agency gave this report of the incident:

"During a piratical bombing of one of the ports near Haiphong, the Polish motorship Beniowski was in port taking coal. Many bombs and rockets which exploded in the vicinity of the ship caused external and internal damage to the ship's equipment.

"The ship was forced to sail without finishing loading."

There was no mention of any casualties.

The agency did not say what cargo the 7,299-ton Beniowski had carried to North Viet Nam or how extensively the vessel was damaged. The Polish state shipping line runs regular cargo service to the Far East, with stops at China and North Viet Nam.

Olympic Banff Ban Blamed on Bird Lovers

ROME (UPI) — The Canadian Olympic Committee may sue a conservation organization because Banff lost out on its bid to host the 1972 winter Olympics, a Canadian source said today.

"We have proof that the Canadian Wildlife Association is subsidized by the Canadian government to the tune of $75,000 a year.

"We also are convinced that the association played a major role in persuading the International Olympic Committee that to hold the games in Banff would endanger bird life," the source said.

Banff, which Tuesday lost out to Sapporo, Japan, for the winter games, had been favored to win by most observers at the international meeting here. IOC president Avery Brundage said that the Banff bid undoubtedly was hurt by the protest of bird lovers.

The Canadian committee is seeking "tangible evidence to prove that the Canadian Wildlife Association either contributed or inspired some of the letters that evidently torpedoed Banff's chances," the source said.

He added that the committee is "sure it will find the evidence."

The committee is "considering bringing suit against the wildlife association for the total cost of Banff's campaign to win the bid," the source said. This would amount to "several hundreds of thousands of dollars, including the money expended in Banff's two previous bids."

According to the source, while Banff's two previous unsuccessful bids were financed largely by local contributions and the provincial government, "99 per cent of the backing for our third try came from the federal government. We think it is outrageous that the wildlife association, which is subsidized by the government, should sabotage an effort which was financed by the federal government and had its wholehearted support."

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson wrote a letter to the IOC affirming that Canada endorsed Banff's bid and that the objections of the conservationists were totally unjustified. The letter was read to the IOC, but members said after the vote that many delegates attached more importance to the bird lovers' protests than they did to Pearson's letter.

'EVIL EYE' BEHIND KILLINGS?

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP) — District Attorney Richard Lowe says the evil eye—a glance believers say can cause harm—is related to the slayings of five elderly neighbors here since 1961.

Five charges of homicide and one of robbery were laid Wednesday against John Harry Bruno, 28, a shipping clerk, in the slayings.

"The area is filled with the fear of sorcery and witchcraft," Lowe said. "These people just don't talk. They don't volunteer information and they don't respond to questions."

Lowe said the motive for the killings in the middle-class neighborhood of persons of Italian descent was revenge. He refused to elaborate on the revenge or evil-eye comment.

Bruno is charged in the slayings of a man and his wife last weekend, a man in 1963, and a man and his wife in 1961—all of whom lived within a four-block radius.

MARKET SUMMARY

Prices Drop At Toronto, Wall Street

Prices tumbled on both the Toronto and New York markets today.

On Wall Street both rails and industrials were down.

General Motors dipped among motors following a decision finding the company guilty of violating the anti-trust law.

Rails reacted further to the merger decisions made Wednesday by the Interstate Commerce Commission. New York Central and Pennsylvania each dropping two or more. Northern Pacific and Great Northern, their merger refused, fell another three points each.

AT TORONTO in the main list, Moore Corp. dropped 1¾ to 83¼, Aluminium 1½ to 43⅝ on 14,130 shares, Jefferson Lake 1⅝ to 28⅝, MacMillan, Bloedel 1⅛ to 26¼ and Interprovincial Pipe Line 1 to 81½.

Western oils continued to suffer heavy losses with Canadian Superior off ⅝ to 21¼, Banff ½ to 16¾ and Pacific Petroleum ¼ to 13½. Scurry Rainbow bucked the trend, gaining ¾ to 31¼.

Base metals moved fractionally lower. Noranda slid ⅜ to 52⅝ in profit taking after being up 1¼ Wednesday.

AT NEW YORK Texas Gulf Sulphur lost nearly 6, Fairchild Camera and Texas Instruments 5, Motorola nearly 4, Boeing (ex dividend), Polaroid, Xerox, IBM, Admiral, Magnavox, about 3.

AT MONTREAL most sections moved fractionally lower in moderate trading today.

AT LONDON the market looked better today after the news of planned talks on the Rhodesian situation.

Some gilts firmed a shade. Southern Rhodesians added one point. Dollar stocks eased under Wall Street influence but in Canadians it was only in Algoma and Hollinger that losses reached two points. Canadian Pacific eased a point.

Canadian banks were dull.

AT VANCOUVER losses outnumbered gains in the mining section shortly before noon today.

Coast Copper dropped .12 to a new low of $9.75 and Hogan lost .04 to a low of .73. Buttle Lake dropped .10 to $2.25 and Chataway lost the same amount to $1.40.

Silver Arrow touched a high of $1.10 to increase .12, Trojan rose .01 to .74 and Granduc put on .15 to $3.85.

GM Reports Earnings Dip

NEW YORK (AP)—General Motors Corp. has reported a decline in earnings in the 1966 first quarter from the level of a year earlier.

GM, the world's largest manufacturer, earned $594,000,000, or $2.07 a share, compared with $636,000,000, or $2.22 a share in the 1965 first quarter.

Sales rose to $5,700,000,000, a record for a first quarter, from $5,600,000,000.

Worldwide factory sales in the first three months of this year totalled 1,979,000 units, down from 2,020,000 a year earlier. U.S. factory sales totalled 1,557,000 against 1,588,000 a year earlier.

Insurance Company Plans Share Split

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Directors of Empire Life Insurance Co. have voted to split the stock on a 10-for-1 basis subject to approval of a shareholders meeting called for May 16.

It has 64,048 shares outstanding of its authorized capitalization of 200,000 shares.

GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Grain prices showed variety today with some indicating easier tones as the date for the May contracts draws near.

Flax continued to show easier tones with the export market quiet.

Rapeseed showed relatively firm undertones. Canadian oilseeds reflected the higher prices of soybeans on the Chicago market.

Oats and barley moved in a narrow range, with domestic market dominating the trade.

Arthur Mayse

On Wednesday I ate scarce enough to keep a middling large bird alive, and my appetite is still languid, all because of the annual Culinary Arts Ball which was held in the Curling Rink on Tuesday evening.

This feast, the twenty-first offered by Vancouver Island branch of the Canadian Restaurant Association, must be shared to be believed.

It is preceded by a viewing of tables in a double rank, set end to end and loaded with hams, noble beef barons, turkeys, spare ribs, mounds of shrimps, castles of prawns, baked salmon on monstrous platters, and desserts of incredible richness.

All these are adorned and embellished by artist-chefs who regard the Culinary Arts Ball as the year's most demanding challenge. As if this weren't enough, the talented student-cooks of B.C. Vocational School at Nanaimo sent down a truckload of the handsomest edibles this side of paradise and set them off with statuary done in beef tallow and ice.

Add leisured dancing, toss in the briefest of speeches by association branch president Bill West, and you have an evening worth starving for in advance and dieting off later.

The University of Victoria has released its three thousand, except for a few stragglers who still have exams to write, and the scramble for summer jobs is on again.

For the young men and women involved, it's a serious and sometimes a grim pursuit, made so in part by the fact that our work-seeking undergraduate population outnumbers the berths available.

A good many students have already returned to jobs they held last year, or gone out to new ones which may take them to fields far removed from campus and lecture hall.

Hotels and tourist lodges absorb some of the work-seekers. The woods, mines and various government departments take others.

For all, the object is to earn the fees and at least part of the swarming expenses of another bout with higher education. To fail in the search—and sometimes this happens—may mean a lost year.

Some are lucky enough to find their own jobs, but for many the chief hope of employment lies with the student placement office of the National Employment Service.

This office, which operates year-round, works to bring student and prospective employer together. With a small staff, it handles a big and complex task very well indeed.

Uvic students as a group are hard workers. They have to be if they are to survive even their first freshman year. They learn fast, and the employer who adds a student to his temporary staff can count on getting full value.

One evening when I was still wearing out my first pair of hip boots, I watched a burly angler fly-fish his way down a reach of an Island river.

He was in so deep that he appeared to be floating, but at closer range, I saw that the current lapped a fraction of an inch from the top of chest waders.

Presently he hooked a good trout, which he played and netted in a fashion that labelled him a master of his craft.

The deep wader was Major George Roger Monteith, proprietor of a Fort Street tackle shop known to fly fishermen near and far, and as fine a sportsman as this outdoors-minded coast has produced.

Roger Monteith died Tuesday in Veterans' Hospital at the age of 81. He had retired from his shop some years earlier, but his interest in shooting and fishing remained keen.

On a lake here and a stream there, from the Cowichan north to the Campbell and beyond, you will find anglers who remember him as wise counsellor and good companion.

Long-Time Resident Dies at 85

Funeral service will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday for E. E. (John) Goodwyn, 85, of 456 Moss Street, a long-time Victoria resident.

Born in Norfolk, Eng., he was a resident of Victoria since 1926.

He was an original member of the Glad Tidings Church and an honorary member of the Board of Deacons and treasurer of the church for 20 years.

During the First World War he served overseas with the Winnipeg Rifles.

Survivors include the widow, Fanny; two sons, Dick and Ray, both of Victoria and three grandchildren.

Rev. Eric Hornby and Rev. Percy Wills will officiate at the funeral with interment to follow in the Royal Oak Cemetery.

Toronto Firm Purchases Fox Theatre

Victoria's Fox Cinema on Quadra near Hillside has been sold to 20th Century Theatres Ltd. of Toronto, it was learned today.

The theatre was built by Bernard A. Nixon in 1948, and it has been operated by Mr. Nixon and his family ever since.

The Nixons came here from Lethbridge, Alta., in 1947.

Twentieth Century Theatre owns a number of movie houses in Canada.

For the past three years the Nixons have shown first-run feature films and many interested foreign films at the Fox.

Load Shift Flips Truck

Truck driver Maurice Pelletier of 1350 Bay escaped injury Wednesday when his vehicle overturned at Hobbs and Sinclair as his load shifted.

Police said he was making a left turn at the time when four yards of peat soil moved causing the vehicle to flip.

Forged Travel Cheques Turn Up in District

Three $20 traveller's cheques lost in Vancouver April 16 turned up in Victoria Wednesday with forged signatures.

The cheques, countersigned under the name "Larry Hunter," were discovered as forgeries by Gonzales Pharmacy of 1845 Fairfield, Carlyle's Store, of 148 Superior, and Wilson's Low Cost of 401 Gorge Rd. E., police said.

The person cashing the cheques is described as in his early 20s, five feet, seven inches and 170 pounds.

Sixteen other cheques signed by Larry Hunter are not accounted for. They are drawn on a Vancouver bank.

Putrid Problem Posed by Lion

By BILL CHATTERTON

Problem — You have got the body of a huge sea lion lying on the beach in front of your home. It's over 10 feet long, probably weighs about 1,000 pounds and will be smelling out the neighborhood within a few days. What do you do with it?

This is the dilemma faced by some residents of Ardmore in North Saanich.

Four children found the carcass of the huge sea lion which is thought to have washed onto the beach during a recent storm.

The sea lion lost its head on Wednesday. Robert Pauwels, biology teacher at Belmont senior secondary school, cut it off in hopes he will be able to use the skull in his classes.

But the rest of the sea lion is still very much on the beach.

Mr. Parrott is vice-principal of Belmont and it was through him that Mr. Pauwels learned of the sea lion.

Mr. Pauwels has now got the head of the sea lion at home. He hopes to get some carrion beetles to remove the thick flesh, otherwise he will have to bury the head for a few years.

The Ardmore residents living near the beached sea lion will have to dispose of the rest of it soon but they are not quite sure how. They may try towing it back out into the waters of Saanich Inlet.

But putting a rope around the amphibian's smooth body won't be a simple matter.

Brock Parrott probes dead sea lion before it lost its head.

Assessment Talk At City Council 'Just Not True'

Intermunicipal harmony went by the board this morning as three angry district reeves answered criticism that their assessment departments operated inefficiently.

"Without any consultation with us to ascertain the true facts these gentlemen have levied serious criticism against our municipalities and our assessing staffs," the joint statement says.

"The facts are that the level of assessed values in each municipality is closely watched by the provincial assessment commissioner to ensure that it is in line with the required 50 per cent of market values as laid down by statute.

COMMISSIONER SATISFIED

"The assessment levels of all of our municipalities are satisfactory to the commissioner otherwise he would order them changed.

"The city officials seem to have ignored the fact that percentage increases in total assessments in each municipality in a given year over the previous year depend to a considerable extent on the amount of new construction completed in the municipality in that year and also on whether or not the level of assessments of the previous year was below the level acceptable to the commissioner."

The statement adds that even new buildings are not necessarily reflected in increased assessment values because many new buildings, such as schools and university buildings, are tax exempt and do not appear on the assessment roll.

The joint statement also takes sharp umbrage at recent city statements that Victoria is carrying part of the financial burden of other municipalities.

"Some of the elected and appointed officials of the city of Victoria have recently proven much too prone to claim the city is carrying part of the financial burden for the other municipalities.

'JUST NOT SO'

"This is just not so," the statement continues. "It is instances such as this which make it very difficult to maintain the high level of intermunicipal co-operation which we have enjoyed in the past several years."

The angry rebuttal by the reeves was brought about by comments passed at a meeting of city council in committee of the whole on Tuesday.

City comptroller James Bramley in his annual budget report had stated that the five per cent assessment increase ceiling imposed by the provincial government could work to the disadvantage of the city, "if the assessment programs in other municipalities are found to be lagging."

Mayor Toone commented that the efficiency of Victoria's assessment department appeared to be costing the city money.

City manager Dennis Young suggested the mayor re-phrase the comment to say that it was the inefficiency of other municipalities which was costing the city money.

NDP MEANS NOW DOING PAINTING

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan has reserved a section of the Duncan courthouse fence to vent his artistic talents.

Mr. Strachan (NDP—Cowichan Newcastle), who lives at Cedar, near Nanaimo, will probably start his painting when he arrives in Duncan May 5 to open the Crofton Art Group show.

Mrs. Strachan said he has been doing charcoal sketches for a number of years recently, and when he was a child his father wanted him to be a cartoonist.

Two Injured Reported Fair

Two persons injured in recent serious traffic accidents are reported in fair condition in hospital.

Robert Hodge, 36, of 2525 Scott St., is in St. Joseph's Hospital suffering from head and neck injuries.

He was rushed to hospital Friday when his bread van was in collision with a fire truck on an emergency run at Fort and Douglas.

Five-year-old Gary Fenwick of 5165 Cordova Bay Road, is suffering jaw, skull and leg fractures in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

He was in collision with a three-ton cement truck two weeks ago in front of his home.

City Hall Picketing Resumed

Protest pickets appeared at city hall shortly after noon today to further their bid to persuade the city it is morally responsible for $35,000 owing sub-contractors for work on Centennial Square.

Michael Peddlesden, one of the sub-contractors owed $12,000 for masonry work on the Square following the business failure of the main beautification contractor, said the pickets would remain until city council met later in the day.

City solicitor T. P. O'Grady said he had received no instructions from the mayor to take action against the picketers.

Mr. Peddlesden was scheduled to appear before council this afternoon to state his case personally.

Today's protest is the second made by picketers this month.

The first placard bearers were employees of Peddlesden and Melbye. Today the ranks were swelled by representatives of other firms who lost money when Coniston Construction was declared bankrupt.

Magistrate Gives Two Vagrants Board and Cell

Two persons were sentenced to a month in jail in central court today for vagrancy.

Dale Shaben, 18, of Calgary, was picked up last week by police on lower Yates Street in the company of six known criminals

"I don't know whether you recognize it, but you are headed for trouble," said Magistrate William Ostler to the youth.

William Dalton Davis, no fixed address, was caught by police Wednesday night begging in front of the Government Street liquor store.

Court was told he was intoxicated at the time.

City Cuts Taxes By $3 Average

Benefits Depend Upon Assessment

By JIM HUME

Victoria city council finished a two-day budget slashing marathon Wednesday with the announcement that taxes for the average home owner will be reduced by three dollars.

Comptroller James Bramley said the general reduction would apply to all home owners whose assessments remained unchanged last year.

He stressed that if assessments on a home had increased during the year the tax bill would reflect the increase.

"But the home owner whose assessment remained unchanged in 1965 will get a tax bill between three and four dollars lower than last year," Mr. Bramley said.

City assessor Alfred Joyce said a $20,000 market value home would have a tax bill $3.20 lower than last year. A $15,000 home $240 lower and a $10,000 home would earn a $1.60 reduction.

Along with the news came a dash of bitters for tradesmen and contractors.

Permits, fees and licenses will take an upward jump before the year is over.

Members of the city's treasury staff worked late into the night Wednesday trying to find ways of increasing the estimated city income of $14,223,354.

FEE INCREASE

Their answer — increase fee, licence and permit prices — was to be ratified by council this afternoon.

Mr. Bramley said he couldn't say how much the prices would jump but confirmed that general increases would probably be in effect before the end of the year.

The announcements followed the two-day hacking session which saw estimated expenditures reduced by $179,051 and the mill rate held at 62.5.

The general and debt mill rate will be reduced slightly from 40.9 to 39.3 while the school mill rate remains the same at 23.2.

In their final run at the budget Wednesday afternoon council members wielded a sharp axe.

Planned road improvement projects, parks and comfort stations all fell by the wayside as aldermen launched their last assault to hold the line.

Jutland Rd., Burnside Rd., and Finlayson St. will have to wait for another year before they get improvements originally scheduled to be carried out this year.

The delay saved the city $45,800 earmarked for the project.

A $15,000 item designed to get work started on a playing field at Oaklands Park was also shunted to the sidelines.

So was $4,000 designated to get work started on a rest room for the Cameron Memorial Pavilion in Beacon Hill Park.

Ald. Robert Baird fought staunchly to keep the $4,000 — half of the estimated total cost of $8,000 — in the budget.

"Victoria lags behind the times in these things," he said. "It's a disgrace that visiting band members have to trek across the lawns to the central rest room."

He almost won his point.

Four aldermen voted in favor of getting the job started, four voted for delaying the work for at least a year. Mayor A. W. Toone cast the deciding vote.

GRANT WARNING

Aldermen also sounded warning that this may be the last year council proves so generous towards those seeking grants.

Though grants totalling $176,225 were approved by council Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow asked that the Maritime Museum and Bastion Theatre Studio be informed that the city's largesse would not continue indefinitely.

Bastion Theatre will receive $9,620 from the city and the museum $5,000.

"I think it's time we informed these people that we expect them to stand on their own feet," Ald. Edgelow said. "When we start to give grants to pay wages we are heading for trouble. They should be made to realize that these grants will not just keep on coming."

Woman Guilty Of Driving Dangerously

A Milnes Landing woman involved in an accident in which a seven-year-old Metchosin girl was killed was convicted today in magistrate's court on a charge of dangerous driving.

Florence Stolth, 49, driver of the pick-up truck which collided with Betty Ann Walker, 3957 Happy Valley Road, Feb. 14, was remanded to May 16 for a pre-sentence report.

The accident occurred shortly after school was let out for the day on a straight stretch of road in front of the child's home just after she had alighted from a school bus.

Mrs. Stolth's truck was heading towards Victoria in the opposite direction to the westbound bus.

Ruling on a defence contention that the flashing lights of the school bus were not in operation, Magistrate J. A. Byers said he was satisfied with bus driver George Cottyn's evidence that he had looked down at his flashing light indicator just after the girl was hit and had seen that it was on.

SPEED LIMIT

He also ruled against a defence motion that the speed limit on Happy Valley Road was 40, not 30 miles an hour.

Mrs. Stolth had admitted driving over 30 miles an hour.

Summing up, the magistrate said, "on a small country road she was, I think, driving dangerously."

Cars of Yesteryear To Converge on City

The British Columbia Centennial Committee's vintage car run, a nostalgic gasoline-age project of the 1966 Centennial year, is ready to roll July 2.

Overnight and daytime stops have been approved after a series of dry runs over a looping course from New Westminster, through the Interior, to Vancouver Island ending at Victoria.

At 21 communities citizens plan to welcome the motorists for lunch and overnight stops. Parades, picnics, dances and a vintage car ball are planned. Thousands along the route will see the entrants.

Owners of more than 40 piston-pulsing vintage cars, none younger than 1936 and most much older, have applied to take part in the run. Thirty will be accepted, after a meticulous check-up by Frank Appelbe of Vancouver, co-ordinator of the run, or by an authorized vintage car adviser to the provincial centennial committee.

FINAL SURVEY

Mr. Appelbe completed the final survey of the course last week. Here is the run 30 representatives of automotive yesteryears will undertake:

July 2 — leave New Westminster 10 a.m. Lunch at Mission, overnight Hope. July 3 — lunch Princeton, overnight Penticton. July 4 — lunch Summerland, overnight Kelowna. July 5 — lunch Vernon, overnight Kamloops. July 6 — lunch North Kamloops, overnight Cache Creek. July 7 — lunch Boston Bar, overnight Chilliwack. July 8 — lunch Langley, overnight North Vancouver. July 9 — lunch Duncan, arrive Victoria approximately 5:30 p.m. to complete run.

Home-Made Bomb Blast Injures Boy

A youth who was making a do-it-yourself bomb is in good condition in hospital today after his experiment backfired Tuesday night.

Robert Flett, 14, of 252 Superior is recovering in St. Joseph's Hospital from cuts to his face, arms and body.

Police said the boy was making the bomb on the lawn of a neighbor where he was babysitting.

He mixed drain cleaner in water, put the contents in a capped bottle which exploded in his face.

GIBSON TELLS MacMILLAN, BLOEDEL

'Stop Building Empires'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Gordon Gibson, 62, a millionaire from his own logging enterprises, told Canada's largest forest company Tuesday it should stop building empires and start making money.

Gibson said MacMillan Bloedel Limited should consolidate operations because "I'm very afraid of us becoming the biggest lumber company in the world." It is now No. 8 in the world.

He spoke for 23 minutes during a question and answer period at the company's annual meeting.

Mr. Gibson, a shareholder in the company, said MacMillan Bloedel is becoming too ungainly and criticized the company's plans to move into a new head office building.

It is an "ivory tower," he said, that will "give a false impression that we are making a lot of money." He said management creates new management, it becomes top heavy and the need for new office space snowballs.

Mr. Gibson estimated he is getting a one per cent return on his investment and called it a "pathetic thing."

Company president J. V. Clyne said expansions in Europe were defensive, because "we found often our customers were being purchased by our competitors."

Profits in 1965 were down $900,000 to $40,500,000 because of higher costs in the industry, Mr. Clyne said.

He said the company's proposed 27-storey head office will be no ivory tower and that "everyone works like the devil."

ITT, ABC Merger Given Approval

NEW YORK (UPI) — Shareholders of both International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. and American Broadcasting Companies (ABC) Wednesday approved the merger of the two companies.

The ITT shareholders met in Baltimore and ABC shareholders in New York to vote overwhelming approval of the merger. President Leonard Goldenson said ABC expects record second-quarter earnings this year.

The merger, still subject to the approval of the Federal Communications Commission and the justice department, would unite the largest international manufacturer of electronic equipment with the third largest private broadcasting company in the world.

The chairman of the board of directors of ITT, Harold S. Geneen, told the stockholders the proposed merger would result in combined revenues for 1966 of over $2.5 billion.

Geneen said there would be "to the fullest possible extent . . . autonomy of operations and continuity of management."

SOLE STOCKHOLDER

Geneen said later ITT would be the sole stockholder of ABC under the name of the American Broadcast Companies Inc.

He said two directors of ITT would sit on the ABC board and four ABC directors would sit on the ITT board. He said the names of the directors were not yet known.

Geneen said the two companies would "share whatever facilities are available."

The stockholders also authorized five million shares of preferred stock at $10 per share and 20 million shares of common stock.

Geneen said 2,823,058 shares each of common and preferred stock would be issued once the merger is completed.

Petroleum Industry Must Expand

MONTREAL (CP)—Frank M. Dawson, president of Texaco Canada Ltd., says the petroleum industry must invest more than $15,000,000,000 in exploration and producing by 1980 to meet Canada's growing demand.

Mr. Dawson said the industry must continue to have maximum freedom and incentive and a minimum of artificial government restraints and controls, to meet this investment.

Mr. Dawson reported at company's annual meeting net profits of $4,025,000 or $1.23 per common shares for the first quarter of 1966, compared with $3,576,000 or $1.09 a share for the same period in 1965.

He said that the oil industry has grown rapidly in the last two decades because it had the incentive to invest and compete and the consumer has had the freedom of choice in the market place.

COURT CONVICTS GM IN ANTI-TRUST CASE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court ruled today that General Motors Corp. violated anti-trust law by trying to ban sale of Chevrolets through discount houses in the Los Angeles area.

Justice department counsel contended such sales would increase competition at the retail level and thus benefit consumers.

GM lawyers argued the auto giant had to have a dependable dealer organization and said discount houses are not needed to create price competition.

Justice Abe Fortas delivered the unanimous decision.

New TV Network Plans Revealed

OTTAWA (CP) — Kenneth D. Soble has given the CTV television network notice that he is out to gobble up its members when the current CTV licence expires June 30, 1968.

Mr. Soble, who operates CHCH-TV in Hamilton, told a public hearing of the Board of Broadcast Governors Wednesday he is getting ready to line up support for a new national TV network and have it in shape for presentation to the BBG at the first hearing after Oct. 1, 1967.

He and Maurice F. Strong, president of Power Corp. of Canada Ltd. in Montreal, would supply the main capital but would seek wide public support.

Placing his bid for permission to organize a private network before the BBG, Mr. Soble recalled that the board had authorized affiliate stations of the CTV network to purchase the network only under certain conditions. These were that network operations be reviewed at the first public hearing after Oct. 1, 1967, and that any CTV bid for a licence renewal be heard at that time.

Also at that hearing, the BBG would entertain applications "by any other persons" for permission to form a network.

PURCHASE BID

During the hearing Maclean-Hunter Publishing Co. Ltd. placed a $2,706,920 bid for a Calgary radio and television station.

The company expressed hope that it would not be forced to divest itself of its interest in a Halifax radio-television combination.

The company faces this possibility because of recent rules set by the BBG for the purchase of the CTV television network by its affiliate stations.

Maclean-Hunter has an interest in CJCH-TV and radio station CJCH in Halifax and has offered the $2,706,920 for control of CFCN radio and CFCN-TV in Calgary. CJCH-TV and CFCN-TV are both CTV affiliates.

The BBG approved purchase of the CTV network March 4. It ruled out multiple ownership within the network by saying it would not approve any arrangement "whereby any person may . . . participate in the control of management of more than one company licensed to operate an affiliated station."

Floyd Chalmers, chairman of the Maclean-Hunter board, said at a public hearing his company started negotiations to purchase the Calgary stations from H. G. Love and members of his family last December. The transaction was concluded Jan. 15, subject to BBG approval.

BELOW BLEAK NORTH SEA WATERS

Race to Exploit Riches

LONDON (Reuters) — The race to exploit the mineral wealth of gas, oil and hydrocarbon beneath the cold, bleak waters of the North Sea is on again in earnest.

Despite the collapse of the drilling rig Sea Gem Dec. 27, in which 13 men were killed, the international oil companies are pressing ahead with their efforts to unlock the great reservoir of gas beneath the sea and provide Britons with cheaper fuel for heating and cooking.

The sinking of British Petroleum's Sea Gem, which discovered a well capable of producing 50,000 cubic feet of natural gas a day, enough to supply the needs of a city of more than 2,500,00 people, inevitably delayed the time when gas from under the sea will be piped into British homes.

CONTINUE SEARCH

But exploration continues.

Early in January, a new rig named Ocean Prince, operated by an Anglo-American consortium under the Burmah moved down the Humber River to a site 28 miles off the Yorkshire coast, not far from the scene of the Sea Gem disaster.

Fifty men now are living on this strange, man-made island as the complicated business of drilling goes on.

About the same time, British Petroleum launched a new rig, Sea Quest, at Belfast, Northern Ireland.

In London, a joint Anglo-American concern has announced the development of a computer-controlled diving bell for use in work on drilling equipment in areas like the North Sea.

U.S. Army Contract Won by Canadair

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadair Ltd. of Montreal has been awarded a $2,700,000 contract for advanced production engineering of an amphibious military vehicle for the U.S. Army, the defence production department said Wednesday.

Design and development of the two-unit tracked carrier is one of the first programs undertaken by Canada under the terms of the Canada-U.S. defence development sharing agreement.

Accepting Confederation Father Busts Is Dr. Malcolm Taylor.

Macdonald, Cartier Busts Go to Uvic

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night presented University of Victoria President Dr. Malcolm Taylor with busts of Fathers of Confederation Macdonald and Cartier.

Part of a national Jaycee project to promote Canadian unity, the Junior Chamber of Commerce gave a first pair of the same figures to Premier Bennett several months ago.

Accepting the busts for the political science department of the University, Dr. Taylor said the building of the Canadian nation did not stop at 1867.

He said universities and organizations like the Jaycees were "sister education institutions" that had to work together for the common good and the further growth of the nation.

"The test, in the end, of our way of life will be how we enable people to develop to their utmost capacity," said Dr Taylor.

Three Pay $110 For Having Beer

Three youths were fined a total of $110 Wednesday in magistrate's court on charges of being minors in possession of alcohol. All pleaded guilty to the charges.

George Baldwin, 670 Wilson, and Rock Lanthier, 2825 Lake End Road, were found sitting in a parked car in Colwood, April 9, with a case of beer on the seat of the car and some bottles hidden under the seat.

Baldwin was fined $40 and Lanthier $35.

Donald Brown, 1416 Allison, was stopped at 1:10 a.m. April 3 on Shelbourne and found to have 23 bottles of beer in his car.

He was fined $35.

HUNT FOR NEW MISS VICTORIA STARTS MAY 16

Not Much Growing on in Jaycee Beard Race

Centennial year beard-growing contest sponsored by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce is off to a peach-fuzz start.

At their Wednesday meeting Jaycees were told only 12 entries for the contest had been made to date.

The beard-growing committee chairman said there were at least 150 good beards in the city, but they were keeping away.

"Everyone should do his best," he urged. "That is, if his employer lets him."

"We're having a new category this year," he said. "Sexiest and scratchiest. To be judged by Miss Victoria."

Beards started in the new year may be entered in the contest with a phone call to Jaycee headquarters, 383-4521.

In other business, Jaycee exhibition chairman Don Mathison urged a full turnout of members to the rides and displays which open May 16 in and around Memorial Arena.

There will be 21 midway rides, a new Miss Victoria, Guy Mitchell and 4-H club exhibits along with displays by area business and industry.

Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes will officially open the five-day show.

The provincial Jaycee convention will be held in Victoria June 2, 3 and 4.

Oil, Gas Rights Bring $997,949

The provincial government today announced sale of oil and gas rights for $997,949 on about 110,000 acres divided into 47 parcels.

Highest price per acre was paid by the J. M. Huber Corporation and Amarillo Oil Company. The partnership paid $202 per acre for the rights on 175 acres about 35 miles northeast of Fort St. John.

Lions To Train Again at Courtenay

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Lions will return to Courtenay July 3-15 for summer training camp, the Canadian Football League team announced today.

The Lions said last week they were seeking a new site when they learned they would not be welcomed back at the Arbutus Hotel.

A team spokesman said the Lions have "not officially decided" where the team will be quartered but they will return to Courtenay.

LBJ Brings Down Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson sent a new civil rights package to Congress today, including a nationwide fair housing bill and a law to protect Negro civil rights workers from "racial fanatics."

The bill covered all phases of the civil rights field. It ranged from jury reform legislation to proposals to speed school desegregation.

MISSIONS MAINTAINED

U.K., Rhodesia Delay Break During Talks

(Times News Services)

LONDON—Britain and the breakaway Rhodesian government decided today to hold off on any final and complete diplomatic break while they are holding talks to see if negotiating Rhodesian independence is possible.

Salisbury reports said the Rhodesian government, in a gesture of good will, had put a hold on its demand last week the British high commission there close down by mid-May.

A spokesman said orders to the British staff to quit were being held in abeyance.

The decision meant the Rhodesian staff at Rhodesia House in London will continue to operate instead of closing down at the same time.

The two countries had all but suspended diplomatic relations but never made a formal break. Closing down of the two missions would have been the last straw.

The development came after Prime Minister Harold Wilson asked his cabinet to approve his action in opening talks with Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith.

SECRETARY RETURNS

Oliver Wright, Wilson's principal private secretary, flew in from Salisbury this afternoon to report to the Prime Minister on his meetings with Smith.

Another British troubleshooter, Malcolm Macdonald, prepared to leave on a mission to persuade the political leaders of black Africa that the coming talks with Smith will not constitute a British sellout to Rhodesian white supremacists.

Wright arranged the negotiations in secret contacts with Smith and with Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd of South Africa.

It was the first breakthrough toward a Rhodesian settlement since Smith's white-minority government declared independence from Britain last Nov. 11.

In his talks with Smith, Wright produced agreement on the time, place and level of informal bargainings designed to achieve a basis for constitutional settlement.

The British demand that a settlement provide unimpeded progress toward eventual majority rule by Rhodesia's 4,000,000 Negroes.

DEFEND WHITE RIGHTS

In return, Britain is prepared to underwrite and defend the rights of Rhodesia's 250,000 whites and pay for a crash program of Negro education.

The British government assured the Commonwealth today that the talks will be purely exploratory and will not involve recognition of the Smith regime.

Canadian High Commissioner Lionel Chevrier and Canada's Arnold Smith, Commonwealth secretary-general, were among the representatives called into the Labor government's Commonwealth secretary's office to receive an explanation of the sudden change in the Rhodesian outlook.

They were told that British-Rhodesian talks will begin soon

PM Ordered Gerda File Delivered to Favreau

Action Related By RCMP Chief

OTTAWA (UPI)—RCMP Commissioner George B. McClellan testified today that Prime Minister Pearson had once asked him for "any information or anything of a scandalous nature involving any member of any party . . . over the past 10 years."

(See also Page 18.)

OTTAWA (CP)—RCMP Commissioner George B. McClellan testified today that Prime Minister Pearson instructed him to have Guy Fraveau, then justice minister, informed by the RCMP about the Gerda Munsinger case.

The commissioner said that Mr. Favreau was informed verbally about the case Dec. 1, 1964, by the RCMP director for security and intelligence.

(This was a week after Erik Nielsen, Conservative MP for the Yukon, launched his charges of influence-peddling in high Liberal circles.)

Commissioner McClellan was under cross-examination by C. F. H. Carson, Conservative counsel, at the inquiry into the Munsinger affair.

Mr. McClellan said he was appointed RCMP commissioner Nov. 1, 1963, when Lionel Chevrier was Liberal justice minister.

Mr. Carson asked whether the RCMP had brought the Munsinger case to the attention of Mr. Chevrier.

Commissioner McClellan replied that neither he nor any other member of the RCMP informed Mr. Chevrier about the Munsinger affair.

Mr. Carson asked whether the RCMP had brought the case to the attention of Mr. Favreau, who became justice minister Feb. 3, 1964.

"It was not brought to his attention by me personally," Mr. McClellan said. This had been done Dec. 1, 1964, by Assistant Commissioner W. H. Kelly, director of security and intelligence.

The commissioner said Assistant Commissioner Kelly "was instructed by me on instructions to me by the prime minister to discuss with Mr. Favreau" the Munsinger case and "he discussed it."

Brief Delivered Dec. 2, 1964

Commissioner McClellan testified he delivered a brief on the Munsinger file to Mr. Pearson at 10:30 a.m., Dec. 2, 1964, and the prime minister returned it "some time in the last month or so."

The commissioner promised to supply later the date on which Mr. Pearson returned it to him.

He said he delivered it to Mr. Pearson personally and he knew of no action on it by the prime minister.

At one point, he protested that the questioning was getting into the area of his conversations with Mr. Pearson.

The same brief had been given to Mr. Favreau Dec. 1, 1964, the day before the commissioner delivered it to the prime minister. He said he knew of no action on it by Mr. Favreau.

Mr. Carson sugested that the notations of dates and times the prime minister and various other ministers were advised are on the RCMP's original file, but apparently not on the copies supplied to the inquiry headed by Mr. Justice Wishart Spence of the Supreme Court of Canada.

Commissioner McClellan said that when he met the prime minister Dec. 2, 1964, he handed him the file in the presence of Gordon Robertson, clerk of the Privy Council.

The Munsinger file also showed a note that the affair was brought to the attention of former justice minister Donald Fleming on March 11, 1963, almost a month before the election that turned the Conservative adtministration of John Diefenbaker out of office and replaced it with a Liberal government headed by Mr. Pearson.

Commissioner McClellan said the RCMP did not inform Justice Minister Cardin about the case either before or after he took his present portfolio.

Earlier, the commissioner said Gerda Munsinger twice got into Canada when she shouldn't have.

Doesn't Know How She Got in

He told the inquiry he has been unable to find out how she entered the country in 1955 after she had been rejected in 1952 on security grounds.

The commissioner said the German blonde got back into Canada in January, 1961, after a 17-day visit to Europe because the steps to prevent her return were not carried out by the immigration department.

He said the RCMP had been told by the department that she couldn't be refused re-entry.

He also said he is "not making any guarantees" that Mrs. Munsinger won't get into Canada a third time.

Commissioner McClellan said the RCMP had taken all the steps it could in January, 1961, to prevent her re-entry. These steps had been in the form of advice to the immigration department which was not always heeded.

"Not always heeded by whom?" asked Conservative counsel C. F. H. Carson.

"By government policy," the commissioner replied.

He added that this is "quite understandable" but did not elaborate.

Mr. Carson asked what has been done to see that Mrs.

JAVA VILLAGE WIPED OUT BY VOLCANO

JAKARTA (AP) — A volcanic eruption in densely populated East Java has obliterated one village, killed at least 13 persons and is threatening a city, reports from the area said today.

Ashes from the 5,678-foot volcano, Mount Kelut, which erupted Monday night, are falling scores of miles away.

ROBS FAMILIES

Rifle-Toting Mad Escapee Still Free

LILLOOET (CP)—An armed mental hospital escapee whom police believed they had surrounded eluded an intensive police search near here early Wednesday, then turned up 30 miles east of the search area.

"It appears that we are trying to catch a phantom," said an RCMP spokesman in this small community.

Police said the suspect was seen 30 miles east of here carrying a rifle on an abandoned logging road that runs up the east side of the Fraser River in the B.C. Interior.

A dozen RCMP officers using four-wheel drive vehicles and tracker dogs were following the trail early today. More policemen were en route from Clinton, 20 miles north of Lillooet, in hopes of cutting off the escapee.

The man, about 30 years of age, had been prospecting earlier this year in the area. Police said he went berserk, stole a horse, and was committed for treatment to the Riverview Mental Hospital at Essondale, near Vancouver, on April 7.

He apparently escaped and returned a week later to Lillooet. Police started searching for him after Indian families at a nearby reservation reported the man robbed them at gunpoint of food and other supplies.

The Indians were evacuated from the reservation during the weekend and moved to Lillooet.

In recent years four RCMP officers have been killed in the Interior by mentally deranged gunmen. Three were killed at Kamloops and the fourth died near Kelowna.

PEOPLE PLUCKED FROM TREES, ROOFTOPS

5 Die, Hundreds Flee Flash Flood at Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Five persons were drowned today when tremendous rains forced hundreds of persons from flooded homes in Dallas and a northern suburb, Garland.

One of the victims, drowned in his late-model Cadillac, was W. L. Perryman, president of General American Oil Co., an independent oil firm operating in six states and Canada.

Firemen chopped through the Cadillac's back window to free a woman from the car, which had been swept into a swollen creek.

Rain had been falling at about an inch an hour until it subsided at down. During one one-hour period, three inches fell.

Fire department boats, towed by station wagons to scenes of local flooding, plucked people from trees, rooftops, and the roofs of cars in flooded expressway underpasses.

1,500 WORKERS IDLE

Water got into the Ford Motor Co. assembly plant in northeast Dallas, damaging electrical motors and forcing the plant to close, leaving idle 1,500 workers until Friday.

The new round of turbulent weather came as rivers and lesser streams throughout the eastern half of Texas poured flood waters toward the sea. Rains up to 21 inches had flooded wide areas, particularly to the east of Dallas.

'EVIL EYE' BEHIND KILLINGS?

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—District Attorney Richard Lowe says the evil eye—a glance believers say can cause harm—is related to the slayings of five elderly neighbors here since 1961.

Five charges of homicide and one of robbery were laid Wednesday against John Harry Bruno, 28, a shipping clerk, in the slayings.

'The area is filled with the fear of sorcery and witchcraft," Lowe said. "These people just don't talk. They don't volunteer information and they don't respond to questions."

Lowe said the motive for the killings in the middle-class neighborhood of persons of Italian descent was revenge. He refused to elaborate on the revenge or evil-eye comment.

Bruno is charged in the slayings of a man and his wife last weekend, a man in 1963, and a man and his wife in 1961—all of whom lived within a four-block radius.

EAST GERMAN President Walter Ulbricht today was barred from entering West Germany for a scheduled debate with socialists. Bonn government said it holds Ulbritch responsible for murders and shootings at the Berlin Wall and he would be arrested on the spot if he sets foot in West Germany.

Poles Protest U.S. Bomb Damage to Ship

WARSAW (AP)—Poland has sharply protested to the United States that one of its cargo ships was damaged in a U.S. bombing raid near Haiphong last week.

U.S. Ambassador John Bronouski was called to the Polish foreign ministry and handed the protest note Tuesday, a U.S. embassy official said. The note, which reserved the right to claim damages, was forwarded to Washington.

The official Polish press agency gave this report of the incident:

"During a piratical bombing of one of the ports near Haiphong, the Polish motorship Beniowski was in port taking coal. Many bombs and rockets which exploded in the vicinity of the ship caused external and internal damage to the ship's equipment.

"The ship was forced to sail without finishing loading."

There was no mention of any casualties.

The agency did not say what cargo the 7,299-ton Beniowski had carried to North Viet Nam or how extensively the vessel was damaged. The Polish state shipping line runs regular cargo service to the Far East, with stops at China and North Viet Nam.

Olympic Banff Ban Blamed on Bird Lovers

ROME (UPI) — The Canadian Olympic Committee may sue a conservation organization because Banff lost out on its bid to host the 1972 winter Olympics, a Canadian source said today.

"We have proof that the Canadian Wildlife Association is subsidized by the Canadian government to the tune of $75,000 a year.

"We also are convinced that the association played a major role in persuading the International Olympic Committee that to hold the games in Banff would endanger bird life," the source said.

Banff, which Tuesday lost out to Sapporo, Japan, for the winter games, had been favored to win by most observers at the international meeting here. IOC president Avery Brundage said that the Banff bid undoubtedly was hurt by the protest of bird lovers.

The Canadian committee is seeking "tangible evidence to prove that the Canadian Wildlife Association either contributed or inspired some of the letters that evidently torpedoed Banff's chances," the source said.

He added that the committee is "sure it will find the evidence."

The committee is "considering bringing suit against the wildlife association for the total cost of Banff's campaign to win the bid," the source said. This would amount to "several hundreds of thousands of dollars, including the money expended in Banff's two previous bids."

According to the source, while Banff's two previous unsuccessful bids were financed largely by local contributions and the provincial government, "99 per cent of the backing for our third try came from the federal government. We think it is outrageous that the wildlife association, which is subsidized by the government, should sabotage an effort which was financed by the federal government and had its wholehearted support."

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson wrote a letter to the IOC affirming that Canada endorsed Banff's bid and that the objections of the conservationists were totally unjustified. The letter was read to the IOC, but members said after the vote that many delegates attached more importance to the bird lovers' protests than they did to Pearson's letter.
